LA GRIPPE'S VICTIMS

Left Weak, Miserable and Prey to Disease in Many Forms

One of the most treacherous diseases afflicting the people of Canada during the winter months is la grippe, or influenza. It almost invariably ends with a complication of troubles. It tortures its victims with alternate fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, and even consumption. Indeed the deadly after-effects of la grippe may leave the victim a chronic invalid. You can avoid la grippe entirely by keeping the blood rich and red by an occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you have not done this and the disease attacks you, you can banish its deadly after-effects through the use of this same great blood-building, nerve-restoring medicine. Here is proof of the wonderful power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills over this trouble.

Mr. Emmanuel Laurin, St. Jerome, Que., says: "I was seized with a severe attack of la grippe. I was obliged to stop work and remain in my bed for several weeks, and while I appeared to get over the first stages of the trouble, I did not regain my usual health. I suffered from headaches, loss of appetite and extreme weakness. I did not sleep well at nights, and would arise in the morning feeling tired and worn out. This continued for about two months during which time I was taking treatment, but apparently without avail. Then I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a half dozen boxes. By the time I had taken three boxes there was a decided improvement, and actually before I had completed the sixth box I was enjoying my old-time health. I was strong as ever, could sleep well and eat well, and no longer suffered from lassitude and headaches. I have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the pernicious after-effects of la grippe, and can therefore recommend them to other sufferers."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the trouble in the blood, which they enrich, and make red and pure. These pills cure all troubles due to bad blood, and if you are ailing you should start to cure yourself to-day by taking this great medicine. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Toronto Man Cured of Intolerable Itch

Mr. J. E. Hooper, Toronto.

By Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment

"I just want to say a good word for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Four or five years ago I was in Port Arthur, and I had an attack of the itch. It certainly was an intolerable nuisance. The itching was principally at nights before I went to bed. The thighs were especially affected.

"I went to two doctors about it, and tried more than one remedy. I was beginning to think the complaint was incurable, when I was telling my trouble to a barber, and he said that he would guarantee to cure me. He told me to take a hot bath, use Cuticura Soap, and then apply Cuticura Ointment. I took his advice, and, sure enough, the itch vanished. I had probably been troubled with the itch for two or three months before I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and they completely cured me of that intolerable nuisance. After one warm bath with Cuticura Soap and use of the Cuticura Ointment I was never troubled with the itching again. Anything in this testimonial I would be prepared to swear to in a court of law." (Signed) J. E. Hooper, 268 Parliament Street, Toronto, Jan. 10, 1911.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Ointment have afforded the speediest, simplest and most economical treatment for skin and scalp humors. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. A liberal sample of each, with 32-pag book, sent free, to any address, by the Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., 82 Columbus Ave., Boston, U. S. A.

THE FIDDLER AND THE KING.

Frederick William I. of Prussia Could Take a Joke.

The severity of the Prussian King, Frederick William I, especially toward the son who became Frederick the Great, has given him a perhaps undeserved reputation for sternness. Anecdotes that reveal gentler qualities are related in "The House of Hohenzollern." One anecdote in particular shows that Frederick William could even take a rebuke good-humoredly.

In Berlin assemblies and dinner-parties were often given, and the king was a frequent guest at the houses of the foreign envoys and at the houses of his own subjects. He was always most amiable on these occasions, and, with his jokes and gaiety, quite the life of the evening.

When the King of Poland, Augustus the Strong, visited Berlin, he was accompanied by the famous violinist, Locatelli. Although Frederick William hated virtuosi, he was abliged to listen to this artist, who appeared in a coat of blue velvet embroidered with silver.

"The fellow looks like a minister of war, at least!" the king ejaculated. But wishing to be civil, he sent him twenty thalers by a servant.

The artist sent the king his homage and thanks, but handed the money as a gratuity to the servant who had brought it.

On hearing of this, Frederick William was indignant, and complained to Augustus of the impudence of his fiddler. Augustus, however, pointed out that an artist of the eminence of Locatelli was accustomed to receive presents of gold watches, snuff-boxes and diamond rings.

Frederick William, therefore, decided to have a laugh at him. A second concert was arranged, after which the Prussian King himself gave the artist a snuff-box filled with ducats, and added, "You are so magnificently lavish that I should prefer, on this occasion, to earn the gratuity myself."

But the resourceful artist was not to be overmatched. He replied that such a present from such a king was too weighty for him to part with.

NEAR-MUSIC.

"Did they have music at the entertainment?" asked William.

"No," replied Ethel, "just accordion playin'."

Many patent medicines have come and gone, but Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup continues to occupy a foremost place among remedies for coughs and colds, and as a preventive of decay of the lungs. It is a standard medicine that widens its sphere of usefulness year by year. If you are in need of something to rid yourself of a cough or cold, you cannot do better than try Bickle's Syrup.

THE DIFFERENCE.

An avenue business man was taking an employe to task.

"See here! You wrote a personal letter yesterday during business hours. You used your employer's time. That's stealing."

The employe flared back.

"Well, sir," he said, "I have worked over-time at least 100 times a year for the past 10 years."

"Ha! Hum! That's business."

Anxious voice over the 'phone—"Doctor, please hurry over to our house. One of the family has suddenly been stricken with a fainting fit. Is there anything you want ready when you get here, so that there will be no time lost?" Doctor—"Yes—er—you may have my fee ready."

LEAP YEAR PROPOSALS LEGAL

Woman Originally Given Right by Statutes.

Although most women are well aware of the great privilege which they may enjoy during leap year, it is not to be presumed that they are all equally conversant with the fact that their prematrimonial right was originally secured to them by a statute law of England, enacted in 1606 under James I. (1603-1625). which readeth thus: "Albeit it is now become a part of the common laws, in regarde to the social relaytions of life, that so often as everie besextile year doeth returne, the ladyes have the sole privilege, during the time continueth, of making love unto the men, which they may doe, either by words or looks, as unto them seemeth proper; moreover, no man will be entitled to the benefit of clergy who dothe refuse to accept the offers of a ladye, or who dothe in any wise treat her proposals with slight and contumely."

A Scotch statute of 1228, under Alexander II. (1214-1249), however, preceded the above, and will appear to be even more stringent:

"It is statet and ordaint that during the year of his maist blissit majestie, ilk fourth year known as leap year, ilk maiden lady of both high and low estait, shall hae liberty to bespeak ye man she likes, albit, if he refuses to take her to be his wife he shall be mulcted in the sum of one poundis (£1) or less, as his estait may be, except and anis if he can make it oppear that he is betrothed to ane woman, that he shall then be free."

A trial of it will carry conviction to any who doubt its power to repair and heal.

SIDE-STEPPING PNEUMONIA.

Chicago Health Bureau Tells How to Avoid Infection.

Rules for "side stepping" pneumonia are offered in unique form by the Chicago department of health in a recent bulletin and causes of the infectious disease made plain. Under the caption, "Some things you should know about pneumonia," these conditions which render infection probable are listed:

"Contact with a pneumonia patient. Working in a dusty, poorly ventilated place. Living in rooms that are unventilated or too hot and dry. Sleeping in an unventilated room. Eating more or less food than the system needs in relation to work, exercise and exposure. Drinking alcoholics. Excessive work. Lack of sleep. Worry and grief. Other diseases. Unseasonable clothing.

"If you can sidestep all these, pneumonia will not get you."

An Easy Pill to Take.—Some persons have repugnance to pills because of their nauseating taste. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so prepared as to make them agreeable to the most fastidious. The most delicate can take them without feeling the revulsion that follows the taking of ordinary pills. This is one reason for the popularity of these celebrated pills, but the main reason is their high tonical quality as a medicine for the stomach.
