EXCERPTS FROM A NEWS LETTER
Issued by The
Ontario Cream Producers' Marketing Board

We quote:- "Creameries that continue to accept second grade, or even "Liner" first grade, cream and pay for it as first grade are maintaining an almost insurmountable obstacle in the way of quality improvement. It may well seem hard-boiled and undesirable to the producer to have Cream that is even questionable put down in a lower grade and paid for as such, or else refused, but in the long range, Cream Shippers who persistently produce a poor quality are doing themselves little good and are a tremendous detriment to the industry. The challenge faces everyone in all branches — each must decide whether we will be known as one who helped improve the quality of our butter or just a stumbling block."

Signed, "R. W. Morrison."

NOTICE

Commencing on the 1st of October the Creamery will be closed on Wednesday nights.

MONEY IN HOGS? NO, DECLARES REEVE

Reeve Clark McKinnon of Tiverton is highly dubious about the truth of the advertising assertions that there is money in raising hogs.

As proof he offers these facts:

Last year he had a purebred sow which wandered on to the road, was struck by a passing car and killed. Not only was he out the sow, but had to reimburse the car owner for damage to the vehicle.

Determined to prevent a repetition of this unfortunate circumstance he kept a purebred sow in the stable this year.

A truck load of grain crashed through the barn floor, lit atop the sow and killed her. — Kincardine News.

The editor of a newspaper lovelorn column received a letter from one of her readers. Jokingly, she read the man's problem to her maid.

"Should a father of fifty get married again?"

The maid thought a minute and then gave her advice. "No," she replied, "that's enough children for any man."

THE MIXING BOWL

HYDRO HOME ECONOMIST

Hello Homemakers! Most farmers cull out the "boarders" of the year-old poultry flock at this time of year and faten them for market or kill and store for the family table.

With access to a cold storage locker or a home freezer, you will be advised to consider this method of storing dressed poultry. To prepare fowl for freezing requires no special tools. You clean the bird exactly as you would for cooking, and then wrap it in moisture-vapor-proof paper.

If your right-hand man is inexperienced in killing poultry the easy way, you can ask for a bulletin on dressing poultry from your agricultural representative. It will save time and last minute preparation for serving the storage bird if it is singed and stuffed before freezing. If sage or thyme is used in the dressing, the amount should be one third of usual quantity as herbs may permeate the meat if too much is used. Once the bird has been cleaned and prepared, it should be wrapped and frozen at once. If this is not possible, keep in a cold place, preferably under the freezing unit of the refrigerator.

Wrapping meats for freezing requires special paper. Regular butcher store paper cannot be used, nor can household waxed paper. Poorly wrapped birds dry out in storage and are tough and dry when cooked. They may also become rancid. Ask for waxed-sulphite paper and gummed tape. Alternatives would be aluminum foil or heavy parchment paper. Wrapping materials be purchased from a locker company feed store or a district co-operative.

As the prepared chicken is wrapped, fold in one end and smooth the paper to conform to the shape of the bird, thus eliminating air pockets Seal with long strips of acetate locker tape and label with black crayon.

Parchment sandwich bags are handy to wrap disjointed pieces of broilers or stewing birds. Then package the quantity you would use at one mean in one parcel and list contents on label. Place in fast freezing space at once.

To defrost frozen poultry allow 12 hours at room temperature. However, frozen chicken for roasting or fowl for stewing may be cooked without thawing, but you allow about 15 minutes per pound extra cooking time.

Roast 4 to 6 lb. chicken or turkey at 350 degrees, 2 to 2½ hours.

Roast 10 to 12 lb. goose or turkey at 325 degrees, 3 to 4 hours.

Roast 14 to 17 lb. turkey at 300 degrees for 4 to 6 hours.

Broil halves or sections of chicken 5 inches from top element for 15 minutes on each side.

TAKE A TIP

Government grades indicate quality and finish of table poultry, but homemakers should order the kind of bird o fill their needs. For instance:

A broiler is a 2½ lb. tender young chicken, excellent for broiling or frying.

A fryer may weigh up to 3½ pounds and be cooked as a broiler.

A roaster is a young chicken over three and a half pounds.

A Capon is an unsexed young male chicken, ideal for roasting.

A rooster is a "has-been" roaster, usually ordered as a boiler. A hen is also a boiling or stewing fowl.

Silver is the best conductor of electricity, says a scientist. Well, we get a shock every time we are handed the change from a dollar bill.

Nowadays, it's no trick at all to pay a visit to the folks back home on the farm. Over thousands of miles of Ontario's highways, fast and modern buses provide frequent and convenient service direct to the farm gate.
