ARMENIA

Suggested by an editorial in the Flesherton Advance.

O Lord of Hosts, to thee we cry.
True faith in thee we do possess ;
We plead for those who bleed and die,
And those who live in deep distress.

Amid Armenia's hills and vales
Time writes to-day its dark record,
For Turkey's iron rule prevails
With carnage, slaughter, fire and sword.

Where happy homes were once enjoyed
And where the family altars stood,
There fields and gardens are destroyed
And watered with the people's blood.

Where mothers on their children smiled
And taught them in Thy name to trust,
There woman's honor is defiled
And trampled down by brutal lust.

Sweet infant life and hoary age
Alike are victims of the foe.
Through fiendish hate and burning rage
The crimson streams still onward flow.

Armenia's wounds unhealed remain ;
Her hope and courage droop and die.
And shall her groans ascend in vain ?
Will none regard her honest cry ?

Armenia's heart keen anguish feels ;
Armenia's rights the Turk denies ;
Armenia's voice to heaven appeals :
Armenia's blood for vengeance cries.

And nations unto whom is given
The power for right and truth to stand,
Do not regard the call of heaven
Nor stay the vile oppressor's hand.

Almighty one, to thee we pray ;
To thee all majesty belongs :
Do thou thy righteous power display
And soon avenge Armenia's wrongs.

He was a prominent member of the Orange order, having been a member for sixty two years.

A corn stalk which surpasses in length the one brought in by Mr. Caswell, or the one mentioned by the Eugenia Cor. was on exhibition in our village last evening, Mr. J. R. Fawcett having one in his garden which measures twelve feet, nine inches and three quarters.

A number of the young ladies and gentlemen who were candidates at the recent Primary examination have been daily haunting the postoffice for the past ten days watching in vain for the report.

From our own Correspondent.

The harvest of '96 is almost gathered into the various barns. The rain storms of the past couple of weeks did considerable damage by way of knocking the grain down. There will be abundance of straw in this section, but it is thought by a great many that the grain will be a little light on account of the rust.

Miss Bertha Johnson, who has been visiting her parents for the past week, returned to the city on Tuesday.

Mr. J. W. Stewart, of Toronto, returned to his home a week ago last Saturday.

Mr. Herb. Robinson, who has been sailing on one of the boats which runs from Owen Sound to Port Arthur, is at present visiting his parents.

Master H. McClure, of Toronto, spent a few days with friends here a couple of weeks ago.

Mr. Thomas Hilliard, of Waterloo, called on relatives here a week ago last Thursday.

A Bad Kidd

Curiously chequered has been the career of Gertie Kidd. Within the space of a few short months she has experienced the joys and sorrows of a wife, widow, mother and bride.

Our readers are fairly familiar with the stirring incidents in the life of this dashing blonde up to and immediately following the death of her eccentric old husband. John Kidd's departure from this vale of tears at the ripe old age of 98 or thereabouts, after only a few months of the joys of married life, left Gertie a weeping widow at sweet and tender 16.

She didn't waste much time in tears. The old man having forgotten her altogether in his will, Gertie started the law in motion to recover her dower, estimated as worth six or seven thousand dollars. She was successful in her suit at the Dufferin Assizes last spring and is now in receipt of an annual income of $200 as the result of the settlement subsequently arrived at.

Many things have happened since Gertie returned to Toronto from the Orangeville Assizes last March. She became an orphan through the death of her putative parent, old man Robins, who passed off the stage of life during the same month. On the 14th of May she became a mother, but the child lived only about two months, and again Gertie was plunged into mourning.

Gertie took unto herself another husband last Friday. He is a young man named McKenzie and he claims to be the son of a Presbyterian minister at Wingham. The couple passed through Orangeville on Saturday night on their way north.—Orangeville Advertiser.

Priceville

From our own Correspondent.

The following budget is so meagre that we were tempted to take a holiday this week. However, half a loaf is better than no bread.

Harvesting in this community will be wound up this week. Already we have heard the shrill whistle of Mr. D. Dow's steam thresher. Dave is a hustler.

There is a general complaint that oats will not weigh 34 lbs. to the bushel this year. Such may be the case with lots of grain owing to the excessive moisture and heat, but the earlier varieties will no doubt reach the required standard.

Mr. Richard Parslow, of Swinton Park, is the guest of his son-in-law, W. J. Blakeston.

Mrs. Thomas Ferguson, of Cheboygan, Mich., is visiting friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlatt, of Shelburne, paid a visit last week to the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. McDonald.

The Rev. Mr. Beynon, B. A., of Holland Centre, preached an exceedingly practical sermon to the Epworth League last Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Humphreys took Mr. B's work at Holland Centre.

Miss Nathalie Grier spent a week or so with friends in Dundalk lately.

Miss M. Simpson, of Chicago, is on a visit to her parents.

Mrs Logan, an old woman of 81 years old, has been confined in the county jail for sometime past as a vagrant. Her son, Nath. Logan of Amaranth took her away on Tuesday and will see that his mother is properly cared for during the rest of her life. He admitted to Governor Bowles that his conscience had troubled him ever since he allowed his mother to be thrown into prison for no other crime than poverty.

Between nine and ten o'clock on Monday evening the outbuildings of Mr. John Kerr, of Heathcote, together with the season's crop and some implements were totally destroyed by fire. How the fire originated is a mystery, but it is thought it was caused by some of the crop heating. Mr. Kerr was in Thornbury that night and knew nothing of the fire until near home. The loss is estimated at $2,500.—Herald.
