CREAM

There is still a tremendous demand for butter and prices are good, and likely to stay that way. So, by a little extra care in the feeding of the herd, production can be stepped up, and by so doing, receive larger profits from the herd, and especially if you market your cream at the Flesherton Creamery, where you are guaranteed all that is in your cream. Bring in your eggs with the cream.

We are still in the market for fowl and chickens, alive or dressed, and will pay top market prices.

A New Page In Co-operative History

After 35 years of service to farmers and others, Ontario's provincial co-operative has been reorganized as a federation, officially owned and controlled by over a hundred local co-operatives with 40,000 member-families.

During the year ended September 30, 1948, the Central attained a new record of volume at 38 million dollars and netted 350 thousand dollars of earnings.

Locals will find their Central of increasing value both in wholesaling and manufacturing Co-op Brand farm supplies and consumer goods and as a central marketing service for a number of major farm products.

VICTORIA CORNERS

Our sympathy goes out to the family of the late Thos. Wyville, Proton Station, whose passing occurred on Tuesday, Dec. 28th, at his late home, and of the late Dr. Frank Martin, Dundalk, whose death occurred on Friday, Dec. 31.

As New Year's Eve dawned, few remained using the old time custom "Happy New Year." Scores of travellers were marooned along the highway for quite some distance. Almost everybody's home from Art Jackson's to Geo. Ludlow's, in our territory, had unexpected guests over Friday night and on into Saturday, and some as long as Sunday afternoon. All were so thrilled to reach the warmth of firesides and the taste of food. Mr. Jas. Forbes, employed by the Department of Highways, started out from Flesherton for his home here on Friday evening after work and was forced back by the hazardous road condition. He obtained kind Flesherton hopspitality until Saturday evening, when he started out on foot for home, arriving around nine o'clock, just before the snow plows had the traffic conditions well opened up.

A number of our people have been ill with the 'flu.

Mrs. John Carson is going to make her home during the winter months at the home of Neil Winters.
