NOTICE TO TRUCK PATRONS

The local livestock trucking operators desire to have the farmers inform them early in the week of stock to be shipped that week, so that better arrangements may be made in filling their loads for the market.

CREAM

On account of the shortage of food generally, a higher production of dairy products is very essential. Therefore, during the summer months when grass becomes short from lack of rain, or the cows slack down in production because of being disturbed by flies, it is advisable to feed the milk cows a bit extra grain.

POULTRY

The poultry market is now exceptionally keen, particularly for young chickens. We advise you to market your chickens now. You thereby save feed and relieve the extremely heavy flow of poultry in the fall.

For your convenience we are open Wednesday and Saturday evenings until 10 o'clock.

Norman Genoe, the great local pitcher who has been flinging them for about as long as most people can remember, is still able to do a good job on the mound.
