W. H THURSTON EDITOR

Watch Our Chest

The Flesherton Adaance has started on its 37th year of publication. It was started in June 1881, by Mr. A. R. Fawcett, of the Burks Falls Arrow. Twenty-nine years ago, in August next, it was purchased by Mr. W. H. Thurston the present editor and controlled by him continually ever since. We have known Mr. Fawcett since he was a small boy, and Mr. Thurston since he took hold of the Advance. Both proprietors have done excellent work in the field at their disposal. The motto of the paper has been, "Truth before favor—Principles, not men" and we believe the editors have endeavored always to live up to the motto. We congratulate both on the excellence of their work and congratulate Flesherton on the high ideals of The Advance since it came into existence.—Durham Chronicle.

The Proper Spirit

The cynic who finds fault with certain officers for not reverting in rank in order to get to the front, finds a relieving instance in the example of Lieut. Claude Kormann of Hanover. Lieut.-Col. Rorke, when ordered overseas with the 248th Battalion found he had nine lieutenants when he only needed three. It placed him in an unenviable position for it was difficult for him to discriminate. Lining the nine young officers up, he placed the position before them stating that he could only take three lieutenants and asked if any of them would go as privates. The first to step forward was Lieut. Kormann. After saluting his colonel, the young Hanover officer said that he had recruited the boys from Hanover to go to war, and that for his part he was ready to go either as a lieut or as a private. That was the proper spirit, and Col. Rorke, not to be outdone in gallantry, replied : "You go overseas as one of my officers, Lieut. Kormann." Hats off to Claude.—Hanover Post.

There is a saying that a man who squeezes a dollar never squeezes his wife. After glancing over our subscription lists it is plain that there are a number of good married women in this country who are not getting the attention they deserve.

W. J. Teeter, a soldier from Owen Sound and a former implement agent at Shelburne, was before Judge Fisher on a charge of retaining $140 belonging to the International Harvesting Machinery Co. He pleaded guilty and was allowed out on suspended sentence.

Two hundred employees, or almost the entire pay-roll of the Malleable Iron Works, Owen Sound, went on strike last week. The men presented a petition asking for a ten hour day instead of one of eleven hours, in order that they might have an opportunity to plant gardens. The superintendent promptly discharged the man who presented the petition, and the other employees walked out.
