RHEUMATISM DURING MARCH

Victims Can Cure Themselves With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

During the month of March people who are afflicted with rheumatism begin to have unpleasant reminders of their trouble. The weather is changeable—balmy and springlike one day, cold, raw and piercing the next. It is such sudden changes of weather that start the pangs and tortures of rheumatism, lumbago and sciatica going. But it must be borne in mind that although weather conditions start the pains, the trouble is rooted in the blood, and can only be cured through the blood. All the liniments and lotions in the world can't cure rheumatism. Rubbing may seem to ease the pain while you are rubbing, but there its value ends. Only by treating the disease through the blood can you cure rheumatism. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured so many thousands of cases of this trouble. The new, rich blood these pills actually make drives out the poisonous acid and rheumatism, lumbago and kindred troubles are banished. Among the many sufferers from rheumatism cured by this medicine is Mr. R. J. Sinclair, of Gosen, N.S., who says: "About two years ago I was laid up with rheumatism. For two months I could not walk and had to stay in an invalid's chair. My feet were badly swollen and my arms seemed to be paralyzed. I had been using doctor's medicine for a long time, but it did not seem to help me, and the doctor finally told me that the only thing that would cure me would be a change of climate. At this time I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and got a supply. After I had taken them for a while I found they were helping me, and I got a further supply, and they completely cured me, and I have not been sick one day since. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for this trouble."

If you suffer from rheumatism, or any other disease of the blood or nerves, begin to cure yourself today with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which under a fair trial will do for you what they have done for thousands of others. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RELIEVED HIS MIND.

Questioner Much Concerned About a Few Million Years.

An eminent English man of science recently delivered a lecture during which an amusing incident occurred. In the course of his remarks he said something to this effect: "It is a well-established fact that the sun is gradually losing its heat, and that in the course of seventy million years its heating power will be so diminished that all beneficent effects will be lost, and no life can exist on the earth."

As soon as this sentence was uttered, a sturdy Briton in the rear of the hall rose and signified his desire to ask a question. "Pardon me," he said, "but how long did you say it would be before this terrible calamity would occur?"

"Why, about seventy million years," repeated the scientist, with a smile.

The questioner fell back into his seat with a deep sigh of relief. "Thank heavens!" he muttered. "I thought I understood him to say seven million."

GREY IS A STAY-AT-HOME.

The announcement that Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, will accompany the King and Queen on their forthcoming visit to Paris recalls the oft-stated fact that Sir Edward has never set foot on foreign soil. It has been said that he visited Madrid in 1908 and Berlin last year. It is announced now that neither of these visits was made. A few years ago Sir Edward said in a speech:

Sir Edward Grey.

"For twenty-eight years my life has been a continual struggle to live at home."

It is generally reported that Sir Edward speaks no German and very bad French. Mr. Venizelos, the Greek Premier, said some time ago that he had the greatest difficulty in understanding Sir Edward Grey's French.

"Oh, no sorr," said Mike; "he went around th' back of th' house, sorr, an' died by th' yard."

BABY'S OWN TABLETS BANISH CASTOR OIL

Once a mother uses Baby's Own Tablets she will never again use Castor oil, that barbarous purgative which all children loath. The Tablets are a gentle laxative; pleasant to take and are absolutely the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Hector Blanchette, Rouville, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets in place of castor oil and am well satisfied with them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CANALS AND AUTOS.

England's Waterways May Yet Be Converted Into Highways.

Few things can more strikingly illustrate the changes brought about by the progress of recent years than the proposition to convert the vast number of canals in England into trunk motor highways for the exclusive use of auto traffic. The suggestion is made by no less practical a personage than Danson Cunningham, one of the most prominent members of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce and the Mersey Docks and Harbor Board. It is much less than a century since England was especially proud of her system of canals ,connecting all important points of the country and supplying the then cheapest known form of transportation. They are still used to some extent, but the railways have taken away the larger part of their business, and it is now found, by experiment and in actual practice by large business houses of all classes that goods can be moved more cheaply by motor trucks than by rail for limited distances, because the cost of switching and loading and unloading on freight cars is saved, while deliveries are made with greater promptness and breakage is reached in proportion to the lessened number of times the goods are handled.

It is thought that the proposition to convert the canals into roadways for motor traffic will meet with opposition, since the English are not yet ready to abandon their canals altogether, and that the result of the agitation of the subject will be the building of special motor roads connecting all the great manufacturing centres of the northern part of the kingdom with one another and with the principal seaports.

NEWLY DESIGNED BIPLANE.

Manchester Inventor Has Machine Which Should Break Records.

A cable from London says: A highly ingenious device, which undoubtedly will prevent many future accidents is about to be embodied in a new British aeroplane now nearing completion.

A difficult problem, which has alway confronted aeroplane designers and has become more urgent than ever with the great increase in speed, has been that of enabling machines to land at a reasonably slow speed, and yet fly as fast as possible. The necessity of this provision may be gauged from the fact that the modern aeroplane, with its full load, weighs the better part of a ton, and that the usual flying speeds range from 60 to 80 miles an hour.

A. V. Roe, the Manchester designer, has adopted the expedient of providing his latest biplane, a very small machine, with "Swept-back" wings, and is expected to beat all existing records with what are termed "air brakes."

ROYAL NICKNAMES.

Princess Royal Used to Be Called "Her Royal Shyness."

The Royal Family are no more above nicknames than other people. The Prince of Wales has always been known in the family as "Davie,'" because when he was called "Eddie" it reminded Queen Alexandra of her lost son. The Princess Royal used to be called "Her Royal Shyness," from the agony of nervousness she went through if strangers were present; and Princess Alexander of Teck is often affectionately called "The Useful and Ornamental." It is also whispered that certain Royalties, a very beautiful daughter with a very plain mother, have been nicknamed by a mischievous young princess "The Daydream and the Nightmare."

No person reading this need ever again suffer long from Neuralgia.

Nerviline will quickly cure the worst Neuralgia, and Mrs. G. Evans, in her strong letter written from Russel post office, says:—"One long year, the longest of my life, was almost entirely given up to treating dreadful attacks of Neuralgia. At last I put my faith in Nerviline; I read of the wonderful pain-subduing power it possessed and made up my mind to prove it valuable or useless. Nerviline at once eased the pain and cured the headache. Continuous treatment with this magic-working remedy cured me entirely, and I have ever since stayed well."

RECLAIMING WASTE LAND.

Farms Are Built Out of River Silt In a Part of England.

A curious method of reclaiming waste land for agricultural purposes prevails in a limited district of England along the Trent, Ouse, Don and other rivers that flow into the great estuary of the Humber in northern Lincolnshire and south-east Yorkshire.

The water of the tides that come up these rivers is exceedingly muddy. In summer a cylindrical glass filled with this water to a depth of twelve or fifteen inches will presently deposit an inch or more of mud, known locally as "warp." No one knows where the warp comes from; for, to quote an English description of this locality, "The Humber at its mouth is clear water, and no floods in the countries washed by these rivers bring in the warp, but on the contrary they do much mischief by spoiling it. In the very driest seasons and longest droughts it is best and most plentiful."

Originally, the tide water used to overflow the river banks, and spread a deposit of mud over the surrounding country. When the rivers were banked in, strips from a quarter to half a mile wide on either side became fertile tracts of land, and were greatly esteemed, as they were well drained and produced good crops in all seasons. Behind these tracts, however, there are extensive tracts of lower lands that were waterlogged, since they were below the level of the river.

The system of "warping," or building up these waste lands into fertile farms by the use of the river silt, dates back to about 1730. A piece of land is first inclosed with a bank, and connected with the river by means of a "warping channel," provided with sluice gates. Twice a day during the high tides of the summer months the richly charged tide water is let in, allowed to deposit its load of silt on the land, and flow out again at ebb. As each flooding may result in the deposit of an eighth of an inch of soil, in two or three years the surface is raised as many feet. They flood the land no longer, but they sow it to white clover, and drain it by means of ditches that discharge into the warping channel, which now serves as the main drain. Later, the land is cut up into farms of one hundred and fifty to two hundred acres. Wheat and potatoes are the principal crops of warp farms.
