SPECIAL OFFER.

We have made arrangements with The Weekly Mail and Empire, of Toronto, one of the leading and most influential papers of Canada, by which we can offer The Champion and The Weekly Mail and Empire until January 1st, 1910, no premium included, for the nominal sum of Thirty Cents, or The Champion and The Weekly Mail and Empire until January 1st, 1910, no premium included, for bargain sum of $1.00. Both publications, each taken separately for the period mentioned, would cost nearly a dollar. By accepting this offer subscribers get the two papers for a price slightly in advance of the regular price of one. The Weekly Mail and Empire is recognized as an expositor of House of Commons and Provincial Legislature happenings. Altogether the 24 pages which comprise The Weekly Mail and Empire constitute a complete 1 hour's reading for the regular price for which is One Dollar a year. Send order to the office of The Champion.

A STOREHOUSE FOR POISONS.

You may not think so, but that's what you become when the kidneys are affected. These organs cleanse the body; they are the filters that remove from the blood the waste matter that acts like a deadly poison on the vitality and health of the system. Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the kidneys, expel fermenting matter from the bowels, restore the liver and stimulate all excretory and secretory organs. This enables the blood to quickly replenish itself and establish perfect health. No medicine does such lasting good as Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills. 25c at all dealers.

A STRONG AND WELL-BALANCED MAGAZINE.

October marks the real beginning of the fall campaign in Magazinedom, and calls for the strongest efforts of publishers and editors. Lippincott's responds by bringing out an especially good number for October. The complete novels of an unusual type, with Hawaii as a background. The writer, Jessie Kaufman lived for some time in this "Paradise of the Pacific," and she gives a more realistic picture of the Islands. There is the usual bravado of Joel Sones, the most noted of Lippincott's being "Second Best," by Owen Oliver; "The Pariheat," by Caroline Lockhart; "The Angel of Happy Hollow," by Lucien Cass Peters; "Cupid and Co.," by Edith Morgan Willets, and "The Lone Huntsman," by Joseph A. Altsheler. Herbert Dunlap writes of "The Racial Potpourri on the Isthmus," George L. Knapp discusses entertainingly on "The Service of Fear." Mrs. Lysander Cobell Pickett contributes "A Memory of Pickett's Brigade." There is also a striking and illuminative article on "Founder's Week," Philadelphia's big celebration marking her 225th birthday. Poems by well known writers and the humorous section, "Walnuts and Wine," complete the number, a very profitable one.

HELPS MEN TO WORK HARD.

That's what Ferrozone does. It supplies the additional strength that enables a man to maintain health under adverse circumstances. "Last spring I was so completely fagged out I could not work," writes J. W. McNichol, of Tremont, Man. "In the morning I was tired, limbs ache, I ail over. Had no appetite, was sleepless, nervous and miserable. Ferrozone put new life into me. Now I eat heartily, sleep like a log, and my nerves are strong. I keep Ferrozone handy." It's by supplying nourishment and good blood that Ferrozone builds up. 50c per box at all dealers.

The Woman's Home Companion for October.

An important article in the October Woman's Home Companion is entitled "Seeking Shelter in New York", real adventures of a real girl, who tells her story to readers of the Companion. This October issue is particularly rich in fiction, having stories by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Harrison Rhodes, Octave Thanet, Nellie McClung, Margaret Sutton Briscoe, and especially good stories by Irving Bacheller and Juliet Wilbor Tompkins. There is perhaps no more important question to the average American than the one of owing or renting a home. The results of the most careful investigation and the experiences of thousands of Americans are given in a series of articles on this subject, which begins in the October number. Of special interest are Kellogg Durland's intimate picture of the life of the Tsarina of Russia, and Dr. Woods Hutchinson's article, "Are Babies Moral?" The fashion department with the Latest Fall Fashions is full of valuable suggestions.

STEEL KNIFE IN THE FLESH.

That's the sensation experienced by Robert Price, of Hepworth, Ont. He knew it was scalding and of course used "Nerviline." As usual it cured and he says: "No liniment can excel Polson's Nerviline. Severe pains in the side gone. It was like a sore knife running through the flesh. I produced in lots of Nerviline and was completely cured." A regular man for Nerviline to cure Sciatica and rheumatism. It works into the core of the pain, cures in short order. Large 25c bottles at dealers.

Indians Fought Fire.

Colin Fraser, one of the best-known fur-traders of the north, has arrived in Edmonton with his annual harvest of furs.

Mr. Fraser stated that he was present at Fort Chipewyan, which is 600 miles north of this city, at the time of the fire at the Roman Catholic Mission in June. The fire broke out in the night, and when the alarm was given the entire place was in flames. About sixty Indians turned out with kettles and managed to put the fire out with water from the lake. A large amount of the stores for next year were burned and several Indian dogs. But the principal loss and the success were saved. Great credit is due to George Lessard, steersman on the H. B. Co.'s boat, and Captain Kelly for their work in checking the flames.

"How do you account for this?"

TO TAKE BANKS LAND.

Captain Bernier In His Trip Will Add to Canadian Territory.

On his journey north in the Arctic Captain Bernier has great latitude. The instructions to the Canadian Government cruiser propose that the vessel follow up the work in which she has been employed for several years past of ascertaining Canadian authority in the portions of the polar regions which belong to the British crown. In so doing Captain Bernier has been warned not to take any course which might result in complications with a foreign country. On the way north he was to observe the conditions in Hudson Bay Straits as to ice, and proceed thence to the whaling stations in Cumberland Gulf.

From Baffin's Land he is to cross to the Greenland shore, to push north to the entrance to Lancaster Sound. From the mouth of Lancaster Sound he is to push down the Sound and proceed as far west as possible. The country on either side is to be visited, all the old depots are to be examined, and Capt. Bernier is to take a look as far as conditions will permit at the various sounds and straits leading north and south from Melville Bay and Bank Strait.

In the event of the Arctic being able to pick her way through Lancaster Sound and Melville Sound she is to take formal possession of Banks Land and neighboring islands westward of those which were visited on her last cruise.

THEY NEED GAELIC.

Scottish Canadian Dassen't Go Over Without Talking the Talk.

That Gaelic is not yet to be reckoned among the dead languages is clearly evident from the strange predicament in which a young Canadian of Scottish ancestry found himself on going over to old Scotia this summer for the first time to see some of his relatives still living in the land of the heather.

In a letter to a friend in Toronto he writes in part: "I went up north into the Western Hebrides to pay my respects to my ancestors, and spent about two weeks in the Highlands. It was really about the strangest place I was ever in. Nearly everyone on the island of ---- is a relative of mine, and very few of them can speak English. I was prepared for a great deal of Gaelic, but had no idea it would be so bad as it was. Of course, it was awkward for me, as I haven't a word of Gaelic, and there were first cousins there who could not speak a word to me.

"It is a very backward place. I was there two weeks without seeing a newspaper. The people live in little thatched cottages, with mud floors and open peat fires, and the hens are always running around inside of the house. Young Scottish-Canadians would hardly believe that this was a true picture of any part of the land of their ancestors at the present time."

A BLIND ORATOR.

Michael Kelly, One of Eastern Canada's Best Temperance Speakers.

The temperance workers of the Maritime Provinces have a remarkable worker in Michael Kelly, the blind orator.

Mr. Kelly is a speaker of more than ordinary ability. He has a rich fund of anecdote, a large and varied store of historical knowledge, a good grip of the saloon problem and a devotion to righteousness, and does excellent work for the cause that is dear to his heart. He has for the last two years done much work for the I. O. G. T., under whose auspices he is working at present.

A very striking part of his meetings is the remarkable work that he does in mental arithmetic at the close of his address. Mr. Kelly is convinced that as a mental calculator he is superior to any one now living. And all who have heard him at this particular work share his confidence. He dearly loves a contest and were it not for the fear that it might cause gambling he would challenge the world to a contest in mental arithmetic. People who have never heard him at this would be startled when they realize what the trained mind of man is capable of doing without the aid of figures.

Expected a Uniform.

While the steamer Speedy, conveying the Governor-General on his tour of the canals, was going through the Cornwall Canal recently His Excellency stepped off the boat and walked up and down the bank for a few minutes. He wore an ordinary tweed suit. A member of his staff, who was in military uniform, was standing on the upper deck. One of the lock hands, who was anxious to see the Governor-General, stepped up to Earl Grey and politely asked him if that was His Excellency, pointing to the officer. It was rather an embarrassing question, but the lock man received a pleasant answer in the negative. He was a much surprised man when he learned a few minutes later that he had been talking to His Excellency.

Montcagle Won Race.

The arrival of the C.P.R. steamer Montcagle at Vancouver with a cargo of silk from the Orient excites much interest. She was one of three steamers racing with silk for the New York market. One, the Siberia, left four days before the Montcagle for San Francisco, and has not yet arrived. The other, the Tosa Maru, left the same day as the Montcagle, but has not yet been reported. The Montcagle will deliver her shipment by the Canadian Pacific in New York several days in advance of the others, and as the race was intended as a trial of the routes via San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver, the result is hailed as a notable victory for the Canadian route.

Planting Edelweiss on Mont Blanc.

Count O'Gorman, an Irish Alpinist, has again started this season on his self-imposed task of planting edelweiss in the most inaccessible parts of the Mont Blanc range, from which the plant has practically disappeared.

Built 5,000 Boats.

Andy Linton of Vancouver, B. C., has built up to date 5,000 boats, and, though he is referred to as the oldest boat-builder in Canada, he will likely add another thousand to his record before he makes his final cruise. He does not build ocean liners, but gold prospectors' boats and fishing smacks. He has built about one boat a day for the last twenty-five years. He has a little sawmill and a few workmen, but does himself a large share of the work of getting each craft ready for active service.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

This woman says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her after everything else had failed.

Mrs. W. Barrett, 602 Moreau St., Montreal, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew worse instead of better. I was fast failing in health, and I was completely discouraged.

"One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say that it cured the female weakness, making me strong and well.

"Every woman who suffers from female troubles should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Truthful Cholly.

"Cholly, have you ever loved before?"

"My dear girl, I will be honest with you. I have been engaged so many times that my ex-fiancees have perfected an organization and adopted a yell."

Must Have Been a Prize.

"But how could you tell, darling, that I had never proposed to any other girl?"

"Because you were not married," she murmured rapturously and admiringly.—Judge.

His Choice of Weapons.

M. Victor Noir, an illiterate bully of the time of the second empire, for no real reason whatever sent a French statesman a challenge to fight a duel. Noir was a densely ignorant man, and nearly every word in the challenge was misspelled. The statesman responded with the following letter: "Dear Sir—You have called me out without any good reasons. I have therefore the choice of weapons. I choose the spelling book, and you are a dead man." The duel was never fought.

Counting It Up.

There is a son of Erin in Newton, Mass., who is quite a character. He has a number of children and was asked one day how long he had been married. "Well," he said, "there's Eugene is forty and Norah thirty-five, that makes sixty-five, and Lizzie is thirty-two, and how many do that make?"

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the ailing would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. On a day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got The New Method Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow at first, however, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before my trouble, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment. HENRY C. LOCUST.

THOS. WILSON.

We make a Specialty of Repairing.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

We are constantly buying Large Lots of Mismated and Job Lots of all kinds of Boots and Shoes, suitable for the largest man to the smallest child. We sell these Job Lots and Mismated Shoes at about half the regular price of perfect mated goods of same quality. We also carry a large stock of perfect-mated Boots and Shoes of all kinds, and sell them about 20 per cent. cheaper than other Stores sell them.

PATENT LEATHER SHOES OF ALL KINDS.

We sell at about two-thirds the price that others sell them.

We sell more Leather and Rubber Footwear than any two stores in Hamilton. We have done more to keep down the price of all kinds of goods we handle than all the stores in the city have. We sell all lines we handle at least 20 per cent. cheaper than others sell them. For this our customers admire us, and our competitors hate us. You should be your own judge, and come where you get best value.

READY-MADE CLOTHING OF ALL KINDS.

We sell at about two-thirds what other stores sell for.

Yard Goods of all kinds we sell from 2 to 10c. per yard cheaper than others sell them.

We have kept Store in our present location for 16 years. We always sold goods a little cheaper than other stores. Five years ago we decided that goods could be sold even cheaper than we were selling. Believing this, we reduced our profit to 10 to 15 per cent. This increased our sales each year since then fully one-third over the previous year. As our sales increased we reduced our profits, until now we are not carrying on all regular lines of goods we carry more than 8 to 10 per cent. To show our customers that we appreciate their trade, we have decided to sell several staple lines of Groceries, as itemised below at cost. We hope they will appreciate the same, and continue to give us their trade in other lines of goods as liberally as they have been doing. We don't claim to do anything for our customers for charity sake. All we do is done to advertise our business, and with the hope that we will profit by the same. But we do try to advertise our business in a straightforward way, by not practising deception, to have them think we are selling goods at half their value, as many others do. The public should be tired of such shallow deception. Come and see our goods and prices, and if you can do better elsewhere, it is your duty as well as your privilege to do so. But try us first.

GROCERIES.

WHAT IS A DAY?

You Probably Think It is Twenty-four Hours, but it isn't.

Nine persons out of ten—yes, 999 out of every 1,000—if asked how long it takes the earth to turn once on its axis would answer twenty-four hours, and to the question, How many times does it turn on its axis in the course of the year? the answer would be 365¼ times. Both answers are wrong.

It requires but twenty-three hours and fifty-six minutes for the earth to make one complete turn, and it makes 366¼ turns during the year. The error springs from a wrong idea of what is meant by a day.

The day is not, as is commonly supposed, the time required by the earth to make one turn on its axis, but the interval between two successive passages of the sun across the meridian—that is to say, the time which elapses after the sun is seen exactly south in its diurnal course through the heavens before it is again seen in that position.

Now, in consequence of the earth's revolution in its orbit or path round the sun, the sun has the appearance of moving very slowly in the heavens in a direction from east to west. At noon tomorrow the sun will be a short distance to the east of the point in the heavens at which it is seen at noon today, so that when the earth has made one complete turn it will still have to turn four minutes longer before the sun can again be seen exactly south.

THE ANCIENT SPARTANS.

They Flogged Men Who Grew Too Fat For Military Service.

Among the ancient Spartans everything was considered secondary to military efficiency, and with a view to securing this the boys and men were by law kept in a continual state of "training." No deformed child was allowed to live. Boys were taken from their homes and subjected to military regulations at the age of seven. They were compelled to wear the same single garment winter and summer. At twenty they joined the ranks and from that age till they reached sixty were required to dine at the public tables, where only a certain quantity was supplied for each man. The magistrates interfered in absurdly small matters. They regulated the degree of fatness to which it was lawful for any citizen to extend his body.

Those who dared to grow too fat or too soft for military service and exercise were sometimes soundly flogged. Aelian in his history relates that Naucilis, son of Polytus, was brought before the ephors (magistrates) and the whole assembly of Sparta, and "his unlawful fatness" was publicly exposed, and he was threatened with perpetual banishment if he did not bring his body within the regular Spartan compass and give up the culpable mode of living, which was declared to be more worthy of an Ionian than a Spartan.
