The Young Folks.

BABY'S TRAVELS.

The sun shines, baby laugh s
She sees it in a minute
The hall was empty as a child be
Not even mats were in it

The room are went she could n't walk,
But she could crawl so quickly;
And very soon in her clean white frock
With dust was covered thickly.

By a wood-and-nickled as she went,
As if the fur were splendid.
If nurse had only seen 1 or then
Her journey would have ended

She saw dear papa down the road
And then I so had to reach her
And papa saw or, as though she said
To him I she would reach her

And was coming in the road
Dear baby was in danger;
But a strong quickly picked her up,
And it was not a stranger.

'T was baby's father who copied
His little pet, and seized her,
And baby cried such treatment rough
Was not a thing that pleased her.

But father kissed her, smiling much,
She rode home on his shoulder,
She'll not go out alone again
Till she's a little older.

THE SELFISHNESS OF WOMEN.

We are so much in the way of hearing the unselfishness of women exploited by their admirers that it strikes upon us with a sudden jar when we hear some plain-spoken body cry out upon the sex as selfish. At a recent luncheon, where around an elegant table twenty clever women discussed topics of interest while they ate patties and ices, one young lady boldly proclaimed her conviction that women, if not inherently selfish, were at least more selfish than men. Assailed on all sides, she skilfully defended her position, declaring that one had only to go to the fashionable resorts, in summer or in winter, to prove the truth of what she said. "Think" she as sorted of the lonely weeks a man is forced to spend at home, while his wife and daughters are enjoying themselves at Bar Harbor or somewhere else in August, or at St. Augustine in February! The poor plodding male creature who pays the bills never expects a vacation beyond his month or his fortnight, regulated by the exigencies of business or the working force of the office; but madame and mademoiselle, they flit away as care-free as the birds, and never trouble themselves about the poor forlorn man who dines at his club and comes home to a cheerlessly lonely house."

"My husband hates society, and I adore it" said another. "Which is the more selfish, he or I? If I yield to his preference all the time, I develop selfishness in him, and surely that would be very undesirable, and, on the other hand, if I drag him away from his den and his newspaper to gay functions which he detests, I am developing selfishness in my own character. Either way I am in a difficulty. But I do not think I can be called selfish because I am not resigned to a purely domestic life."

"The old rule of mutual forbearance would seem to be the only one applicable," said a quiet little lady. "Perhaps the selfishness is principally in human nature."
Harper's Bazar

THE GAME OF 'SHADOW BUFF'.

An amusing pastime, and one that is invariably much enjoyed, is "shadow buff" which partakes somewhat of the form of a shadow pantomime

A three fold clothes horse is brought up from the laundry one about five feet high for preference. Across the three panels a sheet is stretched tautly, and a little lady, who is to play the part of Mademoiselle Buff, is seated in front of the screen, at a distance of a few feet At the back, a couple of candles are placed about eighteen inches from the frame. The various performers then pass behind the screen, of course disguising themselves by dress and gesture as much as possible, and it is the duty of Mademoiselle Buff to distinguish the little ones forming the procession, and to call out the names as they pass

Failure means a forfeit, in addition to remaining in penance till a correct guess has been given. Of course, those behind the screen should do their best to disguise their identity.

MOTHER, YOUR GIRL

Amont the practice of some of the young female population in using the public high way for their indiscriminate rambles, we are prompted to call attention of mothers and guardians to the fact that the girl who gives way to a desire to gad about the streets and cultivate the acquaintance of young men and act the simpering simpleton, is laying the foundation of a senseless after life Ten to one when married she will develop into a slatternly gossip, if no greater misfortune befalls her It is the girl who loves home and helps her mother that wins the model man and becomes an ornament to womanhood The girl who does this and devotes some of her spare time to reading, and strives for the grace of mental culture, commands the respect and esteem of everybody while the gadding ornament only wins the admiration that is not worth having

THE RUM CURSE IN EUROPE

The thirty fifth report of the Reformatory and Refuge union states that in Great Britain and Ireland 145,000 persons are every year committed to prison as drunkards, of whom 112,000 are men and the rest women An English paper, from statistics taken from the press of the United Kingdom reports the records of murders of women by inebriate husbands since Jan 1, 1889, to Jan 1, 1891 to be 3 004 In a late debate in the German reichstag it was stated that there are at present 11 000 persons in hospitals and insane asylums who are suffering from delirium tremens gives you a feeling of horror and dread. There is no longer necessity for its use in many diseases formerly regarded as incurable without cutting.

A SURGEON'S KNIFE

The Triumph of Conservative Surgery is well illustrated by the fact that RUPTURE or Hernia, is now radically cured without the knife and without pain. Clumsy, chafing trusses can be thrown away! They never cure but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death

TUMORS Ovarian, Fibroid (Uterine) and many others, are now removed without the peril of cutting operations.

PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula and other diseases of the lower bowel are permanently cured without pain or resort to the knife.

STONE in the Bladder, no matter how large, is crushed, pulverized, washed out and perfectly removed without cutting.

STRICTURE of Urinary Passage is also removed without cutting in hundreds of cases. For pamphlet, references and all particulars, send 10 cents (in stamps) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

TOOLS OF THE PYRAMID BUILDERS.

A two year's study at Gizeh has convinced Mr. Flinders Petrie that the Egyptian stone workers of 1,000 years ago had a surprising acquaintance with what have been considered modern tools Among the many tools used by the pyramid builders were both solid and tubular drills and strait and circular saws. The drills like those of to day, were set with jewels (probably corundum, as the diamond was very scarce), and even lathe tools had such cutting edges. So remarkable was the quality of the tubular drills, and the skill of the workmen, that the cutting marks in hard granite gave no indication of wear of the tool, while a cut a tenth of an inch was made in the hardest rock at each revolution, and a hole through both the hardest and softest material was bored perfectly smooth and uniform throughout.

MR. EDISON'S LABORATORY.

Mr Edison has challenged the sceptical to name one substance, organic or inorganic, which is not to be found in his laboratory. Every department of nature has yielded its tribute to the potent wizard. The bones of birds and animals, feathers, hides, teeth and horns, shining metals, bright crystals, variegated minerals, lie scattered in profusion; dainty shell and coral repose amongst mosses and seaweed; fragrant gums and spices recall memories of the fair Babe of Bethlehem. Chalks, resins, salts, and chemicals are heaped about in lavish plentitude. The collection embraces not only raw products, but specimens of nearly every human industry.

All the Egyptian paintings were executed according to a code of rules laid down by the priesthood.

What a tale of wasted thousands could be told by those advertisers who, after having interested and secured the attention of the people, stopped at a time when, if continued, the result

WOULD HAVE BEEN A FORTUNE.

It has been proven again and again that with Our advertising is the kind that pays. Advertisers who have stuck to it have become rich. The strength of advertising is in its continuity.

DON'T

Expect to grow rich from one insertion of an advertisement. The man who does will get more disappointment than profit from it. Continuous insertions of properly constructed matter aid men endowed with sensible ideas to build up a business. The business so built up, if carefully looked after, makes them rich. Continuous advertising helps men to accumulate fortunes; it doesn't do so unaided, however. Which leads us to say that there are many well-to-do men using the FREE PRESS by the year.
