TED STULL, 52 PIONEER AIRMAN

Mrs. W. J. Roe, R. R. 1, Georgetown has received word of the death of her cousin E. W. (Ted) Stull, 52, a well-known figure in Canadian commercial aviation, after a brief illness.

Mr. Stull, a veteran of more than 30 years in air transport, was western region operations manager for Trans Canada Airlines. Born in Sudbury, he was a graduate of the Sudbury School of Mines, but turned to a flying career in 1923 with the Ontario provincial air service and later with the former Western Canada Airways.

From 1930 to 1932, Mr. Stull flew 1400 hours in night service, pioneering the prairie airmail run with Canadian Airways. He also helped pioneer the freighting of mining equipment and supplies into the Arctic with famous flyers Roy Brown, Milt Ashton and Jack Moar. One of the pioneers of the TCA, Mr. Stull joined the airline in 1938 shortly after it was formed.

He was the son of the late Willard Stull, a pioneer surveyor in the Sudbury district. He leaves a wife and twin daughters. His father was an old Georgetowner, receiving his education at the Stone School and Georgetown High School.
