Victoria County Historical Society members anticipate a busy summer. Plans are well underway for expansion and additions and work has started on improving and landscaping the grounds.

The paint brushes will be put in motion, signs will be reprinted and other decorations will take place. In the meantime the Society solicits support. Gifts of obsolete and antique articles will be appreciated.

The other day a Lindsay woman came across a number of maps of all the townships in the County with the names of landowners thereon. This will be handed over to the Society. The same Lindsay woman has any number of old pictures of hockey teams including one of the Championship Lindsay Midgets of 1909 which will be donated to the Museum.

Glen Mhor Camp, the beautiful summer home for boys and girls on Lake Simcoe northwest of Beaverton, was the beautiful setting for an important gathering of members and adherents and friends of the Presbyterian faith on Sunday afternoon.

Hundreds of people assembled for the Eighth Annual Conventicle Service, many motoring from as far away as Orillia, Trenton, Peterboro, Lindsay and other districts. Weather conditions were favourable for the service and the songs of birds mingled with the hymns of praise.

Rev. Donald McQueen of Glebe Church, Toronto, formerly of Lindsay, the Clerk of Synod acted as chairman.

General arrangements for the Conventicle Service for the past seven years have been in charge of Arthur Steele of Cobourg, whose wife was the former Margaret Crum of Lindsay. He also supplied the P.A. system.

Rev. Alex J. Calder, B.A., B.D., of St. Paul's Church, Peterboro, who assisted in the service is a Beaverton boy.

Other clergymen taking part included: Rev. W. Ross Adams, B.A., Rev. James H. Williams, B.V., Rev. E. G. MacDonald, B.A., and Rev. W. Stanford Reid, M.A., Th.B., Th.M., Ph.D of the University of Guelph, who preached the sermon.

The Massed Choir composed of members from many congregations throughout the Synod was under the direction of William J. H. Perry, Organist and Choir Director of St. Andrew's Church Lindsay.

The McIntyre Pipes and Drums of Lakefield and Fennell Falls contributed to the service.

A hole in one is the idea of any ardent golfer. Two true stories came to light a few days ago. Tom Price, Jr., a son of Mr. T.R. Price, Regent Street was driving golf balls on a range at Kingston and was accompanied by other friends from his home city of Ottawa. One of the little white balls landed a few yards from a stately tree when out darted a squirrel, grabbed the ball in its mouth and quickly, the squirrel and ball disappeared into a hole in the tree.

All efforts to retrieve the two dollar article proved hopeless — a hole in one!

The story of another golfer, a Lindsay devotee, was given credence a few days ago. This golfer happened to slide on his drive and the little white ball soared in the air and landed directly in an old elm tree, which has been splintered by lightning. Golfers saw what had happened and then heard the ball bouncing down the holdow tree. It could not be retrieved — another hole in one!

Lindsay golfers, it is reported, will shortly abandon the green and fairway immediately south of the entrance to the course, along Angeline Street. It has been a hazardous fairway as it crosses directly between the entrance to the grounds and the clubhouse, and pedestrians are apt to be crowned by a hard-hit ball.

The new greens are to be established south west of the present course in a large field across the railway tracks. The two new greens will be among the best on the course.
