A Pointer for the "News."

To the Editor of The Advance.

Sir,—As Mr. McColman has expressed—through the columns of your paper—dissatisfaction as to the result of the recent convention, alleging that there was undue advantage taken by several of the municipalities in the representation thereat, and calling upon the officers of the Association to reply to him through the press, I beg most respectfully to give my reasons for non-compliance with his request.

Firstly, I do not consider that it is or ever has been the policy of any party, under the conventional system, to discuss the internal affairs of its Association thro' the medium of the press.

Secondly, the object of our Association is to secure union and harmony of action among its members.

Thirdly, the duty and privilege of any member of the Association is to submit his grievance (if any) in proper form to the Executive, who are at all times willing to institute an enquiry and report their finding to the Association. This was not done by Mr. McColman. In view of this fact and the elections being suddenly sprung upon us, and prompted by a desire to give him every opportunity to submit his grievances, I immediately sent him the following telegram, and, afterward, notified as many of the Executive as possible, with the following results:—

Markdale, Nov. 20, 1886.

Neil McColman, Esq., Thornbury.

Re convention, will call a meeting forthwith, if you desire it, of the Executive of the Conservative party of Centre Grey, to consider the grievance you complain of. Answer. (sd) Thomas Kells,
Pres. L. C. A. East Grey.

REPLY.

Thos. Kells, Markdale.

Will come on Monday re your message.
(sd) Neil McColman.

Meeting of the Executive opened at 1.30 o'clock and closed at 4.30 p.m. The following resolution was passed unanimously:—Moved by A. Elliott, seconded by A. Freeborn, that as Neil McColman has failed to attend the meeting of this Executive Committee, called for the express purpose of considering and, if possible, rectifying grievances which he claims to exist in connection with his candidature at the recent convention, this committee can take no action, from the fact that Mr. McColman is not present and the Committee have no data on which to proceed. That in view of the above facts, this Committee authorize and inform the nominee of the convention, Joseph Rorke, Esq., to issue his address and commence an active canvas of the Riding.

After the meeting of the Executive had dissolved, Mr. McColman arrived, with whom I held an interview. I asked him if he desired a full meeting of the Executive of the Riding convened to consider the alleged grievances. His answer was "No; I am now fully satisfied that the Association has performed its duty."

The course he has chosen to pursue has been in direct opposition to our Association, prejudicial to the interests of the Conservative party, and should meet with the hearty disapproval of all true Conservatives. THOS KELLS,
Pres. L. C. A. East Grey.

Manitoba Letter.

To the Editor of The Advance.

Dear Sir,—I will now try to fulfil my promise of informing your readers concerning

Things, which have never "seen the ligtt,"
Things dimly seen as 'twere by night,
Things, plainer seen at darkness flight,
Things, plainly seen at noonday bright.

Being a "housed up" invalid, I find it difficult to obtain as much interesting news as I would like to communicate. However, I will try to tell the truth concerning this great, good, bad, rich, poor, cold, hot, temperate, and country—Manitoba—into which I have been so fortunate, recently, as to have made my escape from the "South," that unfortunate country, so long and intensely overheated to the destruction of various crops upon which the inhabitants depend, and so unhealthy, so subject to chills, fevers, rheumatism, pneumonia, bloody flux, etc., also, numberless venomous serpents. There are, also, "ticks" innumerable. This information has never "seen the light." Canadians think black flies, gnats and mosquities are bad, and so they are—(they are common pests in the South, too)—but those ticks, what are they like? A mongrel, or cross between wood ticks and sheep ticks—two species; the "seed tick" from the size of a point of a pin, to a flea. During their season, if a person happens to step off the path or come in contact with them in the grass, they instantly swarm upon their feet and legs and bite, and if not instantaneously removed by scraping them off, or applying coal oil, or other quick remedy, they burrough themselves into the flesh, and must be dug out one by one; and if ever the head remains (which is often the case) an almost incurable running sore, or sores, is the result—eating to the bone apparently for weeks, or months, and when cured leaves scars, or pits, similar to small pox marks!

The larger kind resemble a Colorado beetle, potato bug, are about as large, and generally attack domestic animals, especially their hind legs, crawling upwards on horse, cow and hog, almost covering legs, thighs, backs, also udders of cows, and sometimes causing death of valuable animals if allowed to remain long. Somebody says:—

"Those little fleas, which do us tease,
Have little fleas to bite 'em,
And then again have lesser ones,
And so ad infinitum."

But, I have yet to learn whether those ticks have an enemy capable of reducing their number to any perceptable extent. They are "innumerable as the sand upon the sea shore." It is saddening to know those kind-hearted Southerners have not a better country.

CANADIANS, NORTHENERS,

Don't try the South. Editors, I beg of you never admit one encouraging word in your papers favorable to Northeners moving South. I got "bit" by going there and am not ashamed to own it—especially when doing so for the good of my countrymen. Hundreds of Northerners, I believe, could tell the same story. I do not blame Southerners generally for praising the South, because perhaps not more than one in a thousand ever saw any other. Again, I say, that, in my opinion, any person advising Canadians to move to the Southern States do so either ignorantly or for selfish motives. Anyway the South is well able to take care of itself. They are a happy, contented people now, but probably would be less so, with any considerable number of foreigners intermixed.

ONTARIO.

Do your readers know that Ontario is but a little over one hundred miles from Winnipeg? Rat Portage is in that Province and is sometimes called ONTARIO! Do they know that every person in Manitoba came from Ontario? Well, not quite; however, it is astonishing how many came from that desirable Province and "still they come." But my advice is, remain there if you can make a living; few can do more here, yet this is an excellent country.

Does everybody know that the North West has a use for frost, which other countries, with milder winters, have not? Attention! very little snow falls here. The ground is frequently bare and freezes to a depth of five or six feet—the frost slowly thaws out during the summer, sending up a dampness which nourishes vegetation in time of drought!

I may remark, this is not a rainy climate.—Stick a pin here and I will stop, lest my article proves too lengthy, although the half (nor hundreth part) has not been told.
