The thunder storm that swept over this part of the country on Sunday night last, damaged some places. Lightning struck one of the barns of Mr. Duncan Brown, just off the 4th line, Nottawasaga. The building was 30 x 40 frame structure, and containing a quantity of lumber and straw, and isolated from his other building, which contained his stock and implements. Durham

Registrar Thomas Lauder, an old gentleman of 84 years, left his home Tuesday morning last about five o'clock, and with nothing on but his night clothes and socks, wandered onto the railway track where he was discovered crossing the Saugeen bridge by Mr. John Robinson. Of late the old man's mind is weak at times, and he is not responsible for his actions. It is indeed fortunate that he met with no mishap, nor does he show any signs of having taken cold by the exposure.

Mrs. Wm. Calder is in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, where she underwent an operation on Tuesday of last week for a very severe case of appendicitis. Arbor day, which means "tree day," will sood be here again, but how often is it observed in the planting of shade trees in school grounds. For instance, take our school grounds, there are not half the shade trees in it that there would have been, had the day been properly observed in previous years. Let us hope this year will see all the vacancies filled in.

Mr. Ashley Fawcett, our popular barber, left on Monday of this week for North Bay, where he has accepted a lucrative position. Ashley will certainly make good, as he is a first class artist.

It looks as if football is a thing of the past, for this year at least, as far as Kimberley is concerned. Little or no interest was taken in the game here last season, and this season two of our star players, namely, Les. Lawrence and Ashley Fawcett, will not be available and practically none of the juniors are fast enough for senior company. So the once far-famed football centre with its team of Irish braves, "The Shramrocks," which seldom ever tasted defeat, will rest on its oars for the year 1912.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. W. S. Bishop, who has been on the sick list, is now making favorable progress toward recovery.

You will look a good while before you find a better better medicine for coughs and colds than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only gives relief—it cures. Try it when you have a cough or a cold, and you are certain to be pleased with the prompt cure which it it will effect. For sale by all dealers.

The minting of Canadian five and ten dollar gold pieces will begin next month at the mint. The new coins will meet a long-felt want in Canada, most of the gold coinage used here being American. There are several millions here in circulation. The new coins will be exactly of the same intrinsic value as the American gold pieces and will be exchangeable at par in the United Stated, thus obivating present difficulties of Canadian travelers visiting the United States in regard to being obliged to discount Canadian bills. There will be about eight million dollars worth of the new gold pieces coined this year.

The property of the Dufferin Light & Power Co. at Hornings Mills will be sold by auction. The plant is valued at $9700. It supplied lighting for Shelburne and Orangeville, and was preparing to supply Dundalk.

Deathly Cramps, Stomach was Bloated

A Bad Case That Proves Cramps and Stomach Disorders are Cured Fast by Nerviline.

"The distress I suffered from cramps last summer was so severe I thought it meant death," writes P. R. Emerson, of Guys Hill, P. O. "I was doubled up with pain and in such bad shape I couldn't walk a hundred feet. I remembered having Nerviline on hand and took half a teaspoonful in sweetened water. In five minutes I was well and my stomach derangements disappeared entirely."

NERVILINE

AN INSTANT RELIEF

For cramps, flatulence, diarrhoea and disorders of the stomach and bowels, Nerviline knows no equal—one million bottles used every year—fifty years on the market, that's proof enough of its merit. Large bottles, 50c., trial size, 25c. All dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Mrs. Sproule and Intoxicants

The following article from the pen of Chesterfield appeared in last week's Family Herald and Weekly Star:

Among the public hostesses at Ottawa, there are none who usually come into greater prominence than the wife of the Speaker of the House of Commons, for she resides in public quarters, is always within very close range of the hustle and bustle of public life at the Capital, and is expected to do, and does, a great deal of official entertaining. Immediately after her husband assumed office upon the opening of the recently concluded session, Mrs. T. S. Sproule, the present lady of the Speaker's quarters on the House of Commons' side of Parliament House, came into general public prominence on account of the announcement that at no festivities in the Speaker's quarters during her regime would intoxicating beverages of any description be served or allowed. Mrs. Sproule, who is by conviction, and has been all her life, a total abstainer, is deeply impressed with the desirability for abolishing wines, etc., from social functions, and is convinced that the drinking habit would soon die out if it were frowned down in the highest social circles. It was only natural, consequently, that she should signalize her accession to her present dignified position in official society by acting upon her convictions. It will be remembered that when the decision of the wife of the Speaker of the House of Commons on this point was announced through the press, that resolutions were passed by meetings of the W. C. T. U., and other temperance bodies all over Canada complimenting her upon her action; but it must not be supposed that the other side did not make itself felt. As a matter of fact, many personal friends, and more acquaintances, warned her that she would lose caste if she persisted in the new order of things. Some suggested that if she had wines served at her table and contented herself with banishing strong liquor and malted beverages that she would accomplish her purpose without creating offence; others expressed the oppinion that if she had claret cup and champagne served that the principle she stood for would be preserved and the public desire gratified. But though a quiet woman of a decidedly retiring nature, Mrs. Sproule showed that she was in earnest and had a will of her own. Not one guest in the Speaker's quarters had a sip of anything stronger than tea. More than that, wine jellies and punches were prohibited, and in spite of the chef's protest, whenever English plum pudding appeared on a dinner menu it was never accompanied by the traditional brandy sauce. In spite of her stand as a temperance supporter, and notwithstanding her character as a retiring home woman, Mrs. Sproule has maintained her official position with considerable success, excelling as a hostess when a goodly proportion of the guests included friends she had made in Ottawa during the many years (thirty-two) that her husband has represented East Grey in Parliament. Among her inmates the lady of the Speaker's quarters is very much beloved, and at Markdale, where her home is, she is one of the most popular women of the place. Mrs. Sproule's father, Mr. W. K. Flesher, represented East Grey in Parliament for some years, being succeeded by Mr. Sproule, who the following year became his son-in-law. In religion, the Speaker and his wife are Methodists, and close adherents of that church.
