To heal the hurts of time.

When in working order, ready to move a heavily laden freight train, this class of locomotive weighs 677,600 pounds. By comparison, the lightest Canadian National locomotive weight less than one-third of the new giant, or 190,550 pounds. The 6100 class, which is equipped with a booster weighing 12,000 pounds, tips the scale at 682,950 pounds, or over 341 tons, when in working order.

Dutchmen Fly With The Brtish Air Force

Many Dutchmen are now flying, or learning to fly, with the Royal Air Force in Britain, and this picture, taken in England at an R.A.F. Flying Training School, shows the fine type of men from the Netherlands as they watch some of their comrades in the air during training.

SURELY UNUSUAL

On Monday, August 31st, Mr. Hugh Greenis, South Broadway tonsorial artist, shaved and fitted Mr. Herbert Stuckey of Caledon for his golden wedding anniversary. We fancy we hear some of our readers say there is nothing unusual about that. But the unusual becomes apparent when we add that on August 31st, fifty years ago, Mr. Greenis shaved and prepared Mr. Stuckey for his wedding day. It is seldom, indeed, that a barber can say that he fitted one of his customers for two important occasions fifty years apart.—Orangeville Banner.

Gasoline vapor is so highly explosive it has been aptly called liquid dynamite. Every year the losses of property and life testify to the gross carelessness of individuals around this most dangerous of fuels.

The Ontario Fire Marshall has stated that anyone taking an open flame lamp or lantern near gasoline is trying to commit suicide!

Don't drive a car, truck or tractor on the barn floor—it is folly. Never use gasoline or kerosene to revive a fire. Don't use gasoline, benzene or other inflammable liquids for cleaning in the home. Never fill lamps, lanterns, stoves or heaters while they are burning.

Gasoline kept in a building should be in an approved safety container, painted red and plainly marked GASOLINE. Don't keep more than a gallon—larger amounts should be stored in heavy drums at least 75 feet from the nearest building.

Be your own fire warden. Treat gasoline with all the respect with which you treat dynamite. It's dangerous stuff!
