Fruits of Inersoll-ism.

That eloquent and in some sense amusing demolisher of creeds and panegyrist of an indefinite system of true goodness, Col. Robert Ingersoll, makes a good show, and plenty of people who have few or no religious convictions hear him for the fun of the thing—for the amusement to be had from his wit and humor. Such of his hearers as ever do any thinking for themselves may know that a funny man is never so uproariously funny as when he is making light of things deemed sacred by others. It is a cheap wit and a coarse humor which deliberately selects these topics for ridicule, and it is dull intellect which finds an item in it in such ribaldry. As speech is free, and as among sixty millions of people there are bound to be many who will find recreation in things which to others would be distasteful, it is not surprising that when Ingersoll lectures he draws a crowd, or that under such circumstances he continues to lecture. The people who hear him net him about a dollar apiece. Stripped of all his mockery, fustian and rhetorical eloquence, the gospel which he preaches is to be happy; lovely, generous and kind, and, similarly reduced to plain English, his idea of religion is that it "lives on the unpaid labor of others, enslaves the body, holds in chains the soul, perplexes the imagination of children, appeals from reason to brute force, and persecutes for opinion's sake." That these last mentioned things are not of religion, and that they are to be found where there is no religion, is proved by the condition of affairs in the town of Liberal, Mo., a community after Ingersoll's own heart. The town was founded as an infidel settlement and was widely advertised as such. Many of Ingersoll's followers went there, bought land and settled. For a time it appeared to flourish, for it had "no God and no hell," but in the course of five years it had become a failure of a town and a total wreck as an experiment in sociology. Why? Because the founder of this God forsaken hole turned out to be a shrewd speculator who had land to sell, and who sold it. Because the lovely and cherubic infidels who gathered there could not live in harmony. Because factions were formed and feuds engendered. Because the young became loose in their morals and apt scholars at the feet of free-love advocates and other cranks. Because when dissentions arose new towns were laid out, the old one going into decay. Because hundreds of families, rather than submit to the autocracy of the founder of the town, or that of other self-appointed leaders, moved away, and because, owing to the general bad reputation of the place, the people of the surrounding country avoid it as they would a plague spot. These are human weaknesses, to be found in Christian as well as infidel communities, but the difference between the two is this: in Christian communities an effort is made, and successfully so in thousands of cases, to overcome the evils complained of, while in the town of Liberal, where Bob Ingersoll's moonlight and moshes doctrine was indeed the results so that there are nothing Col. Ingersoll cares at commending human weaknesses, is forced by no creed and taught by no faith. He demolishes men of straw. His performances may be worth the money paid for them, judged merely as exhibitions of what a gifted man can do with language, but as intellectual treats they are so insubstantial as to be dear at any price.—Chicago Herald.

CATARRH—A NEW TREATMENT.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in medicine, medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for Catarrh. Out of 2,000 patients treated during the past six months, fully thirty per cent. have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is more than the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent. of the patients presenting themselves for other practitioners are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures are proved a curse to all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adopted his cure to its extermination. Dixon compounds he claims the Catarrh is practically cured. A Lung cure for consumption, asthma, etc., is now offered. Often four years ago, are cures still. No one who has ever attempted to cure Catarrh in this manner will use other treatment less than one dollar a vial. The application of the remedy is simple, and can be done at home, and the present success of this treatment is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs. A. H. DIXON & SON, 305 King East, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for their treatise on Catarrh.—Montreal Star, Nov. 17, 1882. 1yr

The Orangemen.

The Grand Orange Lodge of British America concluded its business on the 3rd inst., and adjourned, after deciding to hold the next meeting in Toronto. At the morning session Past Grand Master Merrick, D. P., was presented with a magnificent gold watch and chain, suitably inscribed, a mark of appreciation of his zeal in the interests of the Order.

The following officers were elected: Grand Master, W. J. Parkhill; Deputy Grand Master, N. C. Wallace, M. P.; Grand Chaplain, Rev. Rural Dean Cooper, B. D.; Grand Secretary, Secretary, Thos. Keyes; Grand Treasurer Wm. Anderson; Grand Director of Ceremonies, William White; Grand Lecturer, James Evans; Deputy Grand Chaplains, Rev. Bros. Waller, Sanwell, Hallowell, Hannah, Lattson Hyland, Rumps, Pontlet, Fitzgerald and O'Meara; Deputy Grand Secretary, J. J. Vanduzen; Deputy Grand Treasurer, Wm. Lockheart; Deputy Grand Lecturers, Bros. J. Graham, John McCaugney, Jas. Burn, Jas. Elliott, P. J. Cardolan, Angus Benton and B. B. Beddome.

Beware of Imitations.

Since Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has become celebrated, a number of unprincipled persons have been endeavoring to palm off Electric and Eclectric Oil for the genuine Dr. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL. Beware of these similar named articles. If their originators had any faith in the healing properties of their own nostrums they would like honest men, give them a name of their own, and not try to sell them on the reputation of another; but as they know their preparations have no merit, they resort to the most unprincipled means of selling them by getting a name as near as possible to Eclectric. We therefore ask the public when purchasing to see that the name Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is on the front of the wrapper, and the signature of Northrop & Lyman, the proprietors for Canada on the back.

United States Wheat Crop.

"The reports thus come are indicate a yield this year ranging from about 330,000,000 bushels at the minimum to 360,000,000 bushels with the present probability that the latter figure will prove much nearer the truth. To this is to be added, for estimate of the year's supply, the large surplus remaining from last year, according to moderate estimates from 100,000,000 bushels. This will give, in any case, a supply exceeding the consumption and exports for the past year. Meanwhile the indications point to a generally large yield in Europe, the dispatches on Sunday indicating that the change of weather particularly in Great Britain, was regarded as highly favourable to the growing crop. If the demand from abroad proves less rather than greater the demand last year, the supply available in this country will be so much the more exceed probable demands for consumption and export. There is really no danger of scanty or inadequate supplies of food. The only danger is that food may be made unduly costly by the operations of speculators, with exaggerated reports as their basis.—New York Tribune.

A TRUE STATEMENT.

"Kind words can never die," and there are many but kind words spoken regarding Hagyard's Yellow Oil, that old reliable remedy for external and internal use. It cures rheumatism, deafness, croup, sore throat, and all soreness and wounds of the flesh.

The wheat crop of Maryland is being greatly damaged by the attacks of the Hessian fly. The same pest has also nearly devastated the wheat valley of Kansas.

Royal Visits.

The visits of monarchs to the outlying sections of their dominions sometimes have the happy tendency to promote kingly kindness and allegiance. Even poor provinces go to considerable expense to give the reception the appearance of a hearty welcome. If the preparation could be relied on as the measure of cordiality, a larger royal confidence. But there is an unsafe reliance on all popular demonstrations of joy; the bunting, the bugles, the banners are all doing duty, but, alas, the real thing itself is a microscopic commodity. A similar remark applies to the weeds of mourning; there are, indeed, the signs, but the cloth does the mourning. In old times, and in Egypt at the present day, there were and are professional mourners; men and women to be hired to be sad for us. Really, with all our boasted enlightenment, what better are we? When the penumbra of disgrace fell about Charles the first of England, one of his subjects spat in his face. "Poor souls," cried the unhappy king, "they would sell their prince for a sixpence." The corpse of William the Conqueror was left where it fell till a French knight took pity and removed it. He was dead and no longer dreaded, and, as he was hated, he was left to be and rot. These visits of monarchs are like the visits of rich men to poor relations; nothing is brought, and the poor country is made poorer by the expense of entertainment. Our great ones should be received without ovations and permitted to return without molestation, just as other gentlemen, provided they behave and pay their bill.

BETTER THAN GOLD.

A good name, good health, a good companion and a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil are among the first requisites for human happiness. Yellow Oil cures Rheumatism, Sprains, Lameness, Bruises, Burns, Frost Bites, Croup, Sore Throat, and all Pain and Inflammation.

A Considerate Coloured Man.

He tapped the egg gently with his knife, and it popped, and all the people over the house began to examine the gas fixtures to see if the gas was properly turned off.

"This egg hears seem to be quite fresh," remarked Gilhooly, having opened the window.

"I s'pected dat aig wasn't all right," remarked the coloured waiter.

"Why then didn't you tell me so?" exclaimed Gilhooly.

"Bekase, sah, I wasn't quite sure ob hit, and I'se always willing to gib a gemmen de benefit ob the doubt."

"But you told me the egg was perfectly fresh; that it was laid yesterday."

"I tole yer dat bekase I didn't want to be too previous like in spilling yer appetite."—Texas Siftings.

A RLIABE RESULT.

Mr. Blonger, of Hamilton, Ont., suffered for many years with a painful running sore upon one of his legs, which baffled all attempts to heal until he used Burdock Blood Bitters, which speedily worked a perfect cure.

Rev. Dr. Talmage, in a recent sermon on amusements, used the following words:—"I would to God that the time might soon come when in all our colleges and theological seminaries, as at Princeton, a gymnasium shall be established. We spend seven years of hard study in preparation for the ministry, and come out with bronchitis and dyspepsia and liver complaint, and then crawl up into the pulpit, and the people say, 'Don't he look heavenly?' because he looks sickly.

The wife of Mr. J. Kenedy, Dixie P. O., was cured of a chronic cough by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. The best throat and lung healer known.

Only thirty-five Christian Israelites were known to be in all England at the beginning of this century. Since then more than one hundred Jews have been ordained clergymen of the Church of England, and there are estimated to be 3,000 Christian Israelites in England, in one way or other it is thought that 1,500 Jews leave the synagogue for the Christian Church every year.

THE BEST YET.

The best blood cleanser known to medical science is Burdock Blood Bitters. It purifies the blood of all foul humors and gives strength to the weak.

The statement of revenue and expenditure on account of the Consolidated Fund of the Dominion, for the eleven months ending May 31st, shows an increase in receipts of $1,100,000 over the corresponding period in 1881. The surplus up to May 31st was over $1,400,000. The revenue for May also showed an increase of $990,000 over that for the same month last year.

Wm. Farr, of Brooklyn, L. I., says: "On the recommendation of my physician, Dr. Wm. Vyse, I have given my boy, was dangerously ill of Marasmus, your Emulsion, with excellent effect, and he is at present as hale and hearty as can be wished."

Temperance lectures have a fine subject for a moral in the case of Mrs. Nancy Riggs, late of Burton Constable, Yorkshire, England. Mrs. Riggs died at the age of 105. Not only had spirits been with her a regular article of diet, but, to the last, she smoked several ounces of tobacco every week.

Mr. A. Fisher, of the Toronto Globe, says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure to the public. I have suffered with Dyspepsia for some time, and have tried remedies without receiving any benefit. Being recommended to do so I used one bottle, and must say that I find the results perfectly satisfactory, not having been troubled with this distressing disease since, and would recommend others similarly afflicted to purchase a bottle at once and try it, as I am satisfied they will receive benefit from its use."

THE ALEMBIC OF THE BODY.—The stomach is the alembic of the human system. In it those wondrous chemical changes take place which result in the transmutation of the food into blood. When it is vigorous the necessary processes of the digestion and assimilation go on uninterrupted, and the system is suitably nourished. When it is feeble or disordered, they are obstructed, and being in consequence ill supplied with blood of a vitalizing quality, the physical organism becomes weak and feeble, the nerves suffer, the liver and bowels are semi-paralyzed, and appetite and sleep fail. The disastrous consequences may, however, be prevented or remedied with the supreme stomachic and aperient, NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, a medicine of rare purity and efficacy, which reforms a disordered and repairs a weakened state of the digestive organs, overcomes biliousness, relieves the bowels when obstructed without straining or weakening them, and promotes the exit from the system of impurities which infect the blood, which cause serious organic maladies. No objectionable mineral contaminates it, and its value is not marred by a subsequent reaction prejudicial to the general health. Far preferable is it to the ordinary nauseous drugs used to produce a similar effect, but which are frequently ineffective as well as unpleasant; nor is it a cheap and valueless medicine, puffed into existence. It is used for dyspepsia, biliousness, affections of the blood, kidney complaints, female weakness, lumbago, &c., and in blood diseases it is unequalled. Price, $1.00. Sample Bottle, 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A surprised man is J. B. Ham, who went to the New Orleans Exposition to care for Maine's interests. He writes to the Lewiston Journal that rum shops are plenty and teetotalers in the minority, but in the whole six months of his residence there he had not seen six drunken men within the city's corporate limits. Mr. Ham, who is a Prohibitionist, does not attempt to explain this singular fact. He says: "It may be in the quantity or the quality of the beverages drunk, and it may be in the climate." But he leaves the solution of the problem to a longer-headed philosopher.

A FOURFOLD WORK.

Burdock Blood Bitters act at the same time upon the liver, the bowels, the kidneys and the skin, relieving or curing in every case. Warranted satisfactory or money refunded.

WHAT IS THIS DISEASE THAT IS COMING UPON US?

Like a thief at night it steals in upon us unawares. Many persons have pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back, they feel sleepy, the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning a sort of sticky slime collects about the teeth. The appetite is poor. There is a feeling like a heavy load upon the stomach; sometimes a faint all-gone sensation in the pit of the stomach which food does not satisfy. The eyes are sunken the hands and become cold and feel clammy. After a while a cough sets in at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a greenish colored expectoration. The afflicted one feels tired all the while, and sleepless not seem to afford any rest. After a time he becomes nervous, irritable, and gloomy, and has evil forebodings. There is a dirtiness, a sort of shirting sensation in the head when rising up suddenly. The bowels become costive; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes become tinged with yellow, the urine is scanty and high colored, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of food, sometimes with a sour taste, and sometimes with a sweetish taste; this is frequently attended with palpitation of the heart; the vision becomes impaired with spots before the eyes there is a feeling of great prostration and weakness. All of these symptoms are in turn present. It is thought nearly one-third of our population has this disease in some of its various forms. It has been found that medical men have mistaken the nature of this disease. Some have treated it for liver complaint, others for kidney diseases, etc., etc., but none of the various kinds of treatment have been attended with success because the remedy should be such as to act harmoniously upon each of these organs, and upon the stomach as well; for in Dyspepsia (for this is really what the disease is) all of these organs partake of this disease and require a remedy that will act upon all at the same time. Scovell's Curative Syrup acts like a charm in this class of complaints giving almost immediate relief. The following letters from chemists of standing in the community where they live show in what estimation the article is held.

John Archer, Hartbill, near Sheffield:—I can confidently recommend it to all who may be suffering from stomach and liver complaints having tho the testimony of my customers who have derived great benefit from the Syrup and Pills. The sale is increasing wonderfully.

Geo. A. Webb, 141, York St., Belfast:—I have sold a large quantity and the parties have testified to it being what you represent it.

J. S. Metcalfe, 55, Highgate, Kenda—I have always great pleasure in recommending the Curative Syrup, for I have never known a case in which it has not relieved or cured, and have sold many grosses.

Robt. G. Gould, 27, High Street, Andover,—I have always taken great interest in your medicines and I have recommended them, as I have found numerous cases of cure from their use.

Thomas Chapman, West Auckland:—I find that the trade steadily increases. I sell more of your medicine than any other kind.

N. Barrell, Clun, Salop:—All who buy it are pleased and recommend it.

Jas. Bakewell, A. P. S. Kingsbridge—The public seem to appreciate their great value.

A. Armstead, Market Street, Dalton-in-Furness: "It is needless on me to say that your valuable medicines have great sales in this district—greater than any other I have ever had, giving great satisfaction."

Robt. Laird, Alnham:—I can well recommend the Curative Syrup form having proved its efficacy for indigestion myself.

Frieckhim, Gilfrath, Perkarshire, Sept 23, 1882

Dear Sir,—In a year I sent you a letter recommending other people's syrup. I have very great pleasure in still bearing testimony to the very satisfactory results from the famed Syrup and Pills and not patent medicines do not with me, but other people tried and a steady sale ever since I commenced and is still in great demand as when I first began I sell it as a specialty. The cures which have come under my notice are chiefly those of liver complaint and general debility.

A certain minister in my neighborhood says it is the only thing which has benefited him, and recommends it to all. He formerly edition of health after being middle-aged French for a considerable length of time. I could mention also a great many other cases, but as you would not allow. A near friend of mine, who is very much addicted to costiveness, so constipation, finds that other Scovell's Pills are nearly pills which suit his complaint. All first-pills cause a reaction which is very annoying, other Scovell's Pills do not leave a bad after-effect, leave no disagreeable impression, and are consequently a great boon to sufferers. It may refer to any service you can possibly be.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) William S. Giles, Chemist.

A. J. White, Esq.: 17th August, 1881

Dear Sir,—I write to tell you that Mr. Henry Hillier, of Yates-ave, Wills, informs me that he suffered from a severe form of indigestion for upwards of four years, and took to end of effectual medicine without the slightest benefit, and decided Mother Seigel's Syrup which he got from me has saved his life.

Yours truly,
(Signed) N. Webb,
Mr. White, Chemist, Leine.

The workmen of Cook & Co., in Sheffield, England, a town in which human life is wrived out at greater speed among the manufacturing laborers, as shown by statistics, than anywhere else in the United Kingdom, recently went to their employers who were laboring under difficulties, and stated that in consequence of the stagnation in the iron trade, and as their wages could not be reduced, owing to their being governed by the South Staffordshire Board of Conciliation, they had decided at a meeting that it was their duty to help their employers to tide over the period of adversity. They had therefore agreed to work a week for nothing"—which they cheerfully did.

General Notice to Farmers and others having Wool to Manufacture.
I now take the pleasure to inform you that I have improved my facilities for Roll Carding and Spinning, and have put everything into first-class order for making up your wool into Yarn, Flannels or Blankets, and you may depend on having your own wool made up (whether small or large bundles) into anything you may desire, or I will exchange your wool for substantial Yarns, Flannels, Tweeds, or Full Cloths.
Farmers having very coarse wool (which is unsaleable except at very low prices) would do better by having it made up into yarn for Carpets & Horse Blankets, which I am prepared to make up on very reasonable terms.
As I do not manufacture for the wholesale market, but keep strictly a Farmers' Custom Mill, you may depend on getting a genuine article. Will card your cotted wool into Batting when desired, and one pound will be worth three pounds of cotton batting for warmth and comfort in the cold weather.
Our "old" way of doing business is "NO MIXTURE," and you will get the best of satisfaction every time.
Yours respectfully,
D. WICKERMAN
