Celebrated in Maxwell

Osprey Orangemen Stay at Home and Have a Good Time—Other Items

The Orangemen of Osprey district celebrated the 12th on Monday in Maxwell in right royal style. On Sunday the Rev. Mr. Legate preached an Orange sermon to the members of L. O. L. No. 666 and McKee's lodge, in Mrs. Long's grove. He preached a very eloquent and a forcible sermon, giving much good counsel and advice. A very large assemblage was present and the young ladies of Maxwell formed a special choir for the occassion, rendering excellent music. The citizens of Maxwell have been vieing with each other as to how they could best decorate and beautify the village and the result was that numerous arches, plenty of red, white and blue bunting, streamers and flags gave the village a gala appearance. Early in the morning large crowds of people began pouring into the village. Eight lodges formed in procession, with about 450 men in line of march. McKee's lodge and Eugenia lodge of Artemesia district were present. The Grand march from the village to the grove, where the speaking was held, was the best that ever was seen here. Every lodge had a large membership and each lodge seemed to try to outdo the other in neat appearance and soldierly bearing as they marched along beneath beautiful and costly banners to their favorite tunes. The speakers acquitted themselves with distinction. Dr. Scott opened the speaking with a short speech of welcome, reviewed the progress of the order and its ever increasing progress. Dr. Ball of Singhampton delivered his maiden speech and made some telling remarks and gave some witty stories and sat down amid a storm of applause. Rev. Mr. Legate and Rev. Krause gave short addresses on the progress of the order, while the Rev. Mr. Wells gave the speech of the day, with great eloquence and force. He gave the outline of Orangeism, its aims, objects and progress, together with a description of the times that called the institution into existence. The entire proceedings reflect great credit upon the Orangemen and their friends who assembled in such large numbers. To an onlooker it was very apparent that the great body of Orangemen are zealous of maintaining their good name. Temperance, sobriety and good humor marked the conduct of this large Orange parade.

Kimberley

From our own Correspondent.

Kimberley had a gala day on Monday when the battle of the Boyne was celebrated in royal style. There were three lodges present—Kimberley, Epping and Duncan. The town was handsomely decorated with flags, arches, evergreens, etc. The route of procession was through the town to Mr. Graham's grove, where the speaking took place. Reeve Gilray occupied the chair. The speakers were Rev. J. Mahan, Flesherton, who gave a rattling good address, and Rev. Balfour of Eugenia. Everything passed off very pleasantly.

Miss Chislitt visited in Horning's Mills this week.

For some time past the police have been receiving complaints from farmers that their milk houses were being broken into, but as all the cases were outside the town limits, the chief and his assistants could take no action. Early this week Chief McAuley received information that the thieves were operating inside the corporation. By working all night Monday he had the guilty parties and the stolen articles located on Tuesday morning, and telephoned to a constable at Kilsyth to bring in the persons necessary to identify the articles. On Tuesday night the Chief, P. C. Herron, the Kilsyth constable, and two farmers whose milk houses had been entered made a descent on the house of Edward Gilbert, on Bay St., opposite the Polson works. Gilbert resisted the efforts of the police to enter his house, but was at last taken. In this house there was found about a wagon load of crocks, cream-cans, gem jars, preserves, and a quantity of the stolen butter. Gilbert was taken to the lock-up, and the police made further searches in the same neighhood and in Brooke. Further arrests may be made.—Owen Sound Times.
