OUR GRAND OLD MAN.

Enthusiastic Reception of the Veteran Statesman at Owen Sound.

Owen Sound was visited on Monday by the largest crowd of people it has ever witnessed—the occasion being Sir John Macdonald's second visit to that town. The regular morning C. P. R. train from Toronto had a steady and increasing influx of passengers from Orangeville to Chatsworth. Flesherton was the best represented place on the line, and on the way between our depot and Berkeley, Sir John (whose private car was attached to the rear of the excursion train) passed through every car and was introduced by our Post-Master Mr. R. J. Sproule, to every man, woman and child on board. His course through the train was greeted with the most enthusiastic cheers. The people were largely indebted to Rev. Mr. Ayers, pastor of the Methodist church here, for the distinguished honor thus conferred upon them by the Premier of Canada, and the greatest statesman on this continent. A number were introduced to the "grand old man" at Flesherton Station. The Flesherton Band played some lively airs at the depot.

The scene which met the gaze of the excursionists as the train steamed into the Owen Sound depot was one which never could be forgotten. Thousands of people thronged the station yards and adjoining streets, myriads of flags floated over the town, bands playing, gaily mounted horsemen cantering hither and thither, handsome carriages, the deafening and prolonged cheering of the people, and the wild enthusiasm which prevailed, baffled all description. The streets were densely thronged with citizens and visitors, handsome arches spanned the streets, and flags of every description floated from every building.

AT THE ROLLER RINK.

In a short time this large edifice was filled to overflowing, and hundreds had to go away—but a large number of them were accommodated at the Town Hall where Mr. Meredith, Hon. Thos. White, and others addressed the people while at the same time Sir John and the other speakers addressed the people in the rink.

Mr. Thos. Gordon, P.S.I. for North Grey, was chairman, and introduced Dr. Sproule, M. P. for East Grey, who was received with great applause and cheering. While the Dr. was eloquently holding the attention of the vast audience, Sir John Macdonald entered the building. Instantly the audience arose en masse, and such tremendous cheering, such waving of hats, and such waving of handkerchiefs from the ladies' galleries, was never heard or seen, we venture to say, in the county of Grey before. For more than five minutes the cheering and applause was simply deafening. Sir John was attended on the platform by Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, Hon. Thos. White, Minister of the Interior, Mr. Meredith, M. P., leader of the Opposition in Ontario, Mr. Masson, Q. C., candidate for the Commons, N. G., Dr. Jamieson, nominee of the Conservative party in South Grey for the Commons, and others. An address to Sir John (why, in heaven's name, are addresses inflicted upon people?) was read by Mr. Geo. P. Creighton, after which the Minister of Justice, Hon. Mr. Thompson—who was loudly cheered—delivered a magnificent oration, in which the Riel matter was thoroughly discussed, and the people of North Grey reminded of the position taken by Mr. Allen, M. P., on that question. The "Race and Revenge" cry, the Globe's "sharp and sudden curve," the immense gathering on the Champs de Mars, Montreal, and other matters well known to our readers, were presented in the most convincing and logical manner. Mr. Mackenzie's patriotic utterance, "Should the time ever come for me to decide between party and country, I shall stand by the country," was compared with the course pursued by those gentlemen who were endeavoring to transform a murderer and traitor into a martyr and patriot. Notwithstanding Mr. Blake's great speech on the execution of Riel, twenty-three of his followers voted that the Government was right in law and right in justice. There was not one word in all the evidence furnished at that trial to inculpate the Government. Every jurymen wrote on his ballot that Riel was guilty and perfectly sane. Hon. Mr. Thomson then refuted a slander against the government, in which it had been alleged, that a request by Dr. Clarke to examine the brain of Riel had been refused until after decomposition had set in. Hon. Mr. Thomson said the statement was utterly false. Dr. Clarke had never made any such request. He added further, that the body of Louis Riel—contrary to the usual custom—was handed over to his relatives for interment. Riel was in the asylum twice, it was true, but he was there at his own request—in shelter from justice. He was shamming insanity.

Sir John Macdonald next came to the front of the platform to reply to the address, but it was some minutes before he could be heard on account of the thunders of applause and deafening cheers which greeted him. The "Grand Old Man" seemed to be much gratified at so cordial a reception, and referred to the fact very feelingly in his brief half hour speech. The difference between the Owen Sound of nine years ago, when he first visited the place, and the Owen Sound of to-day, was strongly contrasted, and the change for the better largely attributed to the beneficent influences of the National Policy. His policy for the development of manufactures had been fully realized, and every promise made faithfully carried out. This was different from the course of the Grits, who were thus exemplified by a certain poet:

"As Bees on flowers alight, cease their Hum.
So settling in their places, Grits grow Dumb!"

"When the Conservative government returned to power in 1878," said Sir John, "they were handed an empty bag!" The rapid construction of the great transcontinental railway—the C.P.R.—was referred to in that happy yet forcible manner so peculiar to him. "Mr. Mackenzie's plan of constructing the road by piece-meal would have taken till the year 2886 before it could have been completed!" The benefit of the C.P.R. as a means for transporting British troops across the continent, through British soil, to the Pacific—in case of war with China or Russia—was very clearly shown. England now finds Canada a source of strength rather than a source of weakness. The opposition made many adverse statements, and sought to create disunion amongst Canadians by fostering the "Race and Revenge" cry, decrying Canadian industries, &c., &c. "Well," said Sir John, "we believe everything the Opposition says—when it suits ourselves!" In reference to the Riel matter, Sir John said the Government had "punished the murderer as a murderer ought to be punished." Referring to the Mackenzie government, Sir John asked the question, what had that government done, when some on the front seats shouted "Nothing," others said "steel rails!" 'Yes" said Sir John, "there was a little bit of steal about that, I dare say."

Sir John has not now that jaunty air he once so largely possessed, nor yet has he that firm, elastic step he had when we first saw him in 1875. Nor could he be expected to possess them. He is now 72 years of age—two years past the allotted lifetime of mortals—and is remarkably active and vigorous for his age. His hair is becoming silvered by the frosts of many winters," but the old man can yet hold the attention of an audience as can no other man in Canada.

NOTES.

The arrangements in connection with members of the press was of a most wretched character. The usual invitation to take seats on the platform was not extended, and reporters and editors scrambled up as best they knew how.

Those newspaper men who have blindly swallowed every act of the Conservative government were furnished with tickets to the banquet—the biggest toady in the puddle being Alphabetical Jenkins. Others were rigidly excluded—Grit and Tory being treated alike.

SCROFULA

Humors,

I do not believe that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has an equal as a remedy for Scrofulous Humors. It is pleasant to take, gives strength and vigor to the body, and produces a more permanent, lasting, result than any medicine I ever used.—E. Haines, No. Lindale, O.

Erysipelas,

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrofula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease.—W. F. Fowler, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Canker, and

For forty years I have suffered with Erysipelas. I have tried all sorts of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured.—Mary C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

Catarrh,

I have suffered, for years, from Catarrh, which was so severe that it destroyed my appetite and weakened my system. After trying other remedies, and getting no relief, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a few months, was cured.—Susan L. Cook, 909 Albany st., Boston Highlands, Mass.

Can be cured by purifying the blood with

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is superior to any blood purifier that I have ever tried. I have taken it for Scrofula, Canker, and Salt-Rheum, and received much benefit from it. It is good, also, for a weak stomach.—Millie Jane Peirce, South Bradford, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1, six bottles, $5.
