MUSINGS OF A COUNTRY MERCHANT

"Yes," remarked a country merchant, "I certainly have a snap—Wholesale houses send duns every month and draw on me at sight, but if I send a bill to a farmer he becomes swearing mad and quits trading at my store. While I am hard up for money, many of those who are owing me are sending money in advance to mail-order houses. If I contribute money for any cause, people say I am bidding for trade; if I don't they say I am a hog. Every day I am expected to dig up for something that comes along, from a raffle ticket to a church fund, by people who, I claim, ought to do part of their trading here, but our friends, Robert Simpson and T. Eaton, neither buy tickets or help church funds and yet get cash-in-advance business. If I sell a pair of pants, I must treat the family with candy and cigars; If I buy a load of potatoes, I must do the same. Customers who are able to pay, hang on to their money, while I pay 10 per cent at the bank to get ready cash. I have a big business during hard times and poor crops from those who are willing to trade with me, provided that I can duplicate catalogue houses prices and wait until harvest for money. My scales weigh too much when I sell sugar, and too little when I buy butter. I am a thief, a liar and a grafter. If I smile, I am a soft-soapy hyprocrite and, if I don't I am a grump. Yes, certainly this is a snap." And he looked over $10,000 worth of accounts all good, and wonders how he could raise $350 to pay a sight draft due to-morrow.—Exchange.

On Thursday of last week Arthur Brookes, of Durham, was sentenced to seven months in the Central Prison, Toronto, being implicated in a highway hold up at that place some time ago. The sentence was meted out by Judge Sutherland. Last August during the course of an evening Albert James Lewis of Durham was held up at the muzzle of a revolver and had his watch and all the money he had taken from him. Brookes and another named McLean were arrested as being the principals in the hold-up. The trial of McLean will come up before a jury at the fall assizes.—Times.

Mr. Wm. Nolls left Owen Sound on Thursday last for Burks Falls on a motorcycle. He stopped at Orillia Thursday night and on Friday he started for Burks Falls. Once, while going at a lively clip, he struck a pile of sand and was hurled down a steep embankment and had it not been that the motorcycle caught on the railing of the bridge he might have been fatally injured. He had to drag the 300 lb. machince up several sand-hills and a second time it ran into sand, Wm. does not know whether he turned two or three somersaults, but when he struck the ground twenty feet in front of the motorcycle he was on his back facing the machine. Arriving at Bracebridge, he decided to run no further risks on known roads, and boarded the north-bound passenger train for Burks Falls where he arrived at 8 p.m. with his motorcycle safely tucked in the baggage car. He made the trip from Owen Sound via Meaford, Thornbury and Collingwood and how he came through it unscathed is a mystery to us. Wm. is not easily scared that's certain.—Burks Falls Arrow.

Margaret Scanlon, the 13-year-old orphan whose estate is worth $13,000, told Judge Chadwick that she preferred to live with her uncle, James Scanlon, of Arthur, Ont., and she is placed in his custody. James Coffee, another uncle, also applied for custody of the child. The little girl was picked up in the streets of Arthur village last summer and taken to the Loretto Academy, at Guelph.

Probably the most unique farm in the world is located in Missouri, seventy-five feet underground, near the city of Springfield. True, there are small caves in France devoted to the growth of mush rooms, but the Missouri cavern produces not only mushrooms, but rhubarb and celery in quantities, to say nothing of frogs in season. It is owned and farmed by Robert Smith, who finds his labors highly profitable. Throughout the year the cavern, through which flows a gentle stream, maintains a temperature of sixty degrees. It is devoid of undue dampness and is freshened with a steady current of air. Twelve years ago Smith, then a resident of St Louis, went farm-hunting and finally selected the property which he has since made one of the exceptional places in the world. It was necessary to carry great quantities of rich earth into the cavern after the owner decided to go in for mushrooms. This venture proving successful, he experimented with rhubarb, and then found the underground farm an excellent place in which to bleach celery. Both rhubarb and celery are transplanted after obtaining a good start outside. The frogs are caught in a netted pond at the mouth of the cave.

A rather peculiar accident befell the nine-year-old son of Mrs. F. Peake of Owen Sound. He was playing at school and fell on a block, his throat striking the corner of the piece of wood. Though not apparently seriously hurt the boy began to strangle and was taken to the the hospital where on examination, it was found that the larynx had been crushed in and that he had lost the power of articulation and was also being smothered. Dr. Gaviller made an incision in the throat below the larynx and inserted a silver tube through which the injured boy breathes quite freely He has not recovered the power of speech and it is considered doubtful if he will ever regain it.

Do big cities grow big men? The Christian Guardian recently made investigation as to the birthplace of the members of President Wilson's cabinet, and the results of their analysis is all in favor of the country. With one exception the president's advisers all began life in the country or small town. In the Dominion cabinet, out of 18 members, all but one were born in the rural sections or in small towns. Of the present provincial premiers in Canada not one was city born. It would seem that a childhood spent next to Nature inculcates more of the attributes that lead to greatness than do childhood days spent in the rush and roar of the city.

Two thousand dollars worth of pork was slaughtered and burned on the farm of Mr. John White near Cromarty, on Monday of last week. Mr. White purchased a car of hogs some time ago, some of which were infected with hog cholera until some 300 in all had to be destroyed to stamp out the disease.

In the evergreen isle the pig is rated as a gentleman, and has the run of the house, because he pays the rent. In Toronto with eggs at 40 cents a dozen, and in Guelph with bacon at 26 cents per pound, the hen and the pig are entitled to the best room in the house, and the use of the piano as well.—Guelph Mercury.

Orangeville cement company recently held a stormy meeting. The concern has not been paying and the shareholders want to know the reason why.

A scrap took place last Friday night between Wm. Wiggins and W. J. Hewitt. It was ventilated before Magistrate Telford Saturday morning, when Wiggins pleaded guilty. As he was the instigator of the fracas he was taxed $5 and costs for his little diversion.—Chronicle.

H. S. Commencement

The entertainment in the auditorium of the high school on Friday evening last was well attended, notwithstanding the dark, disagreeable night, and over $25 was added to the high school funds.

Principal White occupied the chair and called on Principal Holland of the public school to present the certificates to successful pupils of the junior form. This Mr. Holland did, prefaced by a graceful speech of eulogy to pupils, parents and teachers. He was followed by Rev. Mr. McVicar, who presented the certificates to successful pupils in the higher form. The presentations in this case were also preceded by a neat little speech, winding up his remarks by the very appropriate lines—

A place in the ranks awaits you;
Each man has a part to play;
The past and the future are nothing
In the face of the stern to-day.

The record for the school was: Of 23 who wrote in Form II. 18 passed, three taking honors; of 11 who wrote in Form III. all passed, three taking honors. Three wrote on Matriculation and all passed. Of all the pupils who wrote in the school there were only five failures.

After the presentations an excellent program was rendered by the pupils—A piano duet by Maud Boyd and Valeria Stafford, a violin solo and encore by Miss Hulse, which was worth the price of admission; a chorus by several girls, "So long, Mary," a very funny burlesque; A chorus by the boys, "Reminiscences," also very amusing; a reading by Miss Elda Karstedt, and an amusing farce to wind up with, called 'Wooing under difficulties."

The school has purchased a handsome new flag which will be floated to the breeze some of these days.

ROMANCE OF PICTURE.

Alex. Crawford of Toronto Finds a Precious Heirloom.

A short notice in a Toronto magazine a few weeks ago in regard to the "Line of Mar" led to a search in an old sea chest belonging to a gentleman in the north end of that city, and the finding of a letter of January 1, 1870, from the successful possessor of the ancient title of the premier Earl of Scotland, thanking the father of the Toronto citizen for a complete list of the Mar pictures and family relics, and the impression of old Mar seals. Further search resulted in finding the list referred to, giving the names of the different members of the Mar family, whose features and figures had been emblazoned on canvas, in oil, by some of the celebrated artists of the time, such as Rigaud, Lely, Kneller, Raeburn, Jameson and Allan.

On looking at the wall of his little room in the city the gentleman referred to found hanging there a painting representing three children, which he had heard his father say over sixty years ago was by Sir Peter Lely, court painter in the reign of Charles I. and Charles II., being the picture of three children of the Mar family. If such was the case, how could such a claim be proved? The present Earl of Mar and Garioch had a bitter fight before the House of Lords, but succeeded (he being the nephew of the Earl of Mar who had fought at the battle of Waterloo), the unsuccessful claimant being given a new creation by Queen Victoria.

The owner thought it would be as hard a fight to prove the painter of the picture; but by a close examination of the oil painting his fears were dispelled, and, in place of a portrait group by Sir Peter Lely, he found himself to be the fortunate possessor of a beautiful work by Sir Godfrey Kneller, who succeeded to the title of court painter on the death of Sir Peter Lely in 1680. In 1692 William III. knighted Kneller, and in 1715 George I. made him a baronet. His best known productions are "The Beauties of Hampton Court," painted by order of William III., and his portraits of nine sovereigns, Charles II. to George I. of England, Louis XIV Peter the Great and the Emperor Charles VI. A monument was erected to Kneller in Westminster Abbey, with a highly laudatory inscription by Pope.

Amidst a lot of old paper Mr. Alex. Crawford — for he is the fortunate owner—found a contract of 1697, betwixt Anne Noble and Potent Earl, John Earl of Mar and Thomas Bauchop, for the building of an arch to Tullibody Bridge.

The recent history of the Mar family would be interesting even to Canadians, seeing that on the death of John Francis Erskine, Earl of Mar and Kelly (whose countess was a Monteith), a claim to the earldom was advanced by a gentleman of the name of Erskine, residing near Carleton Place, claiming to be a son of the earl who died about 1866 (the countess having died some years before this claim was made). Erskine alleged he had been taken from Scotland when a baby; nothing came of this. The premier Earl of Mar was married in 1866 to Miss Alice Hamilton of Hilston Park, near Monmouth. They have an only child, a son, Lord Garioch.

Adulterat d Lime Juice.

Chief Analyst A. McGill, of Ottawa, has been collecting samples of lime fruit juice on a large scale in Toronto for the purpose of analysis, and prosecution will follow where the gross adulteration justifies it.

Lime fruit juice is the fresh fruit juice obtained from the lime fruit, and has specific gravity of 1.030 and not greater than 1.040, and containing not less than ten per cent. of solids and not less than seven per cent. of free citric acid.

Only five samples out of the thirty collected recently fully meet the requirements of the law. Over 30 per cent. of the samples give unmistakable evidence of being adulterated with water. It is the purpose of the department to prosecute largely on the collection of samples now being taken, as warning has been given in the last bulletin sent out. Many samples taken in Toronto, some of them labelled "pure," have been found adulterated. Offenders, who are guilty in this respect, may be more harshly dealt with on conviction for manufacturing adulterated lime fruit juice.

Reindeer Have Escaped.

The efforts of the Interior Department to propagate the raising of reindeer in the Peace River country have not been attended by much success. The animals have stampeded and taken to the tall timbers.

Fifty were brought from Labrador the suggestion originating with Dr. Grenfell. It was thought they would be of utility for transportation and domestic purposes. A report just received states that twelve died en route and twenty-six broke away from the corral last year and eight this year. Only four remain.

Efforts are being made to catch some of the deserters and place them on an island.

Money For Harbor Works.

Thirty-five million dollars worth of harbor improvements at the different ports of Canada are now underway, and the 1914 estimates in course of preparation by the Dominion Public Works Department provide mainly for these undertakings. Mr. M. P. Davis recently signed the contract for the Quebec Dry Dock. The cost is $2,721,116.

Stamps Bought $6,749,690.

The postage stamp revenue of Canada for the first six months of the fiscal year was $6,749,690, an increase of $501,164 over the same six months last year, and $4,112,000 greater than the half year ten years ago. The September receipts increased by $128,105 to a total of $1,153,535.
