

Hundreds of people have been in the habit of playing Lindsay Tennis Club lucky number games with the proceeds going to the club. These ardent players should visit the four tennis courts on Angeline Street north.

What a conversion and transformation has taken place — where there was once an old dump, now a beautiful tennis club is set up. All four courts have been lighted with heavy wattage and the courts are well taken care of.

The courts are as good as any and better than many. This fine achievement is due to the old and new "faithful" members of the club.

The executive are now considering the matter of painting the courts — possibly a light green and in this effort great care has to be taken to find a paint which will not rub off onto the fast bouncing balls.

New tennis members are required and young and old will be welcomed.

Another institution deserving of mention and attention is the Historical Society. Members of this institution have undertaken a progressive and ambitious programme which includes renovating and improving the buildings, improving the lighting, arranging for better displays of museum articles and better landscaping.

By dint of hard work on the part of a comparatively few members with financial assistance from many citizens, the Museum has developed to the stage where it is one of the finest smaller historical spots in the province.

It is amazing to see the very large number of items that have been presented to the Society. This coming summer it is expected that thousands of people will visit the museum, including hundreds of boys and girls.

Happ the police officer who is held in favourable respect by defenders and upholders of the law as well as by the offenders.

David H. Gordon, former police chief at Fenelon Falls was this type of man when he "walked the beat" in the northern village for upwards of 15 years. The former chief and Mrs. Gordon have retired to Fenelon Falls from Toronto where they have been welcomed.

Many friends in Lindsay and elsewhere well remember Dave Gordon, the law enforcement officer, for the manner in which he performed multitudinous duties as chief at Fenelon Falls as well as for the manner in which he participated in community activities, including his membership in the curling club.

The following item in the Fenelon Falls Gazette will be read with interest by many friends in Lindsay and elsewhere:

"We are pleased to welcome back to the village, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Gordon, who have returned from Toronto to make their home here."

Mrs. Gordon was employed for seven years with Ontario Highway Transport Board and later left to join the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario, where he has been employed for over three years.

On his departure to take up residence in Fenelon Falls, Mr. Gordon was presented by the Automotive Transport Association with an award for his contribution to the transport industry.

The staff presented him with a wrist-watch. Mr. Gordon was then presented with the typewriter he used to write his memoirs in his idle moments. Mr. Gordon, some time ago, had christened the typewriter "old faithful." Mrs. Gordon was presented with a bouquet of flowers.
