SELF FEEDERS FOR HOGS .....

The practice of self-feeding farm animals is coming into more general use. Under this system a continuous supply of feeds is kept before the animals, enabling them to eat when they want and in whatever quantity they desire, thus giving the smaller, weaker pigs a better chance. It eliminates the competition and fighting that takes place at the trough..

The advantages claimed for the self feeder are that it saves labor and ensures satisfactory gains being made with the least waste of feed with both growing pigs and old sows which are being fattened. It is not so well adapted for feeding brood sows or any kind of breeding stock that should be kept on less than a full ration.

Experimental results indicate that the self feeder, when properly constructed, and when used in connection with a properly balanced grain ration will not only save labor, but will give greater gains and produce the gains with a grain requirement which is not out of line with that required by hand feeding. Based on a seven year average of results comparing self feeding with hand feeding, it has taken 8 percent more grain to produce 100 pounds increase in live weight when the self feeder was used than when hand feeding was practised. On the other hand, self fed pigs made 19 percent higher daily gains than those hand fed, proving conclusively the possibility of preparing hogs for market at a much earlier date when a self feeder is used. Self fed hogs also invariably showed more uniformity of size and more even fleshing than those hand fed and on the average conformed as closely to bacon standards as did the hand fed hogs. A well bred bacon type hog, fed a well balanced ration, will grade well on the rail in packing plant even though it may have been fed from a self feeder.

Fre detailed plans and specifications for the construction of a self feeder are available from Dominion Department of Agriculture, Otttawa.

Stranger: "What's that whistle blowing for?"

Native: "There's a fire."

Stranger: "But why do they blow the whistle for the fire?"

Native: "They don't blow it for the fire. They blow it for the water, They've already got the fire. See?"

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the town tank is to be taken back to the mill each night when used, and a charge of 25c is made for each tank of water, permission for the use of the tank to be secured from the undersigned. This tank is for village fire protection and must be kept in its place.

In Memoriam

BLAKELY — In every loving memory of our dear mother, Hannah Margaret (Lever) Blakely, who died May 31st, 1926, and her beloved husband and our dear father, Thos. A. Blakely, who was united with her February 10th, 1937.

"God grant eternal rest."

—The Family.

In Memoriam

McKEE — In loving memory of my dear mother, Selena Jane McKee, who died June 1st, 1942.

What would I give her hand to clasp
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile
As in the days that used to be;
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil of strife,
And clasp each other other's hand once more
In Heaven, that happy life.

—Always remembered by your Daughter, Elsie.

In Memoriam

HAZARD — In loving memory of Mrs. Albert Hazard, who passed away April 27th, 1920.

At early dawn when all was still
God gave his great command,
You passed away in silent peace
Into a better land.
I miss you at a thousand turns
Along life's weary way,
And home has never been the same
Since you were called away.

—Sadly missed by daughter, Dora. Mrs. Albert McWhinney Windsor.

In Memoriam

WHITE — In loving memory of Marjorie, who passed away May 29, 1944.

God knew that she was suffering,
The hills were hard to climb,
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered 'Peace be thine.'
Away in the beautiful hills of God
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, we know not when,
We'll meet our loved one there.

—Ever remembered by Dad, Mother and Sisters.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of my dear father and brother, Ralph, who died 48 and 42 years ago today, May 26th.

Just as the sun was rising
To the dawn of another day,
Dear Brother bade this world goodbye
And gently passed away.

Just as the sun was setting
In the bright and golden West,
Dear father bade this world goodbye
And entered into rest.

The years have come and gone
And brought their sorrow and pain,
But we are only waiting, waiting,
To be reunited again.

—Mrs. M. Gilbert.
