A DESIRABLE INNOVATION.

Butter-Makers Should Distinguish Between Different Churnings.

A despatch from Montreal says: Although reformed methods of butter-making, shipping, handling and selling have been considerably discussed during recent years, it seems that there is still room for material improvement in certain directions. Members of the Montreal Produce Merchants' Association have been drawing attention of late to a desirable innovation which they consider should be introduced into the butter factories. The suggestion is that the butter-makers should distinguish between the different churnings, by marking the boxes with the number of the churning and the date. This they claim would greatly facilitate the examination and grading of the butter, and would enable the trade to distinguish accurately, instead of approximately, just what the quality of the butter is.

INCREASED COST OF LIVING.

One Illustration Why It Is the Case.

A despatch from Brantford says: A well-known local insurance agent who has just returned from a trip through the surrounding country observed in his travels an incident which illustrated one reason for the increased cost of living. It was that of a farmer who had purchased two shoats or young pigs for the purpose of fattening them. They cost him $12 when he bought them, and cost, when ready for market, $25, and he expected to sell them for $50.

STOLE FROM THE BANK.

Accountant Sentenced to Two Years in Penitentiary.

A despatch from St. John, N.B., says: William MacIntyre, former accountant of the Bank of Nova Scotia here, pleaded guilty before Judge Forbes in the County Court on Thursday to stealing $10,000 of the bank's funds. He was sentenced to two years in Dorchester Penitentiary at hard labor, but the Judge said he would willingly recommend to the Department of Justice that MacIntyre be released on parole. It is understood a petition will be sent to the Minister of Justice along these lines and that the bank authorities are ready to join in the petition. MacIntyre was arrested in Toronto.

FEDERAL REVENUE GROWS

It Is Likely to Meet Capital and Special as Well as Current Expenditures

A despatch from Ottawa says: Revenue figures for the first seven months of the current fiscal year show that the receipts have been $96,191,614, or some five millions more than in the corresponding period last year. The excise and post-office revenues show an increase of a million, while the Customs figures are about the same as last year. The takings in the Railways and Canals Department lead those of last year by $1,300,000, while the miscellaneous revenues, derived from sales of land, etc., show heavy advances.

Hon. W. T. White's forecast in his Budget speech seems in a fair way of being realized. After pointing out that the revenue for 1912-13 stood at the extraordinary figure of $168,250,000, and observing that "it is too much to expect that this abnormal rate of increase will be maintained during the present year," he went on to say: "I feel confident that the revenues of the year will not only prove adequate to meet the current expenditure, but to met possibly the whole, and certainly the greater, portion of capital and special expenditure for the year." This, he explained, cannot often occur, but may be achieved in exceptional years. It now appears likely that this forecast will be fulfilled completely and that the year's revenues will suffice for th econsolidated and capital expenditure.

GREAT SHIPBUILDING FIRM.

Armstrong-Whitworth Will Start a Canadian Plant.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The great British shipbuilding, contracting and steel manufacturing firm of Armstrong, Whitworth & Company evidently intends to start a Canadian plant. The company is empowered to carry on a general shipbuilding and iron and steel manufacturing business, to build locomotives, automobiles, drydocks, terminals, etc. If it is eventually decided to build war vessels in Canada the company will be on the ground and ready to tender.

ESCAPED FROM PRISON FARM.

Prisoners Get Three Months Extra On Their Terms.

A despatch from Guelph says: A. H. Schoefer of Berlin and Philip Monohan of Brockville, the two prisoners who made their escape from the Provincial Prison Farm a few days ago, but who were subsequently recaptured near Berlin and brought back here, were before Magistrate Watt at the Police Court on Friday. Both men pleaded guilty. They were given some sound advice as to their behavior in the future, and, besides being compelled to finish out their sentences of eleven and nine months, respectively, each was given three months extra, with an indeterminate sentence of two years.

ALARMING NEWS.

Thousands of Barrels of Fish Lying Rotting at Gaspe.

A despatch from Quebec says: Captain Samuel Cote of the schooner Mary Ann, who has arrived here from Gaspe, gives out alarming news about the herring fishing this year. He says that a disease has broken out in the herring family that must in time spread to other fish. The disease rots the entrails of the herring, and the captain says there are thousands of barrels of this year's catch lying rotting on the Gaspe beach and also on the north shore.

WORKS ALL DAY

And Studies at Night on Grape-Nuts Food.

Some of the world's great men have worked during the day and studied evenings to fit themselves for greater things. But it requires a good constitution generally to do this.

A man was able to keep it up with ease after he had learned the sustaining power of Grape-Nuts, although he had failed in health before he changed his food supply. He says:

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of stomach trouble which left me unable to eat anything but bread and water.

"The nervous strain at my office from 6 A. M. to 6 P. M. and improper foods caused my health to fail rapidly. Cereal and so-called "Foods" were tried without benefit until I saw Grape-Nuts mentioned in the paper.

"In hopeless desperation I tried this food and at once gained strength, flesh and appetite. I am now able to work all day at the office and study at night, without the nervous exhaustion that was usual before I tried Grape-Nuts.

"It leaves me strengthened, refreshed, satisfied; nerves quieted and toned up, body and brain waste restored. I would have been a living skeleton, or more likely a dead one by this time, if it had not been for Grape-Nuts."

MINERAL OUTPUT FOR 1912

The Total Value Was $135,048,296, or An Increase of Thirty Per Cent.

A despatch from Ottawa says: That Canada last year saw her best period of mineral production on record is indicated by a general summary of the mineral production of Canada for 1912, just issued by the Mines Branch of the Department of Mines. The total value of last year's output was $135,048,296, $31,827,302 more than during the previous year, or an increase of over thirty per cent. As Canada's growth and progress in industrial development are more or less reflected in the statistical record of her mineral production, this is a gratifying record. Since 1886 this production has risen from $2.23 to about $19 per capita.

Ontario heads the list, with a production of $51,485,000; British Columbia comes second, with $30,000,000, and Nova Scotia third with $18,922,000. A substantial increase in the price of most metals was a feature of the year, as was the extended development of ore reserves, pointing to much greater outputs in the future. Coal has been the most important product in point of value, with a total production of $36,019,044, silver coming next in importance, and nickel, copper and gold following. With the exception of petroleum, every important mineral mined in Canada shows an increased production in 1912.
