Wodehouse Items.

From our own Correspondent.

The village has the busy hum of business in it. Wiley's saw mill is being run 18 hours per day. They have an extra supply of logs to cut this year,

Mr. W. Best has stopped cutting shingles for a few weeks. He has already got an order for 125 thousand shingles.

Ploughing was started here last week, but is almost given up again on account of frost

Mr. Jas. Woods has the contract of building the Methodist church at $1,700. The design is something new and promises to be the finest church in this country. Excavation for basement will be commenced at once.

Mr. Will R. Ellis went last week to Ladners Landing, B. C., to his brother John.

Billy Procter ought to have good wages or the promise of them. He is busily engaged pulling up logs, canting and floating the slabs down the creek to W. Best for stove wood.

Last week while Billy Connor was edging shingles he tried to pull out a pieces of bark which was stuck in the way. He immediately was minus of two finger nails. Fortunately the knife did not go deep, only making a clean job of the nails.

Sugar making has begun. Maple sugar is worth this year about $1000 a foot front, 10 feet back.

A very sad accident occurred on Tuesday morning at Prentice and Jordan's mill. One of the men, James McDonald, was working near a shinge saw, and while his back was towards the saw, proceeded to pull off the bark of a shingle block, when his left arm was thrown in contact with the saw, and in an instant the elbow joint was severed, leaving the arm hanging by only a little of the flesh on the inner side. He was immediately taken to his home, and Dr. McWilliam summoned. There being no hope of saving the arm, it was amputated just above the elbow joint, Dr. McWilliam performing the operation, assisted by Dr. Greenlaw. Mr. McDonald is a hard working man, in humble circumstances, and great sympathy is felt for him in his trouble. The injured man came from Grand Valley, and it was his first day's work in the mill. In the evening Messrs. Morgan and McDevitt started on a collecting tour around the town in aid of the injured man. In about two hours they gathered $36.50. Trust the people of our town for kindness in a case of real need. The act of Messrs. Morgan and McDevitt was indeed timely as well as benevolent.—[Dundalk Herald.
