SPOTS OF SPORTS

By FRANK MANN HARRIS
("A Sixbit Critic")

The gentlemen who watch the morning works down at lovely Woodbine report to us that it has been quite chilly there in the early yawning; and one of them claims that a certain bay gelding, when roused from his well-blanketed slumbers around 6.30 in the A.M., was heard to remark to a chestnut in the next stall, "What fools these mortal sbe." However, we have our doubts about the veracity of this report. Any sensible gelding would have used much stronger language than that.

* * *

As one who has paid—and in full — for his present utter lack of knowledge regarding the Thoroughbreds, w are frequently asked about the best system of beating them. Our advice is as old as the hills—you've heard it so often that you're tired of it—but it's still good. "You May—that "may" should be in capitals—beat a race; but you CAN'T beat the races." In other words, the folks who go to a track and bet seven races on a seven-race card are simply committing quick suicide.

* * *

A paragraph or so back we spoke of those who watch the early morning workouts, stop-watch in hand, on various tracks. They prefer to be called "work-watchers" rather than "clockers" and to us they are a whole lot more interesting than the horses they pay such great atention to. How they can recognize any Thoroughbred they ever saw — sometimes a long distance away — is really astonishing.

* * *

We recall one afternoon, some years ago, when a real veteran of the work-watching brigade came into a Sports Department we happened to be connected with. He made the casual remark that he could identify any horse he had ever seen. One of his listeners rather doubted this statemnt and a test was made. From a drawer of Thoroughbred horse pictures some twenty were selected, more or less at random. The names of the horses were on the back of the pictures—and there were no jockeys aboard to help in the identification.

* * *

Almost as rapidly as a man dealing a bridge hand the work-watcher flipped the pictures onto a table. Without a mistake he named eighteen of the twenty. One he said he wasn't sure about—but it looks like a — —" naming the colt's sire. The twentieth stopped him. "I don't believe I've ever seen that one," he confessed. "If I have, he's slipped my memory — I guess I'm getting old."

* * *

Turning over the picture, we saw that it was of a horse that had never raced in these parts. The photograph, through carelessness on the part of a filing clerk, had got into the wrong drawer. Our friend, the work-watcher, was justified one hundred per cent. He knew horses—knows horses—has been around them all his life. His knowledge is so great that, right now, he's counting the months till he's eligible for his old-age pension.

Black Gold Sought From Sea Bottom

Black gold—oil pumped from beneath the Atlantic floor—may yield more wealth than the million-dollar harvests once taken from sea beds by vanishing Bahamian sponge fleets.

In the shallow waters of the great Bahama Bank—known to natives as "the mud"—six thousand fishermen in 600 schooners and sloops used to hunt valuable sponges that for a century made this British Colony a world centre for the sponge trade.

New, seven major oil companies, including a local subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, are exploring the sea bottom in search of oil-bearing formations. All are operatng under concessions from the Bahamian Government.

By use of radar and gravity meters aboard small vessels the companies are studying underlying rock formations, and wells will be drilled if reports are favorable.

The islands lie on the edge of the continental shelf, largely surrounded by water no more than twenty feet deep, which plunges abruptly in places to depths of three miles or more.

It is estimated that 15,000,000 Americans get their living from the cotton industry.

WHY BE ENVIOUS of other peoples' coffee when you can serve Maxwell House? It's the world's leading brand and it contains choice Latin-American coffees for extra flavor.
