The Canadian Champion

MILTON, April 28, 1904.

English office, 80 Fleet Street, London, E. C., where Messrs. E. and J. Hardy & Co. will receive for us news, subscriptions and advertisements, and where our readers can, free of charge, see our paper when in England.

In proroguing the Ontario Legislature on Tuesday His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor expressed his cordial approval of the legislation which had been passed, particularly mentioning that connected with railways. The Weekly Sun, farmer's newspaper, begs to differ from him. It declares that the corporations have received too much. It says:

"The corporations have secured the pledging of the credit of the Province to the extent of $2,000,000 in support of the Sault industries; they have obtained a guarantee of the James Bay Railway bonds to the amount of $5,000,000; they have been granted $10,000 bonus for the Huntsville and Lake of Bays Railways; they have got their hands on $400,000 of the people's money and 1,200,000 acres of the people's lands for the Port Arthur branch of the Grand Trunk's transcontinental scheme, and they have been successful in postponing the application of the principle of equal taxation to railway and other corporation property. All these things the corporations have obtained."

CROSSING THE YALU

One Hundred Thousand Japanese in the Movement

JAPS OUTNUMBER RUSSIANS

Latter Could Not Prevent the Enemy's Advance—Vladivostock Squadron May Still Be in the Port of Gensan—Blowing Up a Railway—Russian Submarine Sank Japanese Transport With 600 Men.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—Disappointment prevails in St. Petersburg that no official despatches giving details of the operations on the Yalu River have yet been made public. The press despatches are so meagre as to becloud rather than enlighten the people, who are hourly awaiting news.

The Associated Press has obtained from the general staff the following clear statement:

"Beginning the passage of the Yalu, the Japs evidently completed the concentration of two armies along the river, commanded by Generals Kuroki and Oku. Each army is composed of three divisions and three reserve brigades. The total force is 100,000. The Russians on the Manchurian bank of the river are inferior in strength.

"The Japanese commenced the passage of the river and the Russians realized that it would be impossible to prevent their crossing. The Japanese front extended from Wiju as far as Piektong, over 80 miles. We faced the possibility that they would cross a score of places, and all we could hope was to harass and impede the crossing, for every day gained enabled us to push our preparations and bring up more men.

Crossed at Two Points.

"We know that the Japanese crossed at two points at least. Their first attempt to force a passage near Chandchekow, 20 miles above Wiju, near Siaopoussikhe, on the Poussikhe, a tributary of the Yalu, was successful. This is important because a road leads from Siaopoussikhe northeast to Kwantien, which commands one of the roads to Mukden.

"It is evident that the Japanese devoted most of their attention to crossing near Wiju. The river here is divided into several channels by islands, the largest of which is Samilando. Above and below Wiju was bridged at three points.

"Up the stream near Sindiagou the Japanese were watched by a small party of Cossacks, but the enemy was practically unopposed. At Turencheng, lower down, our outposts directed a fire from a fieldpiece so successfully that they destroyed the moorings and wrecked the pontoons. The enemy was thrown into disorder and suffered considerable loss. Still further down the stream the Japanese proceeded to make a third attempt at crossing.

Possible Jap Plans.

"We do not think the Japanese will attempt to land at Takushan or Tatungkau now that they have crossed the Yalu. The object of such landings has been to cause a diversion so as to enable the Japanese to cross the river. Takushan is not a good strategic point. The roads from there are bad, and troops could only be supplied with great difficulty.

"The Russians will not show their hand at this stage, but will constantly harass the enemy, choosing their own time for a battle."

A military expert, who is particularly impressed with the importance of the Japanese crossing near Siaopoussikhei said that the use of the road therefrom would enable the enemy not only to march upon Mukden but to outflank the Russian position at Fenghuancheng and cut off any of Gen. Renenkampff's Cossacks who may have gone to join the attack on Gensan.

Blown Up Railway.

London, April 28.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Irkutsk, Siberia, under Tuesday's date, says that the Japanese have blown up a portion of the railway at Khailar, but that the resultant damage is insignificant.

Linevitch's Appointment.

Vladivostock, April 28.—An order issued by Viceroy Alexieff appoints Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch temporarily to the Governor-Generalship of the Amur territory, with power to conduct the defence of that territory.

Down With 600 Japs.

Paris, April 28.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Journal reports that a Russian submarine boat has sunk a Japanese transport which was conveying 600 men to Corea, and that all the troops were lost.

Rules For Correspondents.

Port Arthur, April 28.—Correspondents of foreign newspapers must have letters of recommendation from their Governments to the Russian Foreign Office, and every correspondent must promise in writing not to divulge secret despatches or to criticize the orders of those in command and must similarly agree to give a true account of events and avoid irresponsible reports.

Highly Significant.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—While King Edward's move to restore peace between Russia and Japan has failed it is nevertheless regarded as highly significant in diplomatic circles.

Neva Battleship Damaged.

London, April 28.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Standard says that a battleship under construction on the Neva is reported to have been seriously damaged.

Will Double-Track the Road.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—It is stated in railway circles that the Government has decided to double-track the Trans-Siberian Railway, and that Prince Hilkoff, Minister of Railroads, has submitted to the Emperor an estimate according to which this work can be completed in eighteen months.

The Submarines.

Port Arthur, April 28.—The successful trials of the submarine boats here are regarded by the Novi Krai as opening fresh prospects for active operations on the part of the Russian fleet.

READ SECOND TIME

Grand Trunk Pacific Bill Advanced in House of Commons.

MAJORITY WAS FORTY-FOUR

All the Speakers Were From the Opposition Benches—Liberals Take No Further Part in the Discussion—Mr. Osler's Attitude—Danger Threatening the Maritime Fishing Interests.

Ottawa, April 28.—Under much more harmonious circumstances than accompanied Tuesday night's vote, the House last night advanced the National Transcontinental Railway bill another stage by giving it its second reading. The Liberals, who had been taken by surprise on the vote of Mr. Clarke's amendment, mustered in force and registered a majority of 44, thus answering the imputation that they were weakening on the bill. The House went formally into committee preparatory to continuing the work until it is disposed of. The debating again yesterday was all done by the Opposition, the speakers being Messrs. Lavell, Armstrong, Lennox, Osler and Kaulback. Mr. Osler declared that the building of this road would be a benefit rather than an injury to the C.P.R., and said that, although opposed to the principle of bonusing railways, still any road built through the inhospitable region from North Bay to the prairie should have a bonus.

The following private bills were introduced: To incorporate the Alberta Railway & Irrigation Company—Mr. Scott.

Bookkeeping Compulsory.

Mr. Bickerdike—To amend the criminal code, 1892, respecting the punishment of fraudulent debtors. He explained that it compelled traders doing an annual business of over $1,000 to keep books. This, he said, was a useful law in other countries, especially in Scotland and in France, and he commended it as a measure which would be of great value, both to debtors and creditors, in the winding up of an estate. The lack of such record left the door open to the commission of a good deal of fraud. The bill had been introduced and passed in the Senate last year.

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine informed Mr. Kaulbach that 82,000 trees had been planted on Sable Island in May, 1901, but that the weather of the past two seasons had not been favorable for their growth.

Canada and Mexico.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to Mr. R. L. Borden, said the Government had under consideration a project for a direct steamship line between Canada and Mexico. The Government had reached the conclusion that it would be eminently useful if obtained on fair terms. They hoped to confer with a representative from Mexico and make an announcement to the House before the session closed.

Mr. Taylor inquired if anything had been done to secure better mail connection at Brockville between the Grand Trunk afternoon train for Montreal and the Canadian Pacific train for Ottawa.

Sir William Mulock replied that he had called the attention of the companies to the matter, and had not yet received any reply.

Newfoundland Fishing Monopoly.

Mr. Kaulbach moved the adjournment of the House to call attention to the position of the fishermen of the Maritime Provinces, whose interests were in peril by reason of the recent action of Newfoundland. He quoted the Newfoundland letter by Mr. Norman Smith in The Globe of yesterday, showing that a monopoly had been given to an American company who were acting in close relationship to the Newfoundland Government. This, he said, would greatly injure and handicap the Maritime deep-sea fishermen, because of their inability to get bait.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that the Government could not interfere with the domestic concerns of the United States, whose Treasury Board ruling permitted the entrance duty free of fresh fish bought by an American company in Newfoundland. Any action we might take with regard to that would be absolutely without effect. "My hon. friend has more reason to look with hope to the action of the Gloucester fishermen, because I see that the correspondent says as soon as the tenor of this bill passed by the Newfoundland Legislature is known in Gloucester there will be wigs on the green. I have information to-day that already some action has been taken within the last two or three days by the Gloucester fishermen. I have received from the United States certain resolutions passed by the Gloucester fishermen strongly protesting against any action which would deprive them of their rights, which they have always claimed. If it were a matter in which the application of the Bond-Blaine treaty were involved there would be some point in the remarks of my hon. friend (Mr. Kaulbach). So far as I can see at present, the action of which he complains has no relation whatever to the Bond-Blaine treaty, but is a matter of domestic concern for the Newfoundland Legislature and for the American Congress."

Mr. Kaulback replied that the Canadian Government could interfere to protect the Maritime fishermen, on the same principle as the Gloucester fishermen were interfering with the action of the United States.

Mr. R. L. Borden thought the deprivation of the Nova Scotia fishermen of bait would be a serious interference with their business. It was a matter that would stand investigation.

Hon. Mr. Fielding warned the House to approach Newfoundland in the proper spirit, as he had it on the highest authority, from the statesmen of Newfoundland, that the presumption sometimes shown in this country that we could force them to do something specially for our interest had done much to make Newfoundlanders hostile to union with Canada. We should remember that they were as much an independent colony as we are.

Mr. Wade suggested the establishment by the Government of bait depots in the Maritime Provinces.

Mr. Alex. Johnston thought the matter important enough to warrant an investigation by the Government.

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine said he would take steps at once to have an investigation made with the least possible delay. The matter then dropped.

Mr. Fielding's Denial.

Hon. Mr. Fielding then made a personal explanation to the House. He denied in the strongest possible terms that he had, as alleged by Mr. Haggart a few days ago, used in the House a confidential letter prepared by a member of the Conservative Government before they left office in 1896. The document in question, he said, had been estimates prepared and not submitted to the House, but had been used by Conservative candidates in different parts of the country.

Mr. Haggart, after some mutual explanations, said he did not mean that Mr. Fielding had taken confidential documents, but that he had referred to estimates prepared by Conservative Ministers, but which were not presented to the House, as the party went out of office.

In the Senate.

Ottawa, April 28.—Hon. R. W. Scott stated in the Senate yesterday that the amount of policies in the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, which lapsed and surrendered between the years 1890-1904, was $47,260,574. He was also informed that the sum of $1,200,000 was collected as premiums between 1900-1903; that the amount of liens on Dec. 31, 1903, was $84,576, presumably bearing interest.

Senator Beique will move for a return showing year by year the business receipts and expenditures of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association in the States and Canada since it commenced to do business in Canada.

Senator Templeman explained for the benefit of Senator McDonald that there was no provision in the G.T.P. contract which would require the company to commence work on the Pacific coast simultaneously with the commencement of the work at Winnipeg. The company would, he said, have to commence early in order to complete in time. He presumed they would have to commence at the coast in their own interest, as it would be to their interest in handling and transporting freight.

Jap Judge Shot.

Tokio, April 28.—The Tokio correspondent of The Times says that one of the Japanese spies shot by the Russians at Mukden was identified as Sundo, a Japanese judge, and not a military man, as has been stated.

Flattering Off Gensan.

London, April 28.—A special despatch from Kobe, Japan, says several vessels, believed to be Russians, were again sighted off Gensan, Corea, yesterday.

Skrydloff Leaves.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—Vice-Admiral Skrydloff left St. Petersburg for Moscow yesterday.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—One of the Japanese columns, while attempting to cross the Yalu River at Turenchen sustained severe losses, owing to unexpected shelling by a Russian battery from the opposite bank.

Done With Torpedoes.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—The Emperor has received a telegram from Viceroy Alexieff as follows:

"Rear-Admiral Yeszen, who is at sea with cruisers and torpedo boats, despatched the latter to Gensan, Corea. The torpedo boats blew up a Japanese merchantman in the roadstead. The crew was sent ashore. The torpedo boats returned the same day to the squadron."

Halton Spring Show.

The annual spring show of the Halton Agricultural Society last Friday drew an exceptionally large attendance, and the quality of the horses exhibited was worthy of the reputation of Halton as one of Canada's leading horse breeding counties. The society was fortunate enough to secure the services of W. A. Sparks, of Canterbury, England, as judge. Mr. Sparks is a noted English breeder and judge. He claims to have judged about 50,000 horses in his time. He has been engaged by the Dominion Government for about a year as a lecturer on horse-breeding. It is hardly necessary to say that his awards on Friday gave general satisfaction. They were as follows:

Heavy Draught.

Devitt & Son, "Grandeur II," 1st; John Gowland, "Royal Rights," 2nd; T. H. Hassard, "Prize Donor," 3rd.

Roadsters.

Hyslop Bros., "Pavonia," 1st; A. McDougall, "Star Wilkes," 3rd.

Carriage.

Geo. A. Bennett, "British Picador," 1st; A. G. H. Luxton, "Reformer," 2nd; W. A. Lawrence, agent, "Swallow Jr." 3rd.

Thoroughbred.

W. A. Lawrence, "Trinity," 1st.

At the request of Mr. Sparks, W. A. Lawrence brought into the ring his four-year-old Canadian bred gelding, "The Governor," entered for the Governor-General's prize at Toronto horse show this week. This fine animal, sired by Mr. Lawrence's "Trinity," was bred by Mr. Foster, of Burlington. Mr. Sparks was greatly pleased with him, predicted that he would repeat the success of his half brother, who won the prize two years ago, and took a snapshot of him.

In the evening Mr. Sparks delivered a lecture on horses, illustrated by limelight views, at the town hall, which was well filled. Ex-Warden Cook was chairman.

Mr. Sparks gave his hearers a great deal of valuable information on horse-breeding. He said that a farmer was as good a man as any, and that no farmer need be ashamed of being a horse dealer, since so many of the most eminent men in the British empire, including King Edward himself, were both farmers and horse dealers. He advised every breeder, after having selected a type of horse, to stick to it, rather than go in for several types. He should breed from none but the best sires. To do so from anything else was false economy. The money saved by using a cheap sire was often lost tenfold by the low price received for his offspring. No one should breed from a diseased sire or dam, so many of the diseases of the horse being hereditary. These diseases and other defects in horses were illustrated by lantern views. Other illustrations showed the various breeds and types of horses and their points. The horse-breeding farmer was advised, if he had a son, to interest him in horses by giving him a colt, letting him break and train it and own it absolutely. There was no better way to keep a boy on the farm.

At the close of the lecture a vote of thanks to Mr. Sparks was carried unanimously.
