Concrete Ships.

Ship building has received a tremendous impetus during the past year. The determination of Germany to wage unrestricted submarine warfare has made the question of providing ships to make good the wastage one of momentous importance. Months ago it became evident that a shortage of plates for steel ships was well within the range of possibility. Substitutes were, therefore, sought. One of the most promising is ferro-concrete. This material has been in use in barges, launches and, even to some extent, in larger vessels for a number of years. Consequently, it was not without hope of success that attention was turned to the construction of concrete boats to take care of the traffic on the Great Lakes and, thus, set free for coastal and ocean freighting boats at present plying thereon.

A shipbuilding firm in Montreal has commenced the construction of such vessels. One of these is a 125-feet single screw steamer having structural steel ribs and keel with a hull of reinforced concrete. The shell is from three to five inches in thickness. It is, of course, thicker than a steel plate ship, but it is claimed that the weight of the hull is less than of a wood ship of similar dimensions. One of the outstanding advantages of this method of construction is the great speed that may be obtained in building. Thus, work on the vessel in question was commenced early in September and the boat was launched November 14th.

Sap's runnin'! In South Western Ontario, Peter McArthur of Ekfried tapped his trees early in March. Season's late this year though, old fashioned winter. Get out all the buckets, old and new and make the most of your time. There's a market for every pound of sugar and gallon of syrup.

Hand made, fancy bread in Canada went off the market on March 15, under the Canada Food Board's new regulations. Standard war flour, meaning flour about two per cent coarser than ordinary, may only be used for bread from henceforth

Rev. T. R. White of Alton, formerly of Eugenia, was elected Deputy Grand Master of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland, at the Grand Black Chapter meeting at Chatham.

J. E Thompson of Orangeville, shipped to the West recently, a carload of horses valued at $15.000.

And take notice that after such last mentioned date the Administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which he shall then have notice, and the said Administrator will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim notice shall not have been received by him at the time of such distribution.

—JOSEPH SHERWOOD,

Dated at Flesherton this 25th day of March, A.D.1918.

George Sinclair Booth, aged 14 years, who for nearly three years had lived with John Fines of Caledon township, was electrocuted on his way home from school. His body was found with the hands and the body badly burned. The indications pointed to an attempt on the boy's part to attach the broken ends of a live wire running from the Cataract Power Company to the Contract Supply Company's plant. Booth was a Home boy.
