AN ECCENTRIC BUTCHER.

His Bills Were Queer, and So Were His Eating and Praying.

In 1720 there died at Romford, in Essex, England, a well known butcher of that town named Wilson. Mr. Wilson, it appears, was notable for his integrity in business and for the gentleness of his manners—two qualities which, perhaps, would scarcely have entitled him to the notice of posterity had he not also exhibited a remarkable addiction to psalmody, extraordinary proficiency in penmanship and a highly peculiar manner of eating his dinner.

Such butcher's bills as he sent to his customers had never been seen before and have never been seen since. They were all exquisitely written by his own hand, but the top line would be, perhaps, in German text, the second in Roman letters, simulating the finest print; beef would be in one style of writing, mutton in another, lamb in a third, while each of these kinds of meat would be still further distinguished by a different color of ink.

He was a great friend to the church, observing all its ordinances and a trifle more. Every Sunday he entertained the congregation with a solo, singing the psalms by himself until the minister came into the desk. And on every fast day, while all the rest of the congregation went home to their refreshment and rest, between morning and evening service, he never quitted the church, but went about from pew to pew repeating the Lord's Prayer and singing appropriate psalms until he had performed these favorite devotions in every pew in the church.

He had a large appetite and seemed determined that all Romford should know it; for, instead of sitting down quietly to dinner in his back parlor, he would usually sally forth into the street with a leg or shoulder of lamb in one hand, a large knife in the other, a small loaf of bread in his pocket and a handful of salt in the bend of the arm which carried the joint; and thus equipped would perambulate the town, eating as he went, until he had consumed the whole of this very substantial meal.—Chambers' Journal.

WRIGGLING SIGNS.

How the Movable Effect Is Obtained In Electrical Designs.

A great many electric signs are of the moving type. Walk down most any city street after dark and you will see many illuminated signs of novel and interesting design. Here a long red and blue snake seems to be wiggling from the street to the top of a building. On the other side a wheel is rapidly revolving, below it yellow smoke is issuing in clouds from a huge brown cigar. There is also a large theater sign which suddenly flashes into view, only to disappear after an interval long enough to read it.

It is quite puzzling to the ordinary pedestrian to explain the wonderful light effects. It is apparent that the light is obtained from electricity, but this is about all that is understood. In such signs as where a snake seems to be wriggling along, a cat chases a rat, words that spell themselves letter by letter and in all other similar signs the effect is produced by a mechanical device called a "flasher," which lights the tiny electric sign lamps in the order required to produce the effect. This flasher is driven by a tiny motor.

The flasher is made up of a number of fingers, and each finger drops in its turn upon a metal plate that is electrically connected with a certain letter or series of letters, or, in the case of the snake or rat chasers, with certain bulbs. The flasher is driven rapidly, and in this way the snake can be speeded around its course very swiftly. Where the only effect desired is a sign in which one letter is illuminated at a time the flasher becomes a much simpler device, but in all cases the underlying principle is the same.—New York Tribune.

Helping the Coffee.

Some of the coffee sold roasted and ground causes complaint. Most of it can be improved a little. Trouble seems to be that it is not roasted enough and needs another touch of fire. You know the less it is roasted the more it weighs. Put a couple of tablespoonfuls in a seamless agate quart stewpan or cup and set it on the stove, gas or blue flame and shake it while it gets another scant parching, never letting it get hot enough to smoke or scorch. Set it aside till it gets cold and then pour on the water and finish up in the regular way.—New York Press.

Didn't Hit Him.

John Wesley had a reputation for cheerfulness. In his journal he writes: "I preached in Halifax to a civil, senseless congregation. Three or four gentlemen put me in mind of the honest man at London who was so gay and unconcerned while Dr. Sherlock was preaching concerning the day of judgment. One asked, 'Do you not hear what the doctor says?' He answered, 'Yes, but I am not of his parish.'"

His Early Promise.

"Does my boy," inquired the parent, "seem to have a natural bent in any one direction?"

"Yes, sir," said the teacher. "He gives every indication of being a captain of industry some day. He gets the other boys to do all his work for him."—Chicago Tribune.

Just Our Luck.

Williams — This is a queer world. Walker — Right you are. A man's shoes will often get untied, but never just as he is ready to take them off.—Judge.

Portlaw

A gloom has been cast over this neighborhood by the death of Mr. Thomas Haney, which occurred in Toronto on the 17th of April. Seven weeks illness with typhoid fever proved more than the strong constitution of the young man could resist. The body was brought up for burial in Mount Zion cemetery. Rev. Mr. Brown of Toronto attended and assisted Rev. Mr. Campbell in the funeral services. Three brothers of Toronto, Robert, Edward and George, and Albert of Dundalk and sister, Mrs. Morrow, were present. Mrs. J. L. Woods of Ceylon, another sister, was unable to attend through illness. Deceased was a brother of Mr. John W. Haney and Mrs. Wm. Tailor of this place, and was well liked, having spent his boyhood days here.

Mr. Thomas Sherwood's house had an exceedingly narrow escape from destruction by fire one day lately. The alarm was promplly sounded "wireless" and a dauntless fire brigade from the winds at once responded and just in the nick of time to save the building from destruction, but not until considerable damage had been done.

Pedlar—Weatherup—On Wednesday, April 17, at 11 o'clock a.m., in Toronto, Mr. Fred Pedlar, son of Mr. S. Pedlar, Fourth line, was united in marriage to Miss Lylis Weatherup of Creemore. Rev. R. Corrigan, B.A., performed the ceremony at the parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. Pedlar left immediately after the ceremony for Niagara Falls and other points. On their return they will reside in Toronto. We wish the young couple all the joys that can come to a long and happy wedded life.

Miss Ilia Lyons has returned from Toronto, where she has spent the winter. A girl friend accompanied her home and will visit in this neighborhood for some time.

Items of Interest

Dr. J. J. Brown of Owen Sound was arrested on a serious charge.

Mrs. Sarah Myles of Guelph was fatally burned by her clothing catching fire.

The work of installing wireless on the C. P. R. boats is proceeding at Owen Sound.

Fishermen are scooping carp in quantities from the bed of the Holland and river, near Bradford, and shipping the fish to New York.

The mayor of Owen Sound has invested in three pair of swans for the town. These will be placed on the river for ornamental purposes.

A trapper named L. D. Porter was found dead in the woods near Minden with bullet holes in the body. He is supposed to have been murdered.

All the factories in Merriton and St. Catharines which use the hydraulic raceway were shut down on account of a break in the bank due to a muskrat hole. A large part of the bank was torn out by the rush of water which emptied into an adjoining valley and narrowly missed causing damage to adjoining property.

Dreading the possibility of having to return to the house of refuge, William Livingstone, aged 81 years, hanged himself on Sunday afternoon at Angus. He was found by Mrs. Peter Milne suspended from a rafter in the barn of her husband, by whom he had been employed. He had no relatives in that neighborhood, but had one son in the West and one in Parry Sound.

A young man who had just married, suggested to his wife that they should argue some question fully and frankly every morning. This, he thought, would help them to gain a fuller insight into each other's nature, thus making for increased happiness. The first question happened to be, "Can a woman dress on fifty dollars a years?" He took the affirmative and when last seen he had climbed up into the hayloft and was pulling the ladder up after him.—Express.

Miss Sophia Carter, Angus, aged 15 years, threatened to commit suicide if her lover, W. Royce, aged 19, did not marry her. The girl was taken to Barrie jail where she told her story, and of her mother's refusal to allow her to get married. This objection was overcome on persuasion of the Crown Attorney, and Detective Beardsley made a trip to Peterboro for Royce, whom he found packing Quaker oats. Royce readily consented to return with the detective and on Monday afternoon the young couple were married and hiked back to Peterboro next day to commence the stern realities of married life.—Creemore Star.

Seizing His Opportunity.

Wife—Mrs. Bowen's house is strictly up to date, with electric appliances throughout. All she has to do is to touch a button and almost any desired result is accomplished. Husband—Well, you would never be able to get results in that way, my dear. Wife—Why not? Husband—Because you seem to have a horror of touching buttons. Just look at my clothes.

CURE THAT COLD

This is Quickly and Pleasantly Accomplished If You Use

Catarrhozone

Catarrhozone will relieve colds almost instantly and in a few hours will cure completely. If it is old-standing asthma or bronchitis its quick and curative results will astonish you.

Catarrhozone is little drops of healing medicine carried by air to the sore and diseased parts. You breath them through the Catarrhozone Inhaler and they spread throughout all the air passages.

It is sense as well as healing, because Catarrhozone is a germ killer, a healer and restorer of weak tissues, because it is so prompt and certain in its results, better than any other remedy for diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes, and it is neither alcohol, morphia or cocaine—all dangerous.

Tens of thousands have used Catarrhozone without reporting a single case of failure to cure diseases of the throat and lungs and nasal passages.

Remember, CATARRHOZONE is taken in air, and is little drops of healing for the throat, nasal passages, or lungs. It always does cure—is guaranteed.

Price 25c., 50c., and $1.00 at all druggists or by mail, post paid, from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.
