During the past winter Mr. McIntyre, of Durham, spent $40,000 in square timber. Of this amount $3000 were paid in Durham, 4,000 at Flesherton Station, $1,000 at Proton Station $4,000 at Dundalk, $4,000 in Chatsworth, and $4,000 in Owen Sound. The remainder was spent along the G. T. R. between Owen Sound and Elmwood, along the Credit Valley and other places.

A Gore Bay, Manitoulin Island, despatch says: Schoolhouse No. 1, Gordon, was struck by lightning during the storm on Sunday. The teachers and children had gathered and were rising to sing when the flash came. It came down the chimney and knocked the door off the stove. A number of the children were stunned by the violence of the concussion, and it was some time before they could be brought round.

Fire broke out at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning in the house occupied by Jas. McLean on the 16th con., Egremont, at Hinck's mill, McLean being the lessee of the mill. The building was burned to the ground and as the flames had full possession of the house before being noticed, the contents were all burned and Mrs. McLean we understand narrowly escaped in her night clothes. There was no insurance.—Mt. Forest Rep.

From sixty-nine—the largest number of persons in the county jail during the past winter—the number has been reduced to eleven. The vagrants have flitted in the balmy spring weather and will remain out of course until the frosty weather. There are only seven of that class in the institution. The other four are serving sentences on the following charges: Running an illicit still, burglary, breach of game law and abusive language.—Owen Sound Times.

Mrs. James Deans of Dundalk on Wednesday of last week underwent an operation for the removal of a tumor. About nine months ago she unfortunately struck her leg against a marble dresser. It is supposed the tumor resulted from this. The operation was performed by Dr. McWilliams, assisted by Dr. Mitchell and Dr. Carter of Flesherton. Mrs Deans stood the severe ordeal much better than she or her friends anticipated. Good hopes are now entertained by her physician and friends of her ultimate recovery.—Herald.

The cry of dull times never stops an up-to-date merchant from advertising. He knows that the duller the times the more hustling, one way and another, he must do to keep up his sales. He marks some goods lower—he keeps his store more attractive—he watches his customers close—he keeps his clerks busier—his eye is on every part of the business—he is thoroughly wide-awake and makes every effort in the direction to get the dollars that must be spent in stores somewhere, hence he advertises. This is one way and the best way to attract the people to his store; he can do business, if he has the right goods at the right prices.

The Wingham white-caps whose sentence was some time ago cut down to one year, have lately been set at liberty. Their names are Charles Manser, Robert Harrison, Albert Martin, Thomas Montgomery and George Phippen. On May 13 of last year they pleaded guilty to manslaughter, and Chief Justice Meredith sentenced Harrison and Phippen to three years each; Charles Manser and Thomas Montgomery to two years each. Martin got off with six months and was long ago released. It will be remembered that these men took an old man out of his bed when the thermometer was below zero and so maltreated him that he died of his injuries and of exposure.

An action of rather unusual nature has been commenced by Adam Jones against Robert S, McBride of Mono. It appears from the proceedings that some time ago McBride was driving a cow to the Orangeville market The cow seems to be a descendent of the cow with the crumpled horn that tossed the dog that worried the cat, that killed the rat that ate the malt that was used in the house that Jack built, for when she came to Jones' blacksmith shop she burst into the premises like an enraged tigress and tossed Jones about on her antlers until he was scarcely recognizable. He was, however, put together, but it was weeks before he recovered, and now seeks $2000 damages for his loss of time, medical expenses and pain of body caused by the enraged bovine.

On Saturday last, while Miss Ethel McCartney, youngest daughter of Andrew McCartney, farmer, was visiting at a neighbor's, Mrs. Wm. Boyd, she met with an accident which caused her death. She and her young comrades were enjoying themselves on a swing in the barn when she noticed the pole to which the rope was fastened slipping from its place. She called to those who were about her that the swing was about to fall, but before they could stop it, the pole came down, striking her on the head, inflicting a severe gash and causing almost instant death. She was taken to her home on the 7th line St. Vincent. Her remains were interred in Ducksberry cemetery on the Sunday following, the funeral being largely attended. She was about 14 years of age, and will be missed by her young associates.—Owen Sound Times.

Roch Marien purchased a horse from an Adjala farmer on Thursday for $50. In paying the purchase money, Roch, by mistake, gave the man a $50 bill instead of a $20, thus overpaying him $30. The money was all in Bank of Hochelaga bills and the $50 bill was the only one of that denomination that Roch had in his possession that day. Later on the Adjala man turned up at the Bank of Commerce and had the $80 changed into that bank's money. Teller Kivell afterwards heard of Roch's loss and was thus enabled to identify the man who had profited by the mistake. Constable Marshall drove out to Adjala that evening and by midnight was back with the money. The Adjala man admitted that he had been overpaid but appeared to think that he was entitled to keep the $30 until the loss was discovered and the recipient of the money was located. This was his standard of honesty.—Advertiser Orangeville.
