CREAM

Big Demaud for Butter

There is an exceptionally big demand for butter at the present, so special care should be given milch cows during this time of year, in order to keep up production. We suggest :-

Stabling during the cool nights.
More grain feeding.
This will undoubtedly pay you well.

POULTRY

Because of the scarcity of meats, poultry is much in demand. It is to your advantage to get your poultry in shape, and market as soon as possible. Thus, while you are receiving good prices now, you are also helping to maintain good prices late in the fall. We are in the market to handle large quantities of both live and dressed poultry. Get in touch with us.

NO DEER SHOOTING IN GREY OR BRUCE

Game and Fisher Overseer A. J. Rolston is in receipt of a letter from the Department of Game and Fisheries in which it was announced that there will be no deer hunting in the Counties of Grey, Bruce and Simcoe during the season of 1942.

WEEKLY GETS THE CALL

National advertising has more than five times as much chance on being read in a good weekly as a daily, it is indicated by a comparison of readership. The conclusion was reached by Rutgers University in the United States. This has been the contention of small town publishers for some time. An average of five people read each copy of a weekly newspaper, which means that the actual reader circulation is far above the subscription circulation quoted by the weekly papers. The weekly paper is kept in the home much longer than the daily and is referred to at different periods during the week. In the test made in two weeklies a certain advertisement was read by 29.9 per cent of the men and 38 per cent of the women readers. Comparative figures for the dailies show an average readership of 3.5 per cent men and 10.9 per cent women. This is just another convincing argument that it pays well to advertise in your home town paper.

FIRST MEMORY

Time was when, I was two or three
To prattle, scarcely able,
I placed, at grandma's house for tea,
My foot upon her table.
My first of memories this appears
Likewise my first correction,
And I've remembered all the years
My grandma's strong objection.
She promptly came at me apace
With manner terrifying.
She shook her fist before my face
And vowed she seemed to be with rage
and anger choking,
For I yas much too young to see
That she was only joking.
Lest age should infancy explore
Time hides it with a curtain.
Of nothing of my life before
That lesson am I certain,
But memory held grandma's "tut-tut"
As if with copper cable
And since that day I've never put
My foot on any table.

American Tanks Aid British in Egypt

A large number of American tanks delivered to the British and Imperial forces in the Middle East under the Lease-Lend Act, have played a vital part in the defence of Egypt. American instructors were brought specially to Egypt to instruct British drivers in the handling of the tanks.

The picture shows the crews of two of the tanks — members of a famous Irish Regiment — discussing plans before a sortie.

THE GOOD CIVILIAN

"The good civilian is one who is living as if civilians were enrolled, as well as the armed forces, for the saving of humanity."

Back of the armed forces stand the unarmed forces, many, many of whom have not changed their occupations since the outbreak of the war. Sacrifices are demanded as the government has rationed commoidties, but there is no particular virtue in giving up what we can't get. We must remember that, despite the fact that we are allowed to buy all of most things we want many of those things are scarce and that goods we buy require raw materials and labor hours. Waste of materials is, however, a more pernicious sin than over-buying. Waste of time and energy are others. Selfishness in stocking up on scarce articles does no good to our morale.

Only as we think of ourselves as playing a part, a vital defensive and offensive role, that of the buyer the tax payer, the bond and stamp buyer, and which is more important, as a part of a congregation of good citizens, can the cause of freedom prosper.—Campbellford Herald.

Most of us think we could do much better if we only had the opportunity, which we don't realize we have.
