Wigwam Shoes for summer wear. Clearing out the stock at prices greatly reduced, at M. Richardson & Co's.

We agree with our Inistioge correspondent in that the controversy now going on in these columns is an unseemly one and it is a pity that intelligent men cannot discuss public matters without indulging in personalities and cowardly innuendo. We would not give place to Mr. Boland's letter which appears in this issue did we not feel that he was unjustifiably attacked by the doctor. The latter has, however, informed us that the controversy is ended so far as he is concerned. which we cannot help feeling is a wise decision.

Mr. J. H. Heard has secured the services of a good wood worker and is prepared to do all woodwork in the carriage and wagon line at reasonable rates and in first class style.

Cub Captured.

On Friday last Mr. Joe Armstrong, lot 38, 10th con., Artemesia, discovered a young bear cub in the field. The young animal, when chased, climbed a tree. A gun was secured and the little beast captured, with the assisiance of a brother. It was a courageous act, as the old animal might have appeared on the scene at any moment, and it is in fact marvelous that she did not.

Thanking the Major.

Osprey council at its session on Monday last passed the following resolution, which explains itself: "Moved by D. K. Preston, seconded by J. Taylor, that the thanks of this council are due and are hereby tendered to Jos. Rorke, Esq., M. P. P., for his trouble in attending to our request to look after our interest in regard to the land improvement fund." Carried unanimously.

An Accident.

Mr. Richard Smith, of this village, met with an accident which might easily have proved fatal, but resulted only in a painful confinement for a few days. He had left his horse and waggon on the street while attending to other business, and upon returning and getting into his waggon which had been slightly cramped when he first left, the horse started off in the direction of the cramped wheel. This action caused the waggon box to be quickly lifted, precipitating Mr. Smith to the ground in such a position that the waggon passed entirely over his neck and legs. He was taken home, and assistance speedily secured. We are glad to say, however, that he is now improving, and will soon be able to attend to his labor as of yore.

Osprey Council.

Osprey Council met at Maxwell on Monday as a court of revision and waded through a large amount of business. And Osprey Council knows how to wade through business. Reeve Gamey is a business man, and his deputy, Mr. Preston, is a good lieutenant. Mr. Brown is known as the Council's mathematician. He has figures down to a fine point and no error can escape his eagle eye. This gentleman has a history, having during his lifetime been a resident of Mexico, California, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories, at which latter point he was imprisoned in Battleford while Big Bear did his pow wow before the town. His large and varied experience stands him in good stead now, and he is acknowledged to be a valuable acquisition at the Council board. Mr. Monaghan and Mr. Taylor complete the rank and file, and have had good training. We have in more than one instance had occasion to admire the expedition with which Osprey Council conducts its business. It is with pleasure we announce to our many readers in that township that we have made arrangements with a competent party to furnish us with a report of the business done at each session of council, the first of which will appear next week.

Natural History Notes.

A rooster belonging to a farmer in this vicinity was the possessor of twenty wives, but owing to depletions by the pot and otherwise he was left without any. It was noticed for some days that he skirmished around in a peculiar manner, and at last he came home one day leading a procession of exactly twenty hens which he had enticed by certain roostarian argument from their owners to replenish his own harem. The gentleman who gives this out will vouch for its truth.

A friend of ours living at Eugenia wished to dispose of a cumbersome cat, and decided that the easiest way was to throw it over the precipice. This he did, and considered the cat's fate sealed, as it fell 72 feet upon the rocks below. What was his surprise, upon rising next morning, to discover the feline on his doorstep meyeowing for its breakfast. We will vouch for the truthfulness of this.

Another story which we heard of late was to the effect that a certain farmer had a hen which, as regularly as the mornings came around, pecked at the kitchen door until the girl opened it, went to a chip basket and left an egg, after which she marched upstairs and awoke the farmer by trying to pick up the corn on his toe. We have found no one to vouch for this story, however, and consider that it has certain elements of suspicion.

Delaines.—These beautiful summer dress goods are now being cleared out at greatly reduced prices by M. Richardson & Co.

Prize Fight.

It is seldom that Flesherton is treated to so scientific an exhibition of the pugilistic art as was viewed by thirty or forty of our citizens on Wednesday of last week. The ring was pitched in a citizen's stable yard, and the principals were well known farmers who live near this village. We do not believe they are seeking any particular honor over the affair, and therefore withhold names. It was a genuine prize fight for a ten dollar stake, each principal putting up one half of the money. Preliminaries had been arranged the evening before, and the time of meeting was to be at ten o'clock. Ten o'clock came and with it the pugilists with a few favored friends who had been let into the secret. The news soon spread that a fight was in progress and it was not long until a crowd of select members of society were present and critically examining the art exhibition. It was a square stand up and knock down fight. The slugging was heavy and about even up for some time. Andy, however, was not in very good form and was hit hard, going to grass several times, while Jack came up smiling grimly after each round. He got in one blow which split open his opponent's cheek, while about the same time Andy got in a rib pounder that opened his opponent's wind bag in beautiful style and made him grunt like a sick steer. The audience, which, as we have hinted, was composed of the bon ton and cultured element of society, it is said enjoyed the spectacle very much. It was none of your every day rough and tumble snide shows. It was one in which members of our religious denominations participated and gave to it an air of respectability. As one of the unregenerate lower orders who was not present, we would modestly suggest that the spectacle was not exactly an edifying one, and we even dare to assert, notwithstanding the select character of the audience, that it was a disgrace to participators and spectators alike.

Is tainted by catarrh it is an evidence that the disease has progressed to the throat, perhaps to the larynx, and the bronchial tubes. These are only stations on the road to the lungs.
