Prices Down Better Than Wages Up

Tom Moore, the Canadian Labor leader, has given good advice to wage-earning classes when he points out that there is no advantage in having wages raised when prices go up correspondingly at the same time. What is needed is a reduction in prices, and wages at present levels would be found to be adequate. All that is needed to secure lower prices is increased production. There has been a dread, not unnatural perhaps in the light of much past experience, among wage-earners that if production were increased the result would be not merely to bring down costs, but to bring wages down also. Both parties to the contract have learned enough in the past few years to understand that the only satisfactory relation that can exist between them is one of mutual confidence and equitable division of the results of activities carried out in common. This is the essence and spirit of co-operation which cannot be had by the elimination, partial or complete, of any element heretofore necessary in building up a successful business. The day for "hogging" things, either by employer or employed, has gone past. Stability is seen more than ever to be necessary after the experience of the Great War. Mutual understanding, consultations and agreements under some such plan as the Whitley councils, honest work and honest pay, are means by which the normal and healthy tone of society may be regained. Exorbitant and unreasonable demands, whether on one side or the other, will only perpetuate the present state of affairs, which it is the desire of all wise and experienced people to compose as soon as possible.

Watery Syrup Guilty

Maitland Emmke—R. Bristowe of Arthur, Ontario, was fined $50 and costs in the Police Court last week for selling at the St. Lawrence market maple syrup which had been adulterated to the extent that it contained 40 per cent. of water.

Boss as Editor

Most any man can be an editor. All an editor has to do is sit at his desk six days a week, four weeks a month and seven months a year and edit such stuff as this: Mrs. Jones of Cactus Creek is the owner of a hen that lays eggs. Mr. Smith of Sagebrush called on us last week. He is a tall man and fell landing in a peach tree. While Harold Hopkins was visiting his Miss Violet at her home on Poke Ridge last week he took a few minutes off to shoot a hawk that was molesting the chickens belonging to his father. Mr. Brown of Bullfrog Junction was in town last week looking after his interests here. Mr. Brown is a large stockholder in the Bullfrog Junction Weekly Howler.

Why he didn't "dig down"

For the following reasons a citizen stated he was unable to send the subscription asked for.

I have been held up, held down, sandbagged, walked on, sat on, flattened out and squeezed first by the Canadian Government for War Tax, the excess Profit Tax, Victory Bonds, Auto Tax, and by every society [illegible] organization that the inventive mind of man can invent, to extract what I may or may not possess.

From the society of John the Baptist, the G.A.C., United Veterans' League, the Women's Relief, Navy League, the Red Cross, the Black Cross, the Purple Cross, and Double Cross, the Children's Home, the Dorcas Society, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Jewish Relief, Belgian Relief, Armenian Relief and every hospital in town.

The Government has so governed my business that I don't know who owns it. I am inspected, suspected, examined and re-examined, informed, required and commanded, so that I don't know who I am, where I am, or why I am here. All that I know is that I am supposed to be an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need desire or hope of the human race; and because I will not sell all I have and go out and beg, borrow or steal money to give away I have been cussed, discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, held up, hung up, robbed and nearly ruined; and the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what in h—is coming next.

MANITOBA DIVORCES.

Province Is Not the "Reno of Canada."

"No, distinctly no!" replied Chief Justice Mathers when asked if Manitoba would ever become the Mecca for divorce pilgrims.

"I would term Manitoba divorce laws as eminently safe and sane," he declared. "On the one hand there must be a very good ground before the courts will grant divorce. The applicant must show that he or she is really entitled to relief from conditions of hardship. On the other hand, the law is framed so as to be within the reach of rich and poor alike."

With good grounds, costs for a divorce will not exceed $50 or $60, according to legal experts.

Approximately 15 applications for divorce have been granted by decree nisi since the law became operative for Manitoba last September. In six months from the date of issue the decrees become final upon application.

"That may seem to be a high total for the period of five months, but conditions which have been responsible for large numbers of divorces are going rapidly out of effect," Chief Justice Mathers said. "The great majority of applications have been made by returned soldiers. Abnormal conditions existed during the war and what is true for Manitoba can be said, generally, to be true for the whole world.

"Again, there are many cases which go back to conditions of several years' standing. Formerly there was no way of obtaining divorce except by Act of Parliament. The expense of such proceedings made divorce prohibitive except for the wealthy. Many potential divorce cases have piled up during the years before the Manitoba law became operative and they are just coming out now."

Considerable decrease in the number of divorces is expected when applications from these two classes are exhausted.

Flying In the Arctic.

Canadian aviators, with active service experience, are being sought through the Aero Club of Canada to fly to Moose Factory, located at the south end of James Bay, and later to photograph the Belcher Islands, on the east coast of Hudson Bay.

The Belcher Island flight is looked upon as a difficult one owing to the inaccuracies of the maps. On the islands there is a great quantity of iron and oil, and the description given by the discovering parties make the pilots scratch their heads in wonder as they view the Canadian charts. The islands are mere pin points on the maps, and far out in the Hudson Bay, while those who "know" state there is a lake 40 miles long on one island, and that they are approximately 60 miles from the main land.

When the Belcher Island flight is undertaken charts and maps will be disregarded. The aviators will seek a clear dry atmosphere, and ascend approximately ten thousand feet or over, giving a view of nearly one hundred miles. They will keep the main coast in view, parallel it, and look to the open bay for the islands.

The pilots on their return will be able to give the correct outline of the bay, and will have photographs of the islands, with their accurate location.

Cattle Brands.

The origin of the cattle brand dates back to the dim dawn of history when the brand was necessary to identify cattle in the annual roundups. With the coming of wire fences this necessity largely was obviated, but the brand serves still to place guilt upon cattle thieves.

Ingenious methods sometimes are used by cattle thieves to change existing brands upon stolen stock.

The cattle brands of some ranches have come to stand for honesty in breeding, weight and dealing.

In the record of brands every letter of the alphabet is represented, and most letters are found in three or four positions. An exception is "O" and when flattened at the sides, it is called a mashed "O", link or a goose egg.

"N" is not susceptible to many positions, and turned to an angle of 45 degrees, the "tumbling K" on its back horizontally, the "lazy K" and reversed a fourth position.

There is the "spur" ranch, the "Turkey Track" ranch, and the "lazy X."

Ring Protects Wearers.

The "luck" ring of Mr. Wm. R. Switzer, of Toronto, has returned to its owner for the third time. The ring is of plain gold, surmounted by a Masonic emblem, but, according to its owner, for the third time.

The ring saw its service during the American campaign in the Philippines. Mr. Switzer presented the ring to a friend leaving for active service, with the request that he return it if he survived. In due time, the friend and ring returned. Later, Mr. Switzer presented the ring to another friend, who was sailing to South Africa with the Canadian forces. Again the talisman protected its wearer; and at the close of the campaign the friend restored the ring to its owner. Pte. Sydney Sawley, of the A.S.C., was the next to wear the ring, during his four years overseas, and on his return to Toronto he restored the ring to Mr. Switzer several weeks ago.

Cold!

Fifty-nine degrees below zero was registered in some parts of the populated sections of Canada this winter around the first of the year, according to weather bureau statistics. Better (or worse) than that was done by Jack Frost in Sweden, where the temperature registered 70.4 below zero.
