Canada's Only Naval Battle

For one hundred years Canada has been at peace, broken only by the famous Borden-Laurier naval battle at Ottawa in the winter of 1912-13. The battle raged for five months, hostilities even continuing throughout entire nights. It was probably the only example in history of a great naval battle being fought on land, where all the combatants were allowed to sit in cushioned easy chairs and were within easy reach of refreshments, liquid and otherwise. The great naval battle of 1912-13 was also remarkable in another respect, namely, in that there were no fatalities. This was largely due to the fact that the only ammunition used in the historic battle was wind, which was hurled in large quantities by each of the opposing factions. As a sham fight it was a huge success and both gallant armies who fought Canada's great naval battle on land retired from the field feeling that they had won the victory. Many of us were inclined to complain when the battle was in progress that it was a waste of time and that there was other work that needed attention. But perhaps after all, we are more fortunate than we thought, and if in the next hundred years no greater calamity befalls this country than The-Borden-Laurier-naval-battle fought-on-land-at-Ottawa-during-the-winter-of-1912-13, we may count ourselves fortunate. But nevertheless it was a great performance that the 221 soldiers in the House of Commons put up as they blazed away at each other week after week and the lofty chamber echoed to the windy broadsides hurled across the intervening space. And history will record how these valiant soldier-sailor-Jack-Tars remained under arms through long weary hours and how they bivouacked all night round the electric lights of the battle field in that bloodless struggle. —Grain Growers Guide.

Continuity in Advertising

The advertiser who expects to build a successful business out of occasional advertising deceives himself.

To be effective you must advertise constantly, Mr. Manufacturer or Mr. Retailer.

A bank recently decided to do some advertising. Half a dozen advertisements were written and placed. The result was insignificant and the advertising was stopped.

Another bank watched the experiment. Then it started to advertise.

But it didn't stop when six advertisements had been printed.

It kept right on.

When a dozen advertisements had found their way into type, business began suddenly to take an upward trend.

Each day more and more new faces were seen within the bank building.

Don't Sow Winter Wheat Like A Blind Man

OPEN your eyes to the fact that there is a better way to grow winter wheat. This way is one which, by actual scientific field tests made throughout Canada, has proven that it will produce the largest amount of the best wheat to the acre.

The splendid results achieved through this method depend mostly upon the start you make. The vitally important part of the work is done at seeding time, so start NOW to learn all about this method. Our Scientific Bureau will tell you about it, free.

Progressive farmers will apply at seeding time a fertilizer containing 2% Nitrogen, 8% Phosphoric Acid and 8% POTASH—better still a 2-8-10. Such a fertilizer insures a good stand before the commencement of winter—gives the crop a greater degree of protection from the frosts—promotes a rapid and early growth in the spring, and produces a bountiful crop of high grade wheat.

But perhaps your dealer cannot furnish you with a 10% POTASH fertilizer. If he cannot, don't take a substitute, because a substitute low grade fertilizer will NOT produce the results you want. The thing to do is to get more POTASH and add to the fertilizer your dealer can give you to increase it to a 10% POTASH fertilizer. We will tell you, free, just how to do this. It is simple, easy, and pays for itself many times over.

Or you can mix your fertilizer at home, if you wish. Our Scientific Bureau will tell you all about it.

Decide now to raise the biggest and best-paying wheat crop you ever had. Why not write NOW? We can help you! Simply use the coupon attached.
