248th Battalion Notes

Lieut. Yule has made himself a great favorite in Durham by the enthusiastic manner in which he co-operated with everything musical in that town. He has been in great demand and assists regularly at the church services on Sunday, both as organist and as a vocal soloist, besides singing at various events during week days. In consequence of these and other activities, Lieut. Yule is meeting with good success in Durham.

A circular letter has been sent to the members of the 248th League by Captain Parsons, asking the co-operation in their obtaining of recruits. As a thank offering platoon for the victories lately achieved with "A strong, strong pull" results may be confidently looked for.

New clean posters everywhere. It looks like spring cleaning at Headquarters. These posters mean something to you, so read them carefully.

As soon as the roads are in shape for comfortable travelling for the public, the 248th Battalion intends paying visits to all the smaller centres.

The 248th Greys have a new supply of very attractive recruiting posters, most of them sent out from England and have already taken steps to post the County with them. Citizens generally are asked to assist the Battalions in giving these posters good locations and to help keep the posters in place. This is just one of the many little ways in which citizens can give patriotic support to Col. Rorke and his officers in bringing the Regiment up to full strength.

John H. Berwick of Shelburne writes as follows in the Free Press explaining the "strange phenomenon" given in our last issue: "Oliver McDowell is one of the few around here who have seen 'St. Elmo's fire,' as it is popularly called. This is an appearance sometimes seen, more especially in southern climates, during thunderstorms, of a brush or star of light at the top of masts, spires or other pointed objects. It is sometimes accompanied by a hissing noise and is of the same nature as the light caused by electricity streaming off from points connected with an electrical machine. This phenomenon occurs more or less during thunderstorms, but only a few around here have actually seen it. Sailors at sea frequently see such lights at the mast head and they consider it a sign that they have nothing to fear from the storm."

To demonstrate in every way the agricultural possibilities of Northern Ontario it is proposed now to establish a creamery at New Liskeard on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. The Ontario Department of Agriculture has already been engaged in selecting a type of dairy animal that will be suitable to the northern climate, and in order that settlers and farmers may have a market available the creamery will be established.

To meet the demand for agricultural labor the Director of Colonization is sending agents to points in the United States for the purpose of attracting men looking for this class of work to Ontario during the coming summer. A year ago this was tried with considerable success, and as the supply of that class of labor is even larger now, it is expected that an increased number will take advantage of the opportunity. Farmers desiring assistance should communicate with the Director of Colonization before the first of February and the applications will be dealt with in the order of receipt.

More Hun Barbarity.

A sentence of 12 years' imprisonment has been passed on Pte. W. (Billy) Brooke, son of Mrs. C. J. Brooke, of Ottawa, by the German military authorities. It is believed that Pte. Brooke refused to make munitions, which would be used against the Allies. The charge be was found guilty of was mutiny. On a postcard written on October 18 from Cologne, Germany, Pte. Brooke says: "You will be surprised, I know, to learn that I am confined in a military prison here, having received a sentence of 12 years on a charge of mutiny. Quite an experience, isn't it? As I am allowed to write only to relatives please tell Mr. M—— health and spirits good. Details in letter later. Pte. Brooke was one of the first Canadian division, going to France early in 1915. He was captured at Langemarck. He was first at Ceissen Prison camp, then at Celly, and later at Saltau, where the alleged mutiny took place. His father is the late C. J. Brooke, K.C. Apparently stricter regulations are made as to prisoners in the German camps writing home. The relatives of soldiers who had previously received letters regularly, as well as cards of acknowledgment frequently, in the last few months have received only a very few regulation cards. These have been from four to six weeks apart.
