Yes men, they're snag-proof!

HIGH PRESSURE LOW TEMPERATURE PROCESS

It's Snag-Proof, Men!

And You Know What That Means In A Rubber Boot

You know it means longer wear, more comfort and cheaper footwear.

You know it means you will not have to buy rubber boots as often as before, because Life-Buoy "Snag Proof" boots will last you longer.

The Kaufman laboratories have found the way to cure rubber without the perishing heat used heretofore. The LIFE and elasticity are left in Life-Buoy Rubber.

A specially woven fabric base is used, every fibre of which is permeated and impregnated with purest fluid rubber. This means a moisture-proof, non-rotting base for the high-grade Kaufman-cured rubber surface.

There is no substitute for Life-Buoys.

They cost no more than others.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE

The annual banquet of the Sons of St. George was held in their club room on Wednesday evening last, the tables being under the charge of the entertainment committee, T. Herbert, convenor, and a very pretty sight—for awhile. Before the meal, pictures of the late L. W. Dann and W. F. Knight were unveiled, and a one-minute silence observed. The evening concluded with the members, seated in a circle, each contributing an item of entertainment, when called on by the President, J. Brandford. The National Anthem and the benediction closed a very pleasant evening.

"The Ottawa Spotlight"

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Ottawa, February 5th—A very important question was settled last week. If the Liberals should be returned to power in the forthcoming election, will they scrap the Ottawa agreements. Those who believe that these agreements have resulted in a much enlarged trade with the United Kingdom have naturally been a little anxious about this matter. Premier Bennett the other day in the House said that the agreements had saved Canada "from national bankruptcy." Hon. H. ai Hanson, minister of trade and commerce, said they were "the very bulwark" of Canadian trade at present. Apple growers and lumbermen are most easily impressed with the value of the Ottawa pacts, because the shipments of those commodities to the United Kingdom have been very heavy.

There is, of course, another side to the story, and it was well told last week. The Ottawa agreements were signed at the very depth of the depression. Some increase in trade was to be expected. It is significant, perhaps, that in the past year combined trade with the Mother Country has risen 90 million dollars; and with the United States 130 million dollars. The Ottawa agreements hardly explain that.

Will Seek Amendments

To answer the question propounded in paragraph one: The Liberals will, if elected to power, immediately seek from the Mother Country and other Dominions the right to remove from the agreements certain objectionable features. If they get them—and they are satisfied there will be no opposition—the agreements will continue in force. If they don't, they reserve the right to abolish them, or to permit them to expire without renewal. In any event they are pledged to foster trade in all possible ways with all countries, especially within the Empire.

The feature which is most objectionable, judging from Mr. Mackenzie King's speech, is that which "pegs tariffs" by promising that the preference given the Empire will not be reduced. An example is worth a page of explanation. If the duty against American oranges is 25 cents a cubic foot (and it is) and the British note is free; that 25 cents a cubic foot duty is "rivetted on," as the Liberal leader said. It can't be reduced without breaking the clause of the Ottawa agreements which promises, within the life of the agreements (five years) not to reduce preferences.

Plenty of Jockeying

A vast amount of jockeying for position goes on these days; easily apparent from the Press Gallery, perhaps not so evident across the country. It is something like a massive chess game; Bennett moves, and places Mackenzie King at disadvantage; Mackenzie King consults with his "Board of Strategy" and comes back with a subtle counter-move which for a day or two puts Bennett in a jam. The tide of political fortunes seems to rise and fall. This may be only an illusion. Premier Bennett's radio addresses seemed to add tremendously to his chances at the polls. The Speech From the Throne didn't hurt him. The first hour of Mackenzie King's first speech seemed to assist Bennett; that was the high-water mark of Conservative fortunes. Since then the government's stock has fallen. Mackenzie King has handled himself very smartly on the reform legislation; and his statement on the Conference agreements helped his position. The production of the unemployment insurance legislation created a disillusionment which takes some of the frosting off the reform cake. Of course the session is young and both parties are manoeuvring skilfully. Next week the tables may be turned. Or Mackenzie King may score further. The C.C.F. members are delighted to see everybody so enthusiastic about reform. But it's hard to satisfy reformers. Now that Bennett and King are moving left, some of the Co-operating Groups are moving still further left. Perhaps that's their function: pioneers in the field of social legislation. They can at least point to numerous reforms which they were the first to advocate in the House.

Unemployment Insurance

Unemployment Insurance: That's worth an article in itself. The chance will come when the bill is in committee. It looks like a carefully studied scheme; and will help in the next depression, no doubt. After you've paid in 25 cents a week for 40 weeks (total of $10) you can draw, if a married man with children, as much as $13 or even more a week for 19 weeks (or a total of $236) in case you lose your job.

Thousands of farmers in Saskatchewan and Ontario will be interested to know of the amendments to the Farm Loan Act, which will enable the Board to loan money to farmers in these provinces for the first time. The present rate on first mortgage is 5½ per cent; on second mortgage 6 per cent. Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Finance Minister, said that he hoped this might be further reduced one half per cent. In all, 90 million dollars is to be available for farm loans in Canada. The consolidation of farm debt at lower interest rates is an avowed aim of these measures, as the board will loan to pay debts as well as for other purposes.

REGAN PREACHING IN PONTIAC COUNTY

Rev. Dr. John Pringle Accepts Missionary Assignment at Age of 80

Sydney, N.S., Jan. 17—Rev. Dr. John Pringle, veteran of the Yukon goldfields and former army chaplain, has accepted a new missionary assignment at the age of 80. According to word from the United Church of Canada headquarters in Toronto, he will carry on mission work in Bermuda for the next month or two.

Dr. Pringle, a native of Charlottetown, has been preaching since 1879, when he delivered his first sermons in the county of Pontiac, Quebec. He was ordained at Georgetown, Ont., in 1878, and occupied pulpits there and at Kildonan, Man.; Fort Arthur, Ont., Rochester, Minnesota, and St. Paul, Minnesota, before taking the Yukon trail in 1898.

After much good missionary work and many adventures, Dr. Pringle came to Sydney in 1904. The war brought new adventures, but after serving overseas four years he returned to Sydney, remaining until 1925, when he went to North Thompson Mission, British Columbia. He has been pastor emeritus of St. Andrew's United Church in Sydney since 1927.

It is the opinion of the various agricultural authorities in Canada that the present coarse grain situation in the Dominion appears to indicate that Canadian farmers generally would be well advised to sow a full acreage of oats in 1935.

Processing Canadian Fruits

Improved quality has been an important factor in increasing the total domestic consumption of canned fruits and vegetables in Canada, as well as opening the door to expanding foreign markets. Provided quality and continuity of supply are maintained, a larger market seems assured. These factors are progressively operative and, if adhered to, justify the expectation that the volume of fruits and vegetables processed in Canada will continue to grow. Already a considerable part of the Canadian production so used is likely to increase. This trend should be impressed upon growers in order that the best varieties and the best quality for processing may be produced in sufficient quantities.

Market for Barley in Bacon and Beef

There is practically no limit to the production of barley in Canada and recent tests show that it produces better bacon and beef than other grains. It is proving fully the equal of corn when fed with suitable supplements in the form of home-grown leguminous roughage. Barley can be used in almost any proportion of the grain ration up to one hundred per cent. As a hog feed it develops an entirely satisfactory class of bacon, which is more than can be said for corn fed in equal proportions, and as a feed for beef cattle barley is undoubtedly one of the best of our Canadian grown coarse grains. The increased use of barley and other coarse grains at their present low levels will make for much better quality in the beef being marketed, and this in turn will help create a demand for more beef.

Your Seed Supply

It is not too early in the season for a farmer to be thinking about his seed supply for the coming Spring. In far too many cases no thought is given to the matter until a few days before the seed is required and by that time it may be difficult to obtain, and he will be compelled to take seed of inferior quality. It is a good policy to be sure of your seed supply early in the season. The farmer who is growing a standard variety or grain that is yielding well and is adapted to his farm would be well advised to use it for his own seeding requirements. It has been proven that if such grains are well cleaned, free from weed seeds, mixtures and other impurities and the very best sown it would improve rather than deteriorate.

On a lot of farms there are bins of the very best grains that are being fed to our livestock or being sold for feeding purposes. Would it not be good business to set up the fanning mill at this time of the year when farm work is not so pressing and clean this grain or haul it to your nearest cleaning centre? Smaller grains may be chopped or taken home and fed whole. They make good feed, but poor seed, the best is none too good to sow, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap. Start early, clean and reclean your best grain before feeding and keep the best for seeding purposes. It will also pay you from a financial stand point. The tendency is for prices to go up as the season advances and the supply gets less plentiful. It is good farm practice and you will save time and money by being sure of your seed supply early.

Eastern Canada Potatoes Now Under Regulation

The Eastern Canada Potato Marketing Scheme submitted by representatives of the potato industry, has been approved by Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, and the Governor in Council, upon the recommendation of the Dominion Marketing Board.

The scheme embraces the provinces of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Ontario. The potato growers in these provinces have been receiving inadequate returns for their potatoes and the position of the growers has been particularly difficult this year. A very large crop and lack of organization has resulted in demoralized marketing conditions. The 1934 potato crop for the four provinces is placed at 43,308,000 bushels, an increase of 8,198,000 bushels compared with the production in 1933.

Under the scheme, it is expected orderly marketing will result primarily through control of the grades of potatoes entering the commercial channels of trade and potatoes of inferior grades will not be allowed to glut the market. Consignment selling, which has been contributing largely to price demoralization will be prohibited and sales will be made under firm contracts. The scheme also provides for the development of export markets and for increasing domestic consumption of potatoes.

Moreover, it is believed the utilization of potatoes in various forms which might be marketed in this country or find an outlet to other countries, has not been fully explored and that organization of those concerned with potatoes will greatly facilitate the type of work necessary to develop such possibilities.

The proposed scheme was submitted by representative potato growers and dealers. Originating with a meeting of representatives of the potato industry held at Ottawa under the auspices of the Canadian Horticultural Council, the scheme has since been endorsed by meetings of producers and dealers held at central points through all the important potato producing areas in the four provinces.

The scheme will be administered by a Local Board.

ACCIDENTS AND COMPENSATION

There were 4,376 accidents reported to The Workmen's Compensation Board during the month of January, as compared with 4,338 during December, and 3,801 during January of last year. The fatal cases numbered 30, as compared with 18 last January.

The total benefits awarded amounted to $504,070.86 of which $450,526.54 was for compensation and $56,543.32 for medical aid. The total benefits awarded last January were $346,370.01.

Sometime we would like to hear the officiating clergyman vary the form by announcing: "I now pronounce you man and wife—and may the best man win."

COUNTY COUNCIL

Halton county council met in session on Tuesday, Feb. 5th at Milton, when considerable routine business was transacted.

At the last meeting the council asked the Bank of Nova Scotia to reduce the interest rate of five per cent. but the bank turned down the request, the Manager explaining to the council the Bank's position. The explanation did not meet with the approval of the council and further steps will be taken by the council to secure a 4½ per cent. rate of interest.

Mr. Rogers, of the Relief Department of the provincial government, addressed the council on the carrying on of relief work in the northern part of the county the same as last year. The government will not recognize counties in relief schemes, but as a result of a deputation to the government recently, an experiment is being tried in Halton, and if successful might prove the basis of solving a big problem for the government, according to Mr. Rodgers. The necessary details were worked out, and the council approved of the scheme.

Geo. Currie, reeve of Esquesing, was appointed to the good roads committee for a term of five years, and V. Hall, reeve of Trafalgar, was appointed in place of W. H. Morden. These two members, along with Reeve Thorpe of Nelson, Reeve Campbell of Nassagaweya, and Reeve Harris of Burlington, will form the road committee for 1935.

Council endorsed resolutions from other municipalities. One was that all persons seeking municipal offices should be assessed as others. Another one favored the taxation of excessive incomes, salaries and monies earned by allan companies in Canada, and who send their money elsewhere. Routine business occupied the remainder of the session.—Champion.

TAXATION OF MOTORISTS

Taxation of motorists in Ontario has risen on an ever-ascending scale until, in the short space of five years, for instance, in gasoline tax alone, their contribution to the provincial treasury has increased from 13.1 per cent of the total general revenue to 24.6 per cent, a jump of practically 80 per cent, according to a study of provincial public accounts.

In 1929 gasoline taxes represented 13.1 per cent of the total provincial revenue; in 1930, 18.7 per cent; 1931, 34.6 per cent; 1932, 22.7 per cent; 1933, 34.16 per cent while figures for 1934 are expected to show another increase. In registrations, the percentage remained fairly stationery.

Official statistics show only 14.77 per cent of the people of Ontario own cars, so on this basis, according to the latest available data, this relatively small percentage of the population paid $38.70 out of every $100 collected by the provincial treasurer in 1933 in two taxes alone—gasoline and registrations—in addition to paying their share of all other imports including Dominion customs' levies, etc. at the time they purchased their machine.

Evidence is gradually accumulating to show that motorists resent this apparent inequality in levying of taxes and are becoming restive to the point where, eventually, they will demand some relief.

The situation is aggravated, in the opinion of motor club executives, by the fact that, generally speaking, taxes from motorists are not earmarked for the purpose for which they are levied—roads—but are used for general expenditures.
