FLESHERTON:
THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1886.

GRAND SUCCESS!

Crowns the Efforts of Musical Director Munro and his Amateur Vocalists.

FLESHERTON SCORES ONE

The Oratorio of "Queen Esther" Rendered Twice in the Drill Shed to Large Audiences.

Well! the "battle has been fought and won," and Flesherton has won for itself a proud position in all amateur musical circles. Two performances of the magnificent Oratorio of "Esther, the Beautiful Queen," to immense audiences in the Drill Shed, have been given with the most pronounced success. The most sanguine expectations of the public was far more than realized in the magnificent and brilliant manner in which the oratorio was presented on both evenings—although it is but fair to state, that there was more of a completeness of detail the first performance; and, of course, this might naturally be expected, as the request to repeat the oratorio was unexpected.

Long before the curtains were drawn on the evening of Dominion Day, the ground floor and "galleries" in the large Drill Shed were packed with the largest, most appreciative, and most enthusiastic audience, probably, ever seen under similar circumstances in any town or village in the county of Grey; and a more representative county audience was never assembled within the borders of Grey. It was a sight which must have filled the enterprising promoters with unbounded satisfaction and joy; and was an eminently fitting climax to such a tremendous undertaking for a small country village. When the idea was first introduced, not one of those concerned, except the Musical Director, Mr. Munro, had the faintest conception as to the magnitude of the work necessitated in preparing "Queen Esther" properly for a public rehearsal. Mr. Munro alluded to this fact at the outset, but no one shrank from the 'ordeal." The practices extended over a period of nearly four months, and must necessarily have been a severe tax upon the patience of Musical Director Munro, as nearly all the performers were composed of pretty "green" material. But, from the Musical Director down to the youngest performer, the "material" for "Queen Esther" consis- entirely of home talent, from Flesherton and the immediate neighborhood. Considering all these things, the oratorio was a marvellous success, and will redound to the credit of our musical village and the talented Musical Director—Mr. D. S. Munro—for all time to come.

As nearly the appointed hour as possible, the bell rang, the curtains were drawn, and, exposed to view, stood a grand array of handsomely costumed Persians, with Haman, (Mr. Wm. Barnhouse) in most gorgeous court apparel, in the foreground. Haman's solo and the grand choruses by the Persians were given in a spirited manner. Act 1, scene 2nd, discovered King Ahasuerus (A. R. Fawcett) seated on a magnificent throne, beneath a beautiful canopy, and dressed in Royal robes as became the mighty king of a mighty empire. His majesty was surrounded by guards (Messrs. W. Petch, J. W. Large, E. Richardson, and C. J. Sproule) attendants, courtiers, and pages (Masters John W. Field and Austin Pickell). Haman appears before the King petitioning for the overthrow of the Jews. The whole forms a splendid scene, and the duet between the King and Haman, in which wine is handed them by the neatly costumed Pages, is followed by one of those ringing choruses for which this oratorio is remarkable. Miss M. Beecroft, in the role of Prophetess, sang her part very sweetly, clearly, and in excellent time. So well, indeed, did she execute her part, that the large and decidedly intelligent audience loudly encored her, when the part was repeated.

Act 2nd, reveals a large and splendidly dressed assembly of Jews. Mordecai (Mr. Jas. G. Russell) enters, lamenting the condition of his people. Here Mr. Russell not only displayed his fine dramatic abilities but his vocal ones as well. His representation of Mordecai's despair and anguish for the condition of his people—"For the devices of the wicked prosper"—was so realistic as to fairly carry the audience by storm, and at the same time it created a profound impression upon the performers, who rendered the various choruses with an earnestness, pathos and vim, seldom equalled and rarely ever excelled in amateur musical circles. Miss Addie Armstrong as Queen Esther, was at once dignified and stately, and of commanding presence. As with the other leading characters, her costume was magnificently regal. In all her singing, the high notes were well sustained, and the low ones full, clear and powerful. Her acting was in perfect keeping with her role—in fact it was generally conceded, that in singing, acting, and general demeanor, she was "every inch a Queen." Miss Emma Damude, as "Mordecai's Sister," filled a difficult role with credit and distinction, and the more so, when it it is known that she was suffering from a severe cold at the time. Miss Armstrong and other performers were also placed at a somewhat similar disadvantage.

Act 3rd revealed the King on his throne, the Scribe apparently entertaining him reading from a scroll, with guards, attendants, &c. in the background. Queen Esther enters, rushes past guards, and throws herself at the King's feet, the latter holding out the golden sceptre at the same time raising her from her prostrate position and leading her to the front, exclaming, "What is it, Queen Esther, and what is thy request; it shall be given to thee, even to the half of my kingdom!" The Queen replies by inviting the King and Haman to a banquet prepared by her. The King accepts the invitation, and then follows a duet between himself and the Queen, when the curtains are drawn. Miss Armstrong's singing in this act, as in the previous one, showed her to possess more than ordinary vocal powers, as well as dramatic art.

Act 4th brings Haman once more to the front, together with Zeresh and attendants. Miss Ella Ayers as Zeresh, filled a role well adapted to her grand contralto voice. Her acting was remarkably realistic, and her singing rich, full and Melodious. Haman acted his part to the life—in fact both Mr. Barnhouse and Miss Ayers showed themselves to be capable as well as painstaking amateurs. Miss Katie Bellamy and Miss Milly Van-Dusen, (Zeresh's Attendants) looked very pretty in their court dresses and sandals.

In Act 4th, Scene 1st, the Scribe (Mr. Josiah Strain) performed the introductory part creditably. Then followed a spirited dialogue between the King and Haman, followed by a magnificent series of choruses, alternated with solos by Mordecai's Sister (Miss Damude) and High Priest (Mr. David Blair) and a quartette by the King's Guards (Messrs. W. Petch, J. W. Large, E. Richardson, and C. J. Sproule), all delivered in a most excellent manner. A duet by the High Priest (Mr. Blair and Hegai (Mr. J. Baskerville) in this act, was very nicely rendered; alsa a solo by Mr. Baskerville, "For he Bringeth down them that Dwell on High," &c., in which Mr. B. showed that he possesses a strong and well cultivated bass voice.

The "Triumphal March," in Act 5th, was one of the most enjoyable features in the oratorio. The marches were executed throughout with grace and precision. Haman proclaiming Mordecai, and the lively repetition by a grand chorus of Jews and Persians, was executed in a manner highly creditable to all concerned. The chorus by the boys, "The King shall honor the Queen," &c., was well sung, and the "figure 8" marching elicited much applause. This was followed by a chorus of girls, (dressed in exceedingly pretty and most becoming costumes), "We have been rambling," &c. The girls also marched in "figure 8" form, and were loudly applauded for the precision with which the movements were executed.

In Act 5th and scene 2nd occurs a most pathetic event, in which Zeresh and Haman are the principals. Again we are treated to some fine acting, and a beautifully rendered solo by Zeresh. Mr. William Bellamy, as Herald, performed his part in this scene creditably, his singing particularly being excellent.

Act 5th, Scene 3rd, revealed the Queen on the throne, with large assembly of Jews and Persians on both sides. Enter King and Haman who sing to the Queen, after which grand chorus take up the refrain. Queen's Maids of Honor (Mrs. W. Irwin, Miss Mary Smith and Miss Lizzie Fawcett) sang "Long live our Noble King," very nicely and in good time. The Queen's Pages—Miss Bella Gjerdrum and Miss Ettie Ayers—who were dressed, as several in the audience declared, "like fairies," waltzed in a most charming and graceful manner to the centre of the stage and thence up to the foot of the throne, bearing goblets of wine which were presented in turn to the King. They then waltzed backwards in the order of their approach. Being loudly and enthusiastically encored, the trim little Pages "galoped" across the front of the stage several times, amid tremendous applause.

The rest of this scene consists of some very fine choruses, duets, solos, quartette, &c., in which nearly all the the representative characters take part. The quartett, "Do I wake or am I dreaming," although extremely difficult, was rendered well. "Praise ye the Lord," by the entire company of performers, with the principal characters, in their handsome costumes, to the front, closed the most successful musical "Jubilee" ever held in this place.

NOTES.

Miss Bella Christoe presided at the organ throughout with marked ability and grace.

Mr. W. H. Flesher invented a very ingenious contrivance for operating the curtains in this oratorio, which should in our opinion be patented.

Three hundred people attended the second performance of Queen Esther in the Drill Shed.

Over seven hundred and fifty people attended the oratorio on the evening of Dominion Day. The proceeds of both concerts amounted to within a few cents of $210.00.

The Stayner Methodist Choir attended the first performance. Hamilton, Toronto, Owen Sound, Durham, Markdale, Collingwood, Priceville, Eugenia, Maxwell, Singhamption, Dundalk, and many other places were also represented at the oratorio.

Musicial Director Munro was invited to bring his company to Markdale, in order to give a performance of "Queen Esther" in the large roller rink there, but as the costumes had to be returned to Toronto at once, and as many of the principal singers were suffering from severe colds, he was unable to accept the invitation.

It is, of course, impossible to give within the limited space at our command, as full a report of the oratorio as might have been desirable, considering the magnitude of the undertaking and the very creditable manner in which every one of those who took part acquitted themselves. However, we have made the best use of the space, in our own judgement, we possibly could, and have, consequently, no apologies to make to the public.

A FAIR PROPOSITION.—There could be no offer more fair than that of the proprietors of Hagyard's Yellow Oil, who have long offered to refund every cent expended for that remedy, if it fails to give satisfaction on fair trial.

A GROWING EVIL.—Scrofula, or king's evil, as an enlargement of the glands of the neck is termed, may be called a growing evil in more than one sense. Mrs. Henry Dobbs, of Berridale, was cured of enlarged glands of the neck and sore throat by the internal and external use of Hagyard's Yellow Oil.

HIGH PRAISE.—Mrs. John Neelands, writing from the Methodist Parsonage, Adelaide Ont., says: "I have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam in our family for years. For heavy colds, sore throats and distressing coughs no other medicine so soon relieves."

A COMPLICATED CASE.—Harry Ricardo, of Meaford, Ont., testifies that he suffered from rheumatic gout and chronic trouble of the stomach and liver, which Burdock Blood Bitters effectually cured, after all other tried remedies had failed.

LADIES ONLY.—The complexion is often rendered unsightly by Pimples, Liver Spots, and Yellowness. These it is well known are caused from an inactive Liver and bad blood. Dr. Chase's Liver Cure purifies the blood and whole system. See Recipe Book for toilet recipes, hints and suggestions on how to preserve the complexion. Sold by the Druggist

QUININE AND CHILLS.—Quinine is the popular remedy for chill fever, but it does not always cure. Esquire Pelton, of Grass Lake, Michigan, took in all 600 grains of quinine for chronic chills and malarial fever. After that and various other remedies had failed, five bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him.

THE LAST YEAR, 1886.—After the above year is ended there need be no person suffering from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Toothache, Headache, Lumbago, or any acute pain, if they only purchase a bottle of Fluid Lightning, as it cures instantly. If so send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers; there is no mistake about it. It cures Dysentery and Diarrhœa, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums, reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. All mineral poisons and dangerous substances are avoided, which renders it safe for children or adults. Sold at 50c. at $1.00 per bottle at the Drug Store.
