Master Hilton Rowe, a 9-year-old son of Mr. E. A. Rowe, the baker here, had a narrow escape from drowning on Wednesday evening of last week. In some way he fell into the water at the lower side of the McKechnie dam, and was struggling in the water when discovered by Mr. James McLachlan, who lost n time in going to the rescue and bringing the young lad safe to shore. The boy's first enquiry after reaching terra firma was regarding the whereabouts of his fishing pole. Had it not been for the prompt action of McLachlan, the boy would most assuredly have been drowned as he has no knowledge of swimming.—Durham Chronicle.

The Wood Pile Philosopher.

Mr. Erastus Johnson, the only colored man in Wobrook-in-the-Hills, has thought out many of the secrets of easing the toil that he knows best and is ever ready to impart them to others.

"When they comes to me fer advice," he said to one of the campers, "I alwus tell 'em it depends on what their perfession is. If they've arrived at the dignity o' sawin' wood I alwus tell 'em to saw the biggest fust. If they asks why, an' they mostly does, I say, 'So's you'll only have the little sticks to saw when you gets tuckered out.'

"An' I tell ye now," concluded Erastus graciously, quite as if the camper had asked for "pointers" on a back yard job, "it's jes' the same with pilin'. Put the big sticks to the bottom. It's mighty bilious exercise a liftin' of 'em to the top."—Youth's Companion.

When Butter Was Scarce.

Butter, which is almost indispensable nowadays, was almost unknown to the ancients. Herodotus is the earliest writer to mention it. The Spartans used butter, but as an ointment, and Plutarch tells how the wife of Dedotorous once received a visit from a Spartan lady whose presence was intolerable because she was smeared with butter. The Greeks learned of butter from the Scythians, and the Germans showed the Romans how it was made. The Romans, however, did not use it for food, but for anointing their bodies.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Right In His Line.

"Why don't you have a sponge to moisten your stamps?" queried the man from across the street who had dropped in to use the lawyer's telephone.

"Good idea," answered the disciple of Blackstone. "Do you want the job?"—Chicago News.

During the Spat.

Wife (complainingly)—You're not like Mr. Knagg. They've been married twenty years and Mrs. Knagg says her husband is so tender. Hub—Tender! Well, he ought to be after being in hot water that long.—Boston Transcript.

A Matter of Policy.

"There's only one thing I ever do for policy's sake."

"What's that?"

"Pay my premiums."—Smart Set

Owen Sound Council will defend the local option bylaw.

A Middlesex magistrate sent a seventeen-year-old boy of previously good character to Central Prison for six months for taking a piece of meat he found in a barn while hunting sparrows. A magistrate so severe in his sentences should be removed from the bench.—Ex.

Chest Inflammation

Suffered From a Heavy Cold, Pleuritic Pains in Side — Constant Coughing.

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Von Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh racking cough and severe pains darted through my sides and settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments, but none broke up my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

Nerviline CURES CHEST COLDS

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica, and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large bottles, 50c, trial size 25c. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

JOHN FIDLAY, Proprietor,
Meaford, Ont.

Several C. P. R. employees who went to Port McNicholl when the Company moved there have returned to Owen Sound to discover another job. The whip-poor-wills kept them awake at night.

The county is not called upon to build a bridge at Ayton as the Aytonese desired. The county is only compelled to build bridges of 300 feet and over. The one in question is only 283 feet.

The temperance people of Meaford have decided to launch another local option campaign to be voted on next January.

Collingwood expects to have Hydro-electric electricity supplied by September next from either the Niagara or Severn development.

The Owen Sound papers say a new grain elevator will be erected there at a cost of $100,000.
