As a result of the outbreak of rabies in Peel, Mr. James Girling engineer at Messrs. Pollock & Henry's sawmill, has cremated in the large fire-box of the engine, 14 dogs and 4 cats, which were destroyed in Drayton during the past two weeks. There is scarcely a dog in the village.

Mrs. Louis Burnstein was fined $200 and costs in the Police Court yesterday morning for illegal selling of liquor. Mrs. Burnstein did not appear when her name was called but the case went on without her. She was fonnd guilty and received the usual $200 and costs or three months iu jail.—O. S. Sun.

A young man who gave his name as Michael Cox appeared before Magistrate Creasor on Saturday morniug charged with stealing a ride on the C. P. R. train from Toronto, on Friday evening. He was arrested by one of the C. P. R. constables as he stepped of the train on the opposite side from the station. He had told the Magistrate he had beaten his way from Toronto to Orangeville, then from Orangeville to Owen Snund. On promising to behave in future he was allowed to go.—O. S. Sun.

Carson, young son of Mr. John Campbell, of Mount Forest, while out shooting on Saturday at East Creek, was walking along with rifle pointed downward, stubbed his toe on something and the gun was discharged, the ball striking his ankle and lodging in the bone of the heel. The sufferer was taken to Guelph on Monday, and with the help of X-rays the bullet was located and extracted. —Confederate.

Students in the Wingham High School were given quite a start when a partridge in flight dashed against one of the windows, breaking the glass and falling with it inside the room. The impact upon the window was so great as to kill the bird instantly as it was dead when picked up. Principal Ricker had the dead bird handed over to a taxidermist to be mounted and it will be later placed in the school museum.

Last Thursday evg. Robt. Harper of 12th con Eldersley was driving into Tara about ten in the evg. to see his father who has been ill. When entering the corporation limits he passed a driver in a single buggy who was going at a swift gait. He got safely past the first man he met and then turned on the centre of the road again when he ran into the second rig driven by Arthur Rushton, also of 12th con. Eld. who was accompanied by his sisters, Myrtle and Zetta. The shaft of Rushton's buggy stripped the harness off Harper's horse and narrowly missed entering Harper's body. The occupants of both buggies were thrown out by the impact and Miss Zetta Rushton was badly injured about the head. We are pleased to report that she is recovering. It is almost a miracle some of the four were not instantly killed. It appears the two coming home from Tara were speeding their horses which is a dangerous business after dark. Auto drivers are not the only ones who imperil the lives of others by fast driving at night.

An exchange says: Go into the woods at this season of the year on Saturday afternoon and you will encounter many youngsters of tender years out hunting, and in some cases these boys are so small that when they come to the "stand at ease" pose, the barrels of the guns they carry are sometimes higher than their own heads. There have been no accidents in this vicinity recently, but who can say, under the present condition how soon it will be that some family will be thrown into a sudden sorrow by accidental and fatal shooting of one of it youthful members. There is, we understand, a by-law prohibiting youngsters carrying guns, but like many others, it is wholly disregarded. In many instances the parents are to blame for allowing boys who are careless and incompetent to have the use of fire-arms, and the municipal authorities are too lenient in permitting their by laws to be so completely ignored. Never, it seems, till an accident occurs, do we hear of complaint.

FORCE OF VIBRATION.

A Musical Chord That Shattered a Huge Glass Bowl.

Discussing the proposition that a wineglass can be broken or shattered to pieces by a musical chord, Edgar Lucien Larkin in the New York American says:

"I had a huge glass bowl one foot in diameter resting on its glass stand. The flint glass was from one-quarter to three-quarters of an inch thick. I rosined a violin bow, drew it across the edge, and the entire hemisphere of solid glass disintegrated into hundreds of small pieces. The sound of breaking into fragments was entirely unknown to me, a crackling or grinding, and the bits of glass flew far apart.

"I had used this same bowl before classes for several years with violin bows. But on this particular day the students as well as I were surprised at the breaking and unearthly noise.

"The fact is I happened to vibrate the bowl with its key note—that is, set harmonic rate, which means the precise rate with which it was able to vibrate to send forth that note, for notes are rates of vibration, and they all obey rigid and beautiful harmonic mathematical laws, and these agree with other set and fixed laws."

RINGS OF AIR.

How to Blow Out a Lighted Candle Twelve Feet Away.

The distance from which an average man can blow out a candle rarely exceeds three feet. If he is an adept at blowing smoke rings, however, a candle may be extinguished at twelve feet. Of course the smoke isn't necessary. An ordinary air ring will do and has the added advantage of being invisible. Simply pucker the month as you would to blow a smoke ring and expel air in a quick, sharp manner. It takes a good deal of practice to do it.

An easier way to show the effect if one is doubtful is to place a sheet of cloth or canvas over the open side of a box otherwise closed, making a small, round hole in another side. Then tap in a sharp manner on the canvas and invisible air rings will be produced. If the hole is pointed at a person's face and the rings are made he will feel them as they strike his face. Only a few trials are necessary to extinguish a candle at twelve feet. To render the rings visible a smudge may be burned in the box, or a small dish of ammonia may be placed side by side with a small dish of hydrochloric acid, the combined fumes of those liquids making a dense smoke.

The explanation why one can put out the candle at twelve feet is that the energy of expulsion is conserved and practically all retained in the smoke ring, while a simple blowing has to set in motion a whole stream of air and is therefore wasteful.—Chicago Record-Herald.
