SCHOOL ARBITRATION.

Mr. Thos. Gilray, Reeve of Euphrasia, Mr. Samuel Rogers, Reeve of Proton, Mr. Dougald McCormick, Deputy Reeve of Glenelg, County junior Judge S. J. Lane, of Owen Sound, with ex-School Inspector, Wm. Ferguson, Esq., of Priceville, as Chairman, were the arbitrators, who assembled in the Town Hall here last Saturday, to settle the school question, re proposed new school section at Flesherton Station. Mr. Wm. Hogg, Mr. Robt. Cook, and Mr. James McMullen, appeared on behalf of Flesherton Station; while Mr. M. Richardson, Mr. S. Damude, and Mr. W. G. Pickell, Trustees, appeared on behalf of S. S. No. 5, Flesherton. We did not hear all the arguments pro and con, but the result was that the arbitrators decided in favor of the establishment of a new school section at the station.

UTTERLY FALSE.

The statements of an Osprey correspondent in last week's ADVANCE, anent the alleged marriage of Mr. James Speer and Miss Lizzie Ottewell, are characterized as being utterly false in every particular. The alleged marriage never took place. Nor is Mr. Speer a member of the Salvation Army. In fact the whole thing was a malicious tissue of falsehoods.

Now, in order to put an end to these discreditable doings forever, in so far as the ADVANCE is concerned, we have very properly, we think, furnished Mr. Speer with the real name of the correspondent; and in future, the names of correspondents making such cowardly, libellous attacks upon private individuals will not only be given to the parties injured, but published in these columns as well. It is high time for the press to take up this subject, and adopt a similar means of protecting themselves from trouble through reckless correspondents. As a rule such people are too cowardly to father their lying epistles, and consequently write over assumed names. In future we will make no attempt whatever to shield them. Only when correspondents stick strictly to the truth will their names be preserved inviolable in these columns in future. Editors have no right whatever to stand the brunt of attacks caused solely by hide-under-cover correspondents. And we mean, for one, to protect ourselves every time.

Court Scene at Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Sept. 10.—As a trial was in progress in the Police Court, Samuel Platt, barrister, appearing for the defence, a dispute arose between the Police Magistrate and Mr. Platt, as to the manner in which a witness should be examined. After some words the magistrate ordered Mr. Platt to leave the court, which he refused to do. He then ordered the Chief of Police to put him out, when the Chief told the Magistrate to put him out himself, which he proceeded to do, calling upon the Chief to assist him. Mr. Platt was forcibly ejected, and has entered an action against Mr. Spencer and the Chief, laying damages at $25,000. The Chief of Police has also entered an action against Mr. Spencer, the Police Magistrate, for grossly insulting language arising out of the case.

Jumped from a Flying Train.

Hastings, Ont., Sept. 12.—George Frederick, an engineer on the Midland division of the Grand Trunk Railway, met with a frightful death last night a few miles from here. Engineer Frederick was on a ballast train and was rounding a curve at the rate of 15 miles an hour. He looked ahead and saw a tree lying across the track. Frederick at once reversed the engine and jumped. He lit against a high embankment, but the force of the train threw him back and he fell, striking his head on the train. His right ankle was broken, and a bolt went through his head, going in from the back and coming out over his forehead. Fireman McDonald jumped from the opposite side of the train and escaped uninjured. The locomotive jumped the tree without leaving rails and being reversed, shortly after stopped. The engineer was taken to Hastings where he died at 9 o'clock last night. Deceased leaves a wife and several children at Belleville. He was 36 years of age. He had been in the service of the Grand Trunk company for seven years, but was very unfortunate during his trips and met with many accidents. He was on the train that killed Arthur Challen at Belleville and was with Dan Beard, of Belleville, when he was scalded to death at Omemee.

Schools and Schools.

To the Editor of the Advance.

Dear Sir,—I have no doubt, Mr. Editor, that by this time Messrs. Hogg, Cook, and the inhabitants around about the Station, are possessed of a wonderful degree of complacency and self-laudation. And no doubt, Sir, they have reason for feeling so—for have they not secured separation from S. S. No. 5, and a school section of their own at the same time? I do not begrudge them their joy—not even if Mr. Cook, the energetic head-pusher, stood upon his head on top of his blacksmith shop, and expressed the overflowing exuberance of his feelings in a prolonged and exultant, "cock-a-doodle-doo!" For "it was a famous victory," don't you perceive.

Well, Sir, even at the cost of mutilating S. S. No. 5, it ought to afford the ratepayers of the latter section much pleasure to know that the matter is at last settled. Between Mr. Hogg's dignified contentions, the sarcastic utterances of Mr. Cook, the belligerent attitude and loud bellowings of Mr. Purdy, the whining of Mr. Hemphill, and the "hurrah for both sides" of Geo. H. Spencer (late lamented), the Fleshertonians had a sorry time of it. They ought to be thankful it is all over, and no doubt they are. Your correspondent will not now be subjected to the sly unendoes of a Hogg or the coarse invectives of a Purdy, for which he is reasonably thankful, and will endeavor to reciprocate.

But what is the result? What have the Flesherton Station people gained by separation? Have they fully counted the cost? Has it occurred to them that in another year their school taxes will be trebled or more? Has it occurred to them that they have now deprived their children of the means of advanced educational facilities—that they will not be able to employ for years to come at best a third or fourth rate Teacher? Certainly if they have carefully considered all these things, and others not mentioned, and are still determined to abide by their course (I suppose they will have to) it is nobody's funeral but their own. Men like Mr. Cook, or Mr. Hogg, or Mr. Hannah, may be perfectly satisfied, and when the tax-gatherer comes around next year, may cheerfully "toe the mark," but what of others? What of the laboring men, who have quite enough to do to purchase the common necessaries of life and pay low taxes. Have they, too, counted the cost!

Ah, but, says one, property will increase in value at the Station. Perhaps it will, and then perhaps it won't. It might for a time make things "boom." But will this create higher wages for the laboring class, a goodly number of which are to be found at the Station? Decidedly not; and yet this is the class which deserves most consideration—even granting that they migrate to other places every few months or years. Indeed, Sir, it may tend to accelerate their migrations, as well as more wealthy ratepayers. High taxes never yet helped to build up city, town, village, or country even if it does bring increased educational or other facilities in its train. Any thoughtful man contemplating taking up his abode in city, town, village, or rural district, will carefully ascertain tax rates, &c., and if such are very high, will in nine cases out of ten go to some other place possessing superior recommendations in these important particulars. These are facts which cannot be gainsayed; and although they may not effect the matter in the least, are so palpable that I could not but notice them in passing along. And, if I am not very much mistaken, they will possess a force about this time next year not to be sniffed at by the most enthusiastic resident in the new school section.

Yours for the future,
VALENTINE MUGGINS.

No use sending to the city for your Music, as Russell, Flesherton, can sell you the same for less money.

Them's Our Sentiments, Too!

Collingwood Enterprise.

Probably sportsmen, especially of the youthful kind, will be indignant, at being cautioned against careless handling of shot guns. But since the shooting season began, a number of severe, and some fatal accidents have been chronicled, and we speak on behalf of possible victims. No man can reasonably object to another man shooting himself, but in cases of carelessness, it is not the gunner who gets hurt oftenest. No excuse should be made for "accidental shooting," and if perpetrators of "accidentals" knew that they could be punished for their folly they would be less careless. Many of the alleged sportsmen seen about this neighborhood require some one to accompany them to teach them how to handle and use a gun. They should not be let out alone.

A Bad Loss.

Beeton World.

Wednesday evening the barns and outbuildings of Mr. James Bracken, of Hockley were burnt together with all this season's crop. A lantern placed on the floor of the barn for a few moments, exploded, and before anything could be done the whole place was a blaze. There is slight insurance.

Excuse Our Blushes.

To the Editor of The Advance.

Sir,—Having had frequent occasion of late to test the practical value of the Flesherton printing establishment, kindly allow me space to say that I have found that the prices there are very reasonable, the plant is admirable, the designs are good, and the workmanship excellent; while the desire to oblige (even under sore pressure) and the ready dispatch of the work are all that could be wished for. "With all my soul I loathe" all flattery, but I feel it would scarcely be right to withold this word of honest commendation.

I am, Sir, yours very truly,
THOMAS WATSON,
Minister of the Gospel.

[Our esteemed friend and neighbor, Rev. Mr. Watson, will please accept our grateful thanks for his warm words of eulogy in our behalf.—Ed.]

A Clever Minister

The opening hymn, to be sung in the new Baptist chapel here next Sunday morning, was composed by our talented townsman, Rev. Thos. Watson, pastor of the Baptist church in this district, especially for the occasion. While printing the hymn sheets, for use in connection with the services, we were struck forcibly with the originality, pointedness, and real ability manifested in Rev. Mr. Watson's poetical production, and accordingly have taken the liberty to publish the same in the ADVANCE. We do so without the author's permission, but hope he will pardon us for the liberty taken. Following is the hymn, which we consider a superior piece of composition:—

(COMPOSED ESPECIALLY FOR THE OCCASION. BY T. W.)

Thou Christ who art in every place,
With those who meet to pray,
Appear in all Thy quickening grace
In Flesherton to-day.

We own Thee as our Sovereign Lord,
We conquer through Thy blood:
Let sinners hear Thy faithful word,
Let souls be born of God.

Oh, make this little House of Prayer
A centre of Thy Light;
Thyself reveal, Thy love declare,
And clothe Thy Truth with might.

Upon us now the grace bestow,
By faith to see Thy face;
So shall we each most surely know,
That "God is in this place."
