GROWING STRONG ON SPECIAL DIET

Colour makes no difference at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, where any child is accepted regardless of race, creed or financial circumstances. Little Laurien is of the same belief for she and her black dolly are inseparable companions. Because of an unusual stomach ailment, Laurien can only digest a few foods. The Hospital has worked out a special diet for Laurien that is gradually rebuilding her strength. It is to take care of more babies like Laurien (there are 200 children on the waiting list) that the Hospital for Sick Children is appealing to everyone in Ontario for $6,000,000 for a new building.

OTTAWA REPORTS

That Two Empire Statesmen Praised Canada's Part at San Francisco Conference

Once implacable enemy of the British Empire, now one of its greatest and most trusted leaders, Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts was greeted by thousands when he visited Ottawa.

In the red-tabbed uniform of a British Field Marshal, he laid a wreath for the Union of South Africa at the National War Memorial, inspected servicemen, including a group of South African War veterans, and decorated nine returned Canadian nursing sisters representing a group of 300 who responded to the call of the South African government in 1941 to serve with the forces of that country. Later he spoke vigourously and hopefully of the events of San Francisco from which he had just returned.

Despite his 75 years General Smuts steps along with the briskness of an athlete. His physical fitness is attributed to a frugal life on his farm near Pretoria where he spends most of his time. His mother was of French Huguenot descent, his father a Dutch farmer and minor politician. Once destined for the ministry, General Smuts became a lawyer,—later soldier and statesman.

Lord Cranborne, British secretary of state for the Dominions, who also came to Ottawa from San Francisco, said in an interview that the conference and London talks which preceded it, were good examples of how the relationship between the Commonwealth countries works under the Statute of Westminster. "There is no question of the coercion of one member by the others. We are all arbiters of our own fate, but, by constant consultation with each other, we are able very often to reach common view. By maintaining that view we can exert great influence in the affairs of the world." Lord Cranbourne said of the Canadian delegation to San Francisco, "The amendments which they put forth were always constructive and helpful, and the contribution which they made left its mark upon the charter."

BELGIAN TARGET

Dark-haired Princess of Rethy, above, commoner wife of King Leopold III of the Belgians, is target for attacks of Communist wing seeking abdication of the King, now in Austria. A featured article in the Communist newspaper challenged payment of a pension to her father.

Britain To Build 200,000 New Cars

A British automobile industry proposal to manufacture 200,000 private cars during the next 12 months has been approved by the British Board of Trade and the Supply Ministry.

It was understood that most of the cars will be of small types and half of them will be for overseas export under the agreement by Government agencies.

The manufacturers expect to complete 40,000 of the cars by the end of this year.

Floating Docks

Floating docks for use by the Royal Navy in the Pacific war are being built in South Africa. The first dock, built here and completed within 13 months, already has been towed to its destination.

Horror Pictures Sober Prisoners

German war prisoners confined at Fort Custer, Mich., were taken on a brief movie tour of German horror camps and emerged a far more serious, sober lot than entered the theater.

It was the first showing of a series of newsreels of Nazi prison camps which the War Department has ordered all German prisoners to see.

As pictures of gaunt, emaciated German captives were flashed on the screen, many of the prisoners shifted uneasily in their seats.

As they filed out, many of the Germans were swallowing hard, their lips in tight thin lines.

There was no joking, laughing or talking among themselves as when they were going into the theater.

China Plans 100,000 Miles Of Railways

During the war China has lost most of her railroads. However, she plans to build a railroad system with 100,000 miles or rails, 20,000 of which is to be built within ten years after the war.

The Chinese railroad engineers and personnel have been the last to retreat from places taken by the enemy and they are now the first to enter regained areas. They have moved rails by hand over long distances. They have built bridges where it was thought bridges could not be built. They have improvised with equipment never before thought of in railroad building. But in spite of all this, China is left with less than a tenth of the railroad lines she had before the war, which was approximately 13,000 miles or railroad.

Lack of railroad equipment has been the biggest of China's problems since the war began.

Kittens Never Did Like Juicy Worms

A Leghorn hen has adopted three orphaned kittens and owner Herman Offenbacher of Medford, Ore., says already trouble has developed. The kittens battle, paws against wing as their eager foster mother tries unsuccessfully to get them to eat the food she works so hard to provide—fat, juicy worms scratched from the garden.

Emergency Flat Kept In London For Royal Family

The King and Queen had a fashionable flat in Mayfair to use if they were bombed out of Buckingham Palace.

The emergency apartment was on the fourth floor of Curzon Street House, used by the War Department as its prisoner-of-war office. Very few of the 1,600 men and women working in the building throughout the war knew the secret of the fourth floor.

The existence of the apartment was disclosed when it was learned that the Dowager Queen Mary would use the flat when she returns from her country home in another week or so if her own Marlborough House is not ready for her.

The King and Queen never used their emergency palace, but the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and the Duchess of Kent used the apartment during the worst of the London blitz.

Easier To Move Dutch Than Rebuild

"It would be much easier to transport all of Holland's nine million people and re-establish them in America than to rebuild the country", Prof. F. J. T. Ruttan, of Nijmegen University said recently.

He said this was the tragic commentary on the devastation in Holland as expressed to him by a senior United States Army officer last month. Prof. Rutton is adviser of the Dutch Government and has just arrived in Canada on a special mission.

Have You Heard?

New Missionary: "Did you know Mr. Browns?"

Cannibal King: "Oh, yes! He was the pride of our island"

New Missionary: "Why did he leave such a nice island."

Cannibal King: "He didn't, sir, you see, times got so hard that we had to swallow our pride."

oOo

Commuter: "Well, I'll tell you, Jones, I wear the trousers in my home."

Jones: "Yes, but I notice that right after dinner you wear an apron over them."

oOo

Naive Nellie: "I think it's wonderful that our servicemen are such a happy lot."

Mother: "What makes you say that?"

"Why, whenever you pass them they're always whistling."
