Died.

Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set, but all,
Thou hast all seasons for thine own, O Death.

Although expected for some time past, the death of Mr. Wm. Wood at his residence, Flesherton station, on Friday morning last, took most people by surprise. He passed peacefully away at 3.30 o'clock on the morning named. He had been ailing a few months prior to his death, and although it was known he would never get better the end came sooner than was generally expected. Deceased was 72 years of age. He was a good neighbor, honorable and straightforward in all his dealings. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, and had no fear of death, but was quite ready to go to that home above where sin and sorrow is no more. He took a deep interest in church and Sabbath school work in this place, and will be sadly missed here. His religious convictions were firm, his head was clear, and his heart was warm. He was intelligent, and had read largely. He leaves a wife, two sons and five daughters to mourn his loss. His remains were taken by train to King for interment. Before leaving Rev. Mr. Tonge preached a most impressive sermon to a number of old acquaintances who gathered to pay the last respects to our esteemed worker.—COM.

Maxwell.

From our own Correspondent.

On Sunday morning an event took place near the village which cast a shadow of gloom over the people in general. When news reached this quarter that one who had been attending to household duties on Friday had been called away so soon, it could scarcely be believed. However, we are sorry to say it was the case, for Mrs. James Radley departed this life, and was but a few days before in apparent health and strength. She was only married about three months, and therefore leaves a young husband and many friends to mourn her loss. The interment took place in Maxwell Methodist burying ground on Tuesday, Rev. H. A. Brown conducting the service.

Mr. George Smith, from Flesherton, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church here on Sunday morning.

Mr. Thomas Palister has rented his farm and will move to Flesherton.

Messrs. Bemrose, Linley, Scheniman, Hamblin and Kerton left for Collingwood this week and took the boat for the west.

Owing to the absence of Rev. Mr. Hughes a stranger preached in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening.

Mr. John Madill now takes charge of the Maxwell hotel.

To-morrow will be arbor day and weexpect to see a general cleaning up at the school.

The school bell has been repaired, and we can hear its merry toll.

Swinton Park.

From our own Correspondent.

We are pleased to learn that Thos. Hargrave and John Lee—two of our citizens,—have secured work in the vicinity of Mono Road at good wages.

Notwithstanding the exceedingly bad state of the roads lately, our urbane P. M. is on time every trip with the mail.

Our attention was drawn last week to the very neat appearance of Mr. J. Martin's flower garden, which had a number of crocuses out in full bloom, although the snow had barely melted away. Mr. M. is the model gardner of S. P.

Mr. A. Leeke erected a stable last week, Mr. V. Hill was the framer. Alf. says this last addition to his property means another $100 to the price of his estate.

There is trouble brewing in S. P. owing to a certain unauthorized act on the part of one of our adolescent villagers. The Mayor has the case in hand and we expect strict justice will be meted out to the guilty party. We await further developments. Look out for squalls.

Our dommie now sports a road-cart and a 2-year-old colt. He drives home every, every, (really our memory is failing.) We have it, every month.

Mr. Pattison has invested in a "just-too-cute-for-anything," little cooking stove. What next, Jim?

Mr, Jas. Aldcorn secured first prize for his Canadian draft stallion at Hopeville on Friday.

Say, Mr. Editor, are you going to take a month's holidays? Twelve pages of "Advanced" reading found its way into our sanctum last week.

About 2 weeks ago some rascal entered Mr. John Knox's school, near Ventry, and broke the stove to pieces, flattened several stove pipes and chopped four large holes in the blackboard. As a consequence school was closed last week for repairs. John spent his unexpected and premature holidays at home.

Mr. William McMurdo has taken the job of drawing the milk to Boothville factory along the 17th concession.

Mr. John Rusk has been engaged as deputy foreman on Mr. W. Knox's estate.

WHAT WE MAY EXPECT.

A calf for sale.

A rise in the price of veal.

That Bob will find himself in the "cooler."

That the principal will be busy next Friday by the appearance of things at present.

That the trustees are not going to allow half the section to join No. 14, Egremont. Not by a jugful.

A John L. Sullivan pugilists encounter. Lay on McDuff.

Something in the matrimonial line at an early date, judging from the numerous knick-knacks and paraphernalia pertaining to housekeeping, that certain of our fair ones are manipulating.
