BATTLE TO THE DEATH.

Inhabitants of Italian Village Engage in Deadly Conflict.

A despatch from London says: The Milan correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says there was a desperate battle between people living in the villages of Umito and Vallecchia. The fight, which was the culmination of a long fued, took place in a pasturage lying between the two villages. Several hundred people were engaged in the battle, and they used as weapons shovels, rakes, scythes, axes and guns.

Often a woman's silence is more significant than a man's words.

SUFFERED BIG DEFEAT.

Several Hundred Killed in Fight With Chinese Federal Troops.

A despatch from Pekin says: Regular troops severely defeated "White Wolf" and his brigands, several hundreds of whom were killed.

The regular troops encountered the bandit army at Li Chuan-Hsien, to the north-west of Sian-Fu, capital of Shen-Si Province. They were threatening an attack on Sian-Fu.

Sharp fighting ensued, and resulted in the rout of the brigands, who fled to a position 20 miles from Kien-Chow, further to the north-west.

Heavy reinforcements of regulars have been despatched to the scene, and the brigands, who have pillaged many towns and villages and killed the inhabitants, are being gradually surrounded.

A number of mission doctors have gone from Huh-Sien and Chow Chih to attend the wounded.

BODY FOUND IN THE WOODS.

Note Was Found Giving Directions For the Funeral.

A despatch from North Bay says: The body of an unknown man was discovered lying in the bush near North Bay. A note found near the body written in French, gave directions for the disposal of the body. The writer intimated he was sick and couldn't walk further and knew he was going to die. The dead man is believed to have been Gustava Joseph Pilette, a Belgian, who had been keeping time on the C.N.R. construction, as a C.N.R. time book was found among his papers. The body showed no signs of violence, and he had evidently been dead several days. No money was found on the body.

2,000 BRIGANDS KILLED.

Met Crushing Defeat After They Had Burned and Looted Town.

A despatch from Pekin says: "White Wolf," the notorious brigand, lost 2,000 of his followers, killed or wounded, in a battle with the regular troops at Li Chuan-Hsien, according to the official report.

The crushing defeat of the brigands occurred after they had captured and looted the town of San Yuan-Hsien.

DOCTOR WILL BE DEPORTED.

Was Arrested Two Months Ago Following the Death of His Wife.

A despatch from Sudbury says: Dr. Karl Sunel, of Sudbury, who has been held at Sudbury since the mysterious death of his wife, two months ago, is to be deported to the United States, from which country he came, although a native of Finland. There is doubt expressed as to the sanity of the doctor, who has gained considerable notoriety through the investigation into the mysterious cause of the death of his wife.

NEW LIFE

Found in Change to Right Food.

After one suffers for months from acid dyspepsia, sour stomach, and then finds the remedy is in getting the right kind of food, it is something to speak about.

An Eastern lady and her young son had such an experience and she wants others to know how to get relief. She writes:

"For about fifteen months my little boy and myself had suffered with sour stomach. We were unable to retain much of anything we ate.

"After suffering in this way for so long I decided to consult a specialist in stomach diseases. Instead of prescribing drugs, he put us both on Grape-Nuts and we began to improve immediately.

"It was the key to a new life. I found we had been eating too much heavy food which we could not digest. In a few weeks after commencing Grape-Nuts, I was able to do my house work. I wake in the morning with a clear head and feel rested and have no sour stomach. My boy sleeps well and wakes with a laugh.

"We have regained our lost weight and continue to eat Grape-Nuts for both the morning and evening meals. We are well and happy and owe it to Grape-Nuts."

THE CENTENNIAL OF PEACE

Memorials to Cost $1,000,000 Approved by Sub-Committee of American Centenary Board.

A despatch from New York says: Memorials marking the centennial of peace between the United States and Great Britain in 1915, at an aggregate cost of $1,000,000, were tentatively approved on Wednesday by a sub-committee of the American Centenary Organization meeting in this city. The organization's Finance Committee must yet ratify the appropriations and conditional contracts made.

Sums of from $35,000 to $75,000 each were set apart for statues of Lincoln in London; Francis Parkman, the historian, in Ottawa, Ont., and Queen Victoria, in Washington, D C.

Free educational trips abroad for newspapermen of all countries are to be instituted with the proceeds of one of the funds available for the committee's use, it was announced. Ignorance of foreign countries causes writing, which engenders friction, while foreign travel for newspapermen would promote peace, in the opinion of the committee. To writers of poems, hymns and essays extolling peace and the centenary celebration $10,000 in prizes will be distributed. A gift of $10,000 was voted to the City of Ghent, Belgium, where the treaty of 1815 was signed.

The Washington homestead in England, Sulgrave Manor, will have its name changed to Washington Manor, and an institute is to be established there to further peace through lectures of representatives of foreign countries. At all capitals, beginning with Berlin, a monument typifying America's message of peace to the nations of the world will be erected, at a cost not yet specified. Money also will be disbursed to churches, schools and synagogues and schools taking part in the peace celebration.

MR. JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN.

In His Younger Days the Great Statesman Loved Poetry.

No politician ever had a greater belief in the oratorical virtues of poetry than Mr. Joseph Chamberlain. As a boy Mr. Chamberlain had a passion for poetry, and it was his favorite study even when, as a small boy, he attended the little preparatory school in Camberwell Grove, which was kept by the Misses Pace.

The famous statesman once confessed to a friend that at the beginning of his political career he made a practice of jotting down in a memorandum-book any little verses he came across which he thought might be useful to quote in his speeches. Whether this little memorandum-book is still in existence it is difficult to say, but a perusal of Mr. Chamberlain's speeches during his strenuous career reveals many interesting facts concerning his favorite poets.

Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain.

Unlike the late Sir William Harcourt, a pastmaster in the art of classical quotation, and such men as Gladstone, Canning and Peel, who were fond of airing their knowledge of Homer, Virgil and Horace in public, Mr. Chamberlain found inspiration in more popular verse.

Humorous Quotations.

At the same time Mr. Chamberlain was not averse to humorous quotations, and "The Biglow Papers" furnished him with many apt lines. One of his favorite quotations in his early days was the following:

"The world's a dreffle oad place for our sins,
Where there allus is critters about
with long pins,
A-prickin' the globe we've blowed
up with such care,
An' provin' there's nothin' inside
but bad air."

Another favorite, which was supposed to be extracted from "The Biglow Papers," was:

"There ain't no label on a man
I'd read. An' if there was
I'd stick to this unfailin' plan—
A fellow's what he does."

A perusal, however, of that entertaining work fails to reveal these lines, and one can only come to the conclusion that Mr. Chamberlain occasionally supplied himself with his own poetical quotations.

Made Use of Pinafore.

On one occasion Mr. Chamberlain made use of "Pinafore" in the following stanza:

"'Tis greatly to his credit,
Although he himself has said it,
He is an Englishman.
And in spite of all temptations
To belong to other nations,
He remains an Englishman."

And in 1885 at Glasgow Mr. Chamberlain, having jotted down these lines from Burns, used them with effect in his speech in that city:

"'Tis hardly in a body's power
To keep at times from being sour
To see how things are shared."

A favorite quotation, often employed in Mr. Chamberlain's Imperial addresses, was:

"Let Britain's myriad voices call;
Sons be welded each and all
Into one Imperial whole,
One with Britain heart and soul,
One life, one flag, one fleet, one throne."

FOR T. AND N. O. RAILWAY.

Strip of Land Five Miles Wide Has Been Reserved.

A despatch from Ottawa says: When the boundaries of Ontario were extended so as to provide for access to Hudson Bay, a five-mile strip of territory was reserved to that province through the new territory of Manitoba as right-of-way for the extension of the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. By way of implementing this undertaking Hon. Dr. Roche has given notice of a resolution to hand over to the Province of Ontario, subject to such conditions as the Government may prescribe, "certain lands, easements and privileges within the Province of Manitoba, and belonging to his Majesty in the right of Canada, required to make provision for the extension of the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, to a port at Hudson Bay, at or near the mouth of the Nelson River, in so far as such lands are vested in his Majesty in the right of the Dominion, including such of said lands as are school lands."

BUBONIC PLAGUE OUTBREAK.

Nine Cases and Two Deaths Reported in Havana.

A despatch from Havana, Cuba, says: Seventeen city blocks in Havana have been vacated and turned over to the sanitary department fumigators to fight the outbreak of bubonic plague. Two more suspected cases were reported on Wednesday, making a total of nine cases and two deaths since the outbreak started. No traffic in the infected area is permitted with the exception of street cars, which are searched for bundles on passing through the district. Two cordons of troops form a barrier to prevent ingress into the zone which has been vacated by 18,000 persons. A bill was introduced in Congress on Wednesday to reimburse the merchants in the affected district for the loss they will suffer. No uneasiness is felt.

WESTERN CORN BLAMED.

Result of Investigation Into Epidemic Among Hogs in Quebec.

A despatch from Quebec says: The epidemic which has been responsible for the death of hundreds of hogs in the parish of Beauport, near here, has been the subject of investigation among farmers in this district, and the conclusion is that the disease is due to the feeding of the hogs with shipments of Western corn.

$4,253 WORTH OF WATER.

Drank by Civil Servants in Ottawa Since Typhoid Epidemic.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The Federal Government's bill for drinking water from January 1, 1912, to March 1, 1914, was $4,253. This information was furnished in a return tabled in the Commons. Since the typhoid epidemic in Ottawa, some two years ago, all civil servants in the Departments of State at the capital have been drinking spring or distilled water.

Sciatica Vanishes Instantly If Nerviline Is Used

CAN YOU BEAT THIS CASE?

No ordinary liniment will even relieve Sciatica. Nothing but the most powerful kind of a remedy can penetrate through the tissues and finally reach the Sciatic Nerve. You can always depend on the old-time "Nerviline." Nothing made to-day is as good for Sciatica as Nerviline was when first produced, about forty years ago. All this time the same old "Nerviline" has been curing Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, and is considered to be without an equal in relieving pain or soreness anywhere. "'Nerviline' couldn't be made stronger or better," writes James E. Edwards. "The way it cures Sciatica is to me simply a miracle. For years I suffered frightfully. I ruined my stomach with internal dosing. I rubbed in gallons of oils and liniments—none were strong enough. One good rubbing with Nerviline relieved. I kept on rubbing and shortly was cured. My father cured rheumatism in his right arm and shoulder with Nerviline, and my mother cured herself of chronic lumbago with Nerviline. Our family simply swears by Nerviline and we are never without a 50c. family size bottle in our home. We find that for external pain, for coughs, colds, earache, such minor ills it is a veritable family physician."

TRIED TO KILL MAYOR.

Attempt to Murder New York's Chief Magistrate in Mid-day.

A despatch from New York says: In the midst of the noonday crowd on Park Row an attempt was made on the life of Mayor John Purroy Mitchel just as he was starting in his automobile for lunch from the east end of the City Hall, by a shabbily-dressed old man of 71 years, who had, or fancied he had, a series of grievances against the Mayor's mode of administering the city government. The bullet intended for the Mayor missed its aim, but lodged in the cheek of Corporation Counsel Frank L. Polk, who was seated at the Mayor's left, and who had been one of a party of four accompanying the Mayor.
