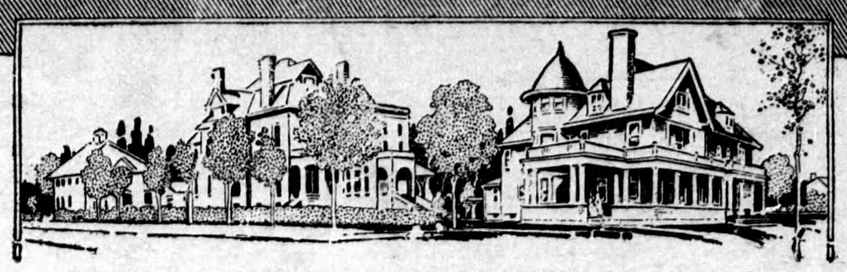
Bowes

Death came suddenly to another of Ospreys pioneers, Mrs. Margeret Bowes, of the 8th line, on the twenty-fist ult. While attending the death bed of her brother, Wm. Dand, who passed away last week, Mrs. Bowes was suddenly taken ill from pneumonia and death claimed its victim in a few hours. Mrs. Bowes was nearly 74 years of age and though not feeling well she at once went to help to attend to her brother when she heard of his illness. About 60 years ago Mrs. Bowes, whose maiden name was Dand, came to Osprey with her parents and about 55 years ago was married to Mr. Wm. Thomson and settled on a farm 2½ miles east of Feversham on the 8th line. They went through all the hardships of the early settlers of Osprey but by hard work and thrift made good and raised their family, giving them a liberal education under the handicaps which they labored in that respect, being about 3 miles from the nearest school (Feversham.) In the year 1876 Mr. Thomson died leaving her with the care of their 6 children, and though the care and anxiety was great the widow was always cheerful and optimistic always looking on the bright side of things and never allowing her care to get the better of her. For neighborly deeds of loving kindness and acts of charity we question if Mrs Bowe equal could be found in this part of the country, having had the care all told of over 20 small children, through the death of her eldest daughter, Mrs. Chas. Edwards, her sister, Mrs. John McQuarry, and some of her other friends, little ones who were left without a mother's care by death being cared for by her. In 1878 she was married a 2nd time to Mr. Bowes from which marriage she had one daughter, Mrs. John Lindsay of Singhampton, now deceased. Mr. Bowes died about 37 years ago and now Mrs. Bowes has gone to the reward of one of those mothers in Isreal for she heard and answered the call of her heavenly Father, "It is enough, come up higher, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving mother, 2 sons and 2 daughters, Mr. Chris. Thomson of Singhampton, William on the homestead, Mrs. John Spencer near Feversham, and Mrs. Ferguson of Duntroon, besides 3 sisters and a number of grandchildren. The sympathy of the whole neighborhood is extended to the bereaved ones in thei great loss.

Points to Consider When Purchasing a Railway Ticket

A Canadian Pacific Railway ticket doe not represent merely a means of transportation between given points. It, in addition provides the traveller with every comfort and convenience, developed by modern railway science, "Safety First," with up-to-date equipment, unexcelled dining car service, palatial sleeping cars, in a word, everything that a railway can provide for the comfortable transportation of its passengers, including courtesy.



How to Paint for Less Money

We'll tell you how in three words—use less gallons. That's the thing to go by in Paint—not the price per gallon, but the number of gallons required plus the length of time it will wear and look well.

"100% Pure" Paint costs about half as much, counting the surface it covers, and wears two or three times as long as ordinary paint.

You pay by the gallon—both for the paint and for putting it on. The Paint that is cheapest for you is the paint that spreads easiest and covers the most surface.

MARTIN-SENOUR
"100% PURE" PAINT

"MADE IN CANADA"

has a covering capacity of 900 square feet of surface per gallon one coat, as against 500 square feet covered by hand-mixed Lead and Oil—or 600 square feet covered by low priced prepared paint.

And as further proof—if you will send us the dimensions of your house, we will tell you the number of gallons of "100% Pure" Paint required to cover it thoroughly. No charge for this service.

Write direct to the Martin-Senour Co., Limited, Montreal, for their 1916 Booklet, "Town and Country Homes", showing many new color schemes and giving valuable paint information. 66R

Of the 250,000 Canadians who have donned the khaki, 118,000 are from Ont., 55,000 from Manitoba and Saskatchewan combined, 30,000 from Quebec and 25,000 each from British Columbia, Alberta and the Maritime provinces. From this it can be seen that Quebec is the slowest to take on the recruiting spirit, and Ontario has contributed over 40 per cent. of the whole force so far.

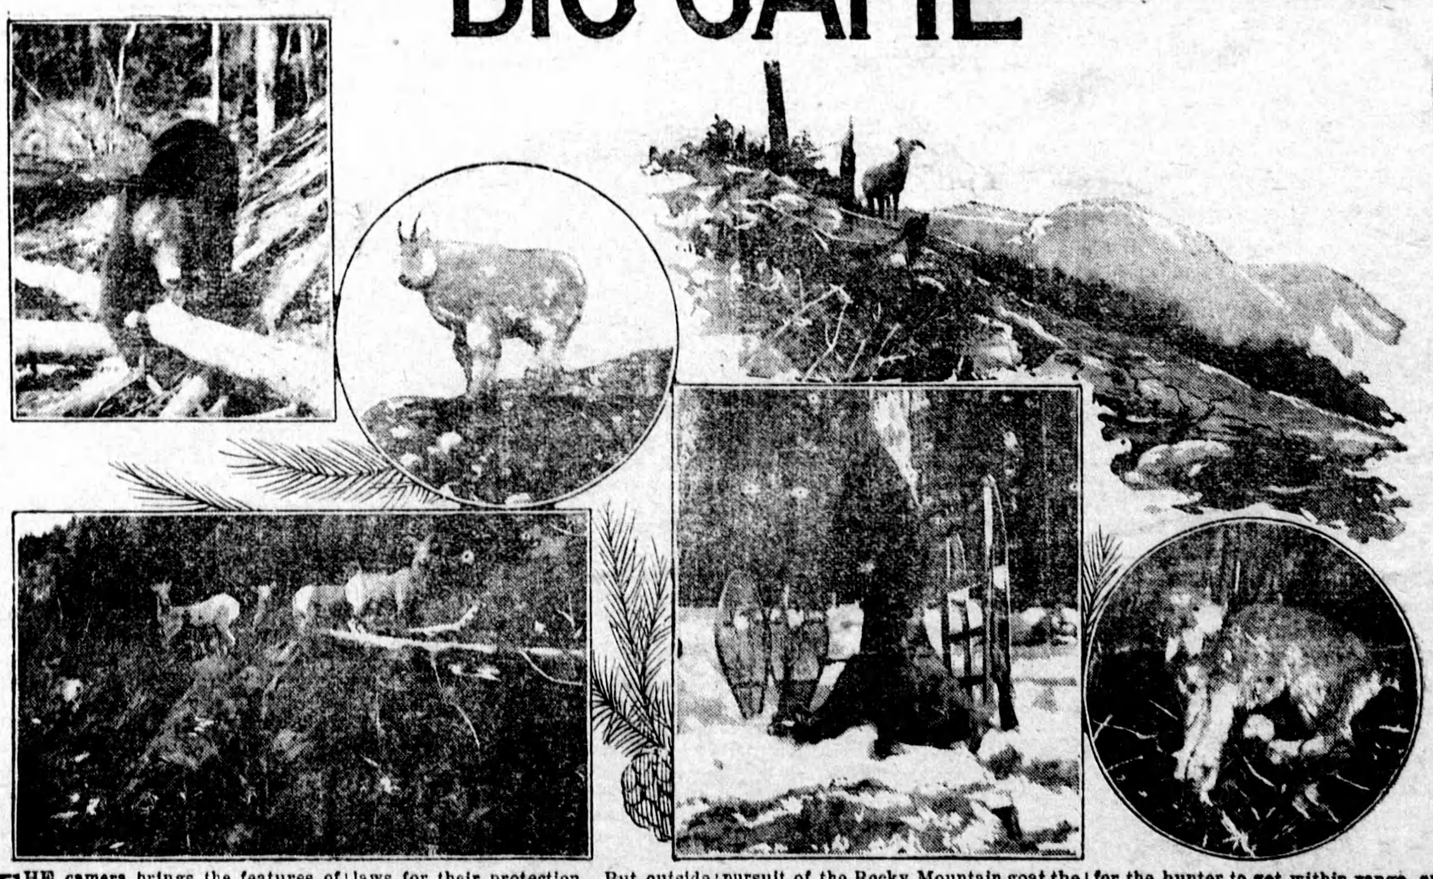
CANADIAN BIG GAME AT HOME



THE camera brings the features of big game and their haunts to our firesides. All along the Rocky Mountains strange wild beasts roam in abundance. Many of them are not familiar to the human eye at all, but there are others with which every sportsman is acquainted. Perhaps there is no place in the Dominion so interesting from the point of view of the hunter as the Canadian Pacific Rockies with their majestic snow-capped peaks, 46 of which are over 11,000 feet high. At Banff there is a big National Park where nobody may intrude in pursuit of game, for a wise Government has decided that big game must not be hunted indiscriminately, and has instituted laws for their protection. But outside the preserve the hunter is free to enjoy his sport, and there is plenty of it to be had: the grizzly bear, mountain goat, wild mountain sheep and lynx take up their abode in large numbers in these parts. In the open seasons many a party sets out with guides and ponies from Banff. The spring is the best time to hunt the grizzly bear when his fur is still thick after the winter's sleep. Often it is difficult to bag him, but his skin is a trophy of which any hunter may be proud. It is a pretty sight to watch a wild goat as he stands on some cliff seemingly admiring the picturesqueness of the landscape that lies beneath him. While in pursuit of the Rocky Mountain goat the hunter has to take some serious risks; he has to ascend precipitious crags hanging on almost by the skin of his teeth. The goat can dash along from rock to rock with the same graceful ease and velocity as that displayed by a bird travelling from twig to twig on some adjacent fir tree. But it is the danger and excitement of the chase that gives the hunter the greatest delight. It is as difficult to shoot the bighorn or wild mountain sheep. After feasting himself on the lowlands in the grey early morning the bighorn ascends to the fastnesses of the mountains. It is almost an impossible task for the hunter to get within range, a[illegible] if ever he does get there he must n[illegible] make the least noise or show himse[illegible] for the bighorn is both timid a[illegible] observant, and when he is startled o[illegible] there is little chance of again com[illegible] into close quarters with him. T[illegible] bighorn's flesh is pronounced by [illegible] cures to be most delicious and h[illegible] horns make very beautiful ornamen[illegible] In its cosy coat of soft ashy grey f[illegible] the lynx seems to be like a cat, and [illegible] certainly is of the cat family. He [illegible] rather pretty, and though not such [illegible] prize trophy for the sportsman as some of the bigger forest neighbours, he [illegible] always welcome to a rifle bullet.
