Burglaries are reported in many parts of the province. Detective Greer is of the opinion that at least four gangs of professionals have started out on their regular autumn tour of the province. The burglaries have taken place in different localities in almost every case and in such quick succession as to lead to the belief that they were prepetrated by different associations of cracksmen banded together in Toronto.

A large pair of horns, supposed to have belonged to an elk, are at present attracting considerable public attention. They are in the office of Dr. Mitchell and were found about two feet below the surface of his fishing preserve. They were turned up by the workmen as they were preparing a spawning bed. The horns are probably the largest ever found in Ontario, being about 4½ feet by 3 feet. Each horn has six branches measuring from one to two feet.—Dundalk Herald.

The November number of the Delineator is called the thanksgiving number, and illustrates a bewildering wealth of autumn and winter fashions; the collection of stylish and becoming garments being particularly complete. A novel departure in millinery is noted, and the colors and combinations in the season's dress goods and the glint and glitter of their spangled trimmings are attractively described. The best kind of a thanksgiving dinner is described, with receipts for all its dishes; and a timely article on carving tells just how to gracefully dismember the noble bird that occupies the place of honor in the menu given. Address all communications to the Delineator Publishing Co., of Toronto, Limited, 33 Richmond st. west, Toronto, Ont. Subscription price of the Delineator $1 per year or 15 cents per single copy.

The public reading room, next door to Armstrong's jewellery store, is now a pleasant spot to while away the long evenings. The room has been comfortably fitted up and heated, and on the tables may be found the Toronto dailies, Harpers, Scribners, St. Nicholas, the Century, Cosmopolitan, McClures, Munseys, Youths Companion, and other well known magazines. To become a member of the library, including the use of about a thousand volumes and access to the above magazines and papers, will only cost you the small sum of 50 cents per annum. Hand your fees to the librarian, Mr. W. Armstrong.

Division Court

Division Court was held in Dundalk on Friday of last week before Judge Morrison. There was an exact baker's dozen of cases, which were only disposed of at 9 p. m. One of the most important cases was from this part, viz., Hawkins v. Best It appears that Mr. R. Best's pigs got into Mr. Hawkins' premises, and Mr. Hawkins sued for $10 damages. The defendant fyled a counter claim for $20 damages caused by an animal belonging to plaintiff breaking into defendant's premises. The township bylaw regarding animals running at large figured in the trial and was pronounced by the judge as insufficient, he holding that in order to allow any animal running at large a special bylaw must be framed for the purpose. Bylaw No. 395 prohibits certain animals from running at large, but makes no special provision for any animal running loose, and every owner of such animal is therefore responsible for any damage done A verdict was given plaintiff for $7 and costs and defendant on counter claim for damages for $12 and costs.

Johnston v. Fisher was a rather peculiar case Some years ago Mr. Jas. Johnston allowed Geo. Fisher to take off from his farm some fifty-five sawlogs, for which he was to get 1000 feet of lumber, which he never got. Defendant claimed that the logs were given him and brought witnesses to prove that Mr. Johnson had offered the logs to them for nothing if they would take them away. The judge would not take this evidence into consideration and gave judgment for plaintiff for $8 and costs.

Elocution and Music

The Annie Louise White concert, under the auspices of the ladies of the Methdist church, came off as advertised on Wednesday night of last week. The evening was wet and cold, and the audience present was barely large enough to pay expenses Those who attended are enthusiastic in Miss White's praises. It was two hours of solid enjoyment, and we have no hesitancy in pronouncing this clever young woman as the best lady elocutionist that has ever entertained a Flesherton audience. Her wonderfully flexible voice possesses great scope, and in pathos or tragedy she appears to be equally at home. "Bobo-link and the Lovers" was a marvelous piece of vocal work. "The light from over the range" was a pathetic gem, and her audience became excited to the highest pitch as she described in vivid coloring "Jim Collins' last ride" Next to seeing Jim's noble wife as she came in a winner by half a head, was the picture Miss White presented as she proceeded in quick succession from joy to sorrow, sorrow to despair, then hope, despair again, hysterical hope once more, the exciting ride, victory and collapse of the faculties. It was a picture to be remembered. The program was varied by vocal selections by Mr. Will Sullivan, who surprised his friends by the perfection of voice he has attained during the past couple of years. He gave several beautiful selections which were enthusiastically received, and deservingly so. Miss Edith Richardson also gave a solo which was well rendered. Miss Christoe presided at the organ in her usual pleasing manner. The lady elocutionist of the evening may rest assured of an enthusiastic reception should she ever favor us with a second visit. Flesherton has seen very many lady elocutionists, but our favorite is Miss White.

Result of a Neglected Cold.

DISEASED LUNGS

Which Doctors Failed to Help,

CURED BY TAKING

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

"I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs, and I did what is often done in such cases, neglected it, thinking it would go away as it came; but I found, after a little while, that the slightest exertion pained me. I then who found, on examining my lungs, that the upper part of the left one was badly affected. He gave me some medicine which I took as directed, but it did not seem to do any good. Fortunately, I happened to read in Ayer's Almanac, of the effect that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral had on others, and I determined to give it a trial. After taking a few doses my trouble was relieved, and before I had finished the bottle I was cured."—A. LEFLAR, watchmaker, Orangeville, Ont.

Consulted a Doctor
