Columbia Grafonolas

Records, Needles, Catalogues

The Columbia is the perfect talking machine. Compare all others, then hear this and we are not afraid of the result. We can sell machines on easy terms to responsible people.

All the best appointed city homes have their parlor machines and there is no reason why the farmer should not have the best music of the day in his home, including band music, vocal artists, and performers on all kinds of instruments. You can have it on a Columbia Grafonola, as perfect as the original, and for much less than you would pay for a Common Organ. They range from $20 up.

The Perfect Columbia

Is a marvel of recording instruments and the Columbia records, made in Canada, embrace thousands of selections from which to choose.

A farmer in Essex recently sold beans off 18 acres at $3 per bushel which amounted to $1360, his five acres of tobacco also brought him $220 per acre or $1100, so $2469 from 23 acres proves that farming pays, and in this year of disheartening results in business it is enough to turn many back to the soil.

CAVALRY HORSES.

The Loads They Have to Carry In the Armies of Europe.

The British cavalry is armed with the short Lee-Enfield rifle, the magazine of which holds ten rounds; the sword, which is carried by all ranks except signalers, and the revolver, carried by warrant officers, staff sergeants, sergeants, trumpeters and drivers. Each trooper carries 100 rounds of ammunition in a bandolier over the left shoulder. Lancer regiments carry the lance. Each cavalryman, like the infantryman, carries an emergency and the "iron" ration and a ration for his horse. Then there is the kit. Altogether the British troop horse carries about twenty stone (280 pounds).

The regular Russian cavalry are armed with sword, rifle and bayonet, and each man carries 40 rounds of ammunition. There are the two days' oats and hay ration, a cloak and an intrenching tool. The cavalryman's kit, two days' rations, spare horse shoes, horse blanket, canvas bucket and a mess tin go to form the complete equipment and weigh altogether about 110 pounds. The Cossack pony carries about seventeen stone. The average weight carried by the Indian troop horse when ready for war is about nineteen stone. The Austrian troopers carry a weight of between twenty-one and twenty-two stone, and the average in the French and German armies is about the same.—Manchester Guardian.

Must Keep the Curtains Up.

"In London it is strictly against the law for the driver of any public conveyance to allow the curtains of his vehicle to be pulled down," said a man who has visited the English metropolis. "By day or night the windows of cabs, hansoms, carriages, or what not, whether drawn by horses or propelled by electric power, must be so open to public inspection as to allow a plain view of those occupying the interior. A closed rig wouldn't get a block before a London bobby would nab its driver and hale him to a magistrate's office, where he would get no mercy. The law is based on the theory that closed vehicles lend themselves easily to the commission of robbery or murder and that they may also assist a criminal to make his escape."

To Change Umbrella Handles.

Sometimes a person would like to change an expensive umbrella handle to another umbrella and fasten it on solid. This can be done by cleaning out the hole left in the handle from the old rod and filling the hole with powdered sulphur. Place the handle in a solid upright position and after heating the umbrella rod red hot push the rod down into the hole containing the sulphur. The hot rod fuses the sulphur, and when cool it will hold the rod solid. This method may be applied to fastening rods into stone, iron or wood. —Popular Mechanics.

Our Motto—"SMALL PROFITT AND QUICK RETURNS

Wingham has been visited lately by an epidemic of robbery and stealing. Some little time ago the office of the Wm. Davies Co. on Edward street was entered at night and a considerable sum of money was taken. On Thursday night the ticket office at the G. T. R. station was entered between six and seven o'clock when all the employees were at tea. The drawer containing the money was broken open and when Operator Kaiser returned after supper the money was gone. Carson & Pyke's fancy goods store was entered the evening previous through the back door and a quantity of goods stolen. The robbers continued in their work and some time during Saturday night or early Sunday morning, Geo. Mason & Son's book, stationery and fancy goods store and H. E. Isard & Co's. dry goods store was broken into, the robbers having gained an entrance to both places through the back doors. From the Izard store there does not appear to have been anything taken, while from the Mason store some $50 in cash was taken as well as a few articles The police have been at work on the various cases, but as yet have not been able to locate the guilty. It is to be hoped that parties who are guilty of this kind of work are found out and given proper punishment.—Wingham Times.

Rod and Gun

Rod and Gun for May, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., is out with an interesting list of contents. Edward T. Martin contributes an article "Have the Pigeons Returned" dealing with the possible recurrence of the passenger pigeon, which has been pronounced extinct by as great an authority as Prof. Hornaday of New York. "A Ram of the Stormycut" is a Western story of a ram whom its pursuers regarded as a creature of the evil one. How its propensity for vanishing into thin air was finally explained and the ram secured is most entertainingly related by Ray Giddings. Other stories and the regular departments combine to make an exceptionally interesting number of this well known sportsman's magazine.

Something About Eating

"Show me a man of forty," says Will Irwin, "and you show me a victim of careless meals. A man called Osler won a knighthood by calling the man of forty "too old." It should have been "too dyspeptic." From drug store he ricochets to doctor blaming the weather, the money market, the trusts or Teddy for what is really due to Little Mary. Your middle aged man is at his worst when on his travels—his only exercise a sad procession to and from the dining car."

Another William is of the same opinion, Mr. W. A. Cooper, who claims that among other things he provides three million meals a year to travellers on the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Cooper is not a philosopher, but a practical man, and in his own way set out to investigate and solve this problem. He wrote to, or consulted personally, the leading stomach specialists in Europe, the United States and Canada. What he wanted was the Happy Traveller on his dining cars, who would really enjoy the three million meals on which his chefs spent so much trouble. Was the man of forty hopeless?

The specialists pocketed their fees and gave Mr. Cooper not quite three million, but still a great many opinions to digest. The Wiesbaden man said this, the Paris man said that, the London man said something else, the New York man had another cure, while the Battle Creek man was in a class by himself. Yet when their opinions came to be analysed they all had one common point of view, namely, that the foods consumed in any meal must be properly blended. Everyone who has survived the ordeal knows that it is a mistake to wash down oysters with brandy. Quite a number feel unhappy after a mixture of lemonade and ice cream. Table beer may be good in itself, but not if followed by a cup of cocoa. In a word, the foods must blend if the meal is to serve its purpose, and more particularly so in the case of train travellers who have no opportunity for exercise.

With the aid, therefore, of expert food chemists and professors, Mr. Cooper has prepared arrangements of courses which can be recommended by the faculty as perfect blending of food and liquids. These will be printed as suggested menus on the regular cards and placed as suggestions for breakfast lunch and supper at the disposal of the travellers on the Canadian Pacific this summer. In some ways the railway may lose revenue, for the Blended Meals do not encourage the rich and sometimes costly entrements which gourmets ask for, but the average man will be contented, and will be left in a better mood to enjoy the beautiful scenery through which the railway passes. In that way he will be a booster for Canada, and what is better still, will be a more frequent patron of the dining car than of the hospital for dyspeptics.

There is no doubt but that a large per cent. of degradation and disgrace, springs from the habit of night prowling, corner loafing and kindred acts by both sexes in city, town and hamlet all over this broad country. Any person who keeps his or her eyes open knows this. Hundreds of boys and girls are out at night and we all know that many influences for evil and none for good surround them continually.

SWP

Don't experiment when you paint your house. All experimenting has been done for you, and the result of years of experience in making Paint and of innumerable practical and scientific tests is SWP, Sherwin-Williams Paint (Prepared).

There is an exactness in the formula, and a thoroughness in the mixing and grinding of the pure ingredients that insures perfect painting results. A gallon of SWP will cover more surface than you ever thought possible and will wear so long and hold its color so well that its use is genuine economy.
