CLOSED DEAL.

Heintzman Company Showed Faith in Hamilton by Paying Record Price.

Spectator.

The deal by which the Heintzman company takes over W. J. Waugh's men's furnishings store at the north-west corner of King and John streets, was closed this morning. The purchasers paid approximately $4,000 a foot for the property, which has a frontage of a little over twenty-five feet, so that $100,000 was involved in the transaction. Mr. Waugh will retire from the business on July 1, and his successor will be W. F. Walker, who has been with Mr. Waugh for thirteen years, the last seven years as manager. The Heintzman company will take possession of the Waugh building about the middle of January, 1914, and Mr. Walker will move the men's furnishing business to the present Heintzman store at 71 King street east.

The sale of the Waugh property is only one of the largest real estate deals in the city's history, and the price of approximately $4,000 a foot is said to establish a record. The fact that the Heintzman company, of Toronto, was willing to pay that price for a new location here shows the firm's faith in Hamilton, and incidentally its confidence in the local manager, A. L. Garthwaite, who in a few years has built up a business that justified the expenditure of such a large sum in the company's interests. The company entrusted the handling of the big transaction entirely to Mr. Garthwaite, and no real estate agent figured in the sale. Mr. Garthwaite and Mr. Waugh completing all the details between them.

Mr. Garthwaite announced that the Waugh building would be completely remodelled, and that when the alterations were completed the Heintzman company would have piano show rooms here second to none in Canada, with the exception of the head offices at Toronto.

AFTER MORE RECORDS.

Prize List of Canadian National Exhibition now being distributed.

The Prize List of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, August 21st to 9th September 9th, has been issued. It lists the usual liberal prizes in all departments of live stock, agriculture and home work, amounting to a total of $55,000. It is also evident that the list has been carefully revised to have it up to keeping with up-to-date conditions.

A few of the more from that might be noticed are provided for competition in breeding horses for strings of five horses; a number of sections added to provide for the newer breeds of poultry; $100 in prizes for onions, tomatoes and celery in baskets. The list notes that a government exhibition would be encouraged. Apart of these commodities.

On the whole, the list shows a distinct advance on its predecessors, and, as the attractions will include a review of troops from all the overseas dominions of the Empire, the Scots Guards, Bersaglieri, Cuirassiers in forical spectacle, the Sons of Defiance is safe to predict another record year for the Canadian National.

Potato Growers Warned.

A special warning has been sounded from Ottawa in regard to a very dangerous potato disease that has been brought into Canada in tubers imported from Europe during the present year. The disease which is known as Potato Canker was recently discovered in an imported hamper. To warn Canadian farmers against the danger of introducing imported seed, the Director of the Experimental Farms has issued a bulletin (known as Farmers Circular No. 1) prepared by H. T. Gussow, the Dominion Botanist, which contains illustrations of the disease.

The only way in which the disease can be introduced through the distribution of infected tubers. The disease, if allowed to develop, result in the complete ruin of the crop.

When once introduced the disease remains in the soil for a period of years, which means that for all time to come no sound potatoes can be successfully grown in infected soil.

None of the known remedies for potato canker will prevent the spread of the disease.

The disease is spread readily among healthy tubers by wind, soil, implements, old bags or baskets.

Attention is called to provisions under the Destructive Insect and Pest Act which ensure that no seed potatoes imported from Europe shall be sold. Copies of this Farmers Circular can be obtained by applying to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ont.

McClure's Magazine.

In a article in the May number of McClure's Magazine, "The Forces Behind Taft," George Kibbe Turner and Arthur Walkle Dunn, say that "Great Britain and voting major to the Republican party does not appear to exactly what the President Taft's Trust will almost certainly be convicted. This explains the apparent impossibility and show the power of those that are backing the Taft campaign. Arthur Train contributes "Imported Crime." He has studied the Camorra and Mafia in Italy and, as Assistant District Attorney, in New York. He gives his experience in the article. In "Disciplining Children," Maria Montessori, the great educator, gives her latest explanation of her system of teaching children. There is an instalment of Jeffery Farnol's great novel, "An Amateur Gentleman," and the serial, "Stover at Yale," by Owen Johnson, is concluded. The completed stories are "Mabel and the Flabby Philantropist," Marion Brantlett Powell; "Pumps and Plumbers," Philip Curtiss; and "The Debt," Perceval Gibbon.

CLARA BARTON'S CLAIMS TO FAME

She Had Been a Hard Worker Especially on the Field of Battle

Miss Clara Barton who died in her ninety-first year was a hard worker all her life, and up to a few months before her death kept up a correspondence with friends and those interested in Red Cross organization in many parts of the world. Interviewers who went to her with the idea of preparing obituary notices in advance generally found her busy ironing or preserving. Once when someone spoke to her about her mission she said: "I have never had a mission, but I have always had more work than I could do lying around my feet, and I try hard to get it out of the way so I can go on and do the next." This is the woman who at the age of 77 went to Cuba and did field work among the wounded soldiers, at the personal request of President McKinley. Ten years later she told an interviewer: "I am strong and well, knowing neither illness nor fatigue, disability nor despondency, and thanking God hourly that I have never known what it is to be without work. It has always been the most satisfying part of my religion, and in my declining days I can truly say that if other things have been taken away the best is left—the desire to work and the opportunity to fulfil it."

Miss Barton had many claims to fame. She was the first woman to be appointed to a regular clerical position at Washington and she was a clerk there when the Civil War broke out and as soon as the wounded began to pour into the capital she became a visitor at the hospitals. Then she chartered a wagon with hospital stores and started for the front in Mrs. Bella's wake. In that war she earned the name of the Florence Nightingale of the United States but even after she had proved her right to this title she had to encounter prejudice.

She was in Europe when the Franco-Prussian War broke out and again took the field as a nurse, covering herself with glory and receiving the thanks of nations. It was on her return to Europe that she became a quaintted with the Red Cross Society, which had been formed as a result of the Treaty of Geneva, which granted immunity to those who were giving succor to the wounded on the field of battle. Miss Barton returned to the United States and spent many years endeavoring to persuade her countrymen that they would be entering no "entangling alliance" in any subscribed to the treaty. Eventually, as a result of her propaganda, the United States recognized the Red Cross Society, and the American branch was formed. Miss Barton was, of course, the first president, and from 1882 to 1904 she held the office. Then a question arose as to the economical management of the funds, and Miss Barton was superseded.

Another great work Miss Barton initiated was the Addening of the scope of the Red Cross Society's operations from the purely military to cover great national disasters. Great floods, earthquakes, fires and other calamities that have destroyed human life and property have been alleviated through Miss Barton's agency. She was a great life promoted as she said through hard work. She was the most remarkable woman probably that the United States has so far produced, and if there were in Washington a Westminster Abbey Miss Clara Barton's body would be sepulchered there.

BULL ATTACKS STUDENT

David Laird, a student at the Ontario Agricultural College, was badly torn and bruised in an encounter with a bull while taking part in a stock judging class. A number of bulls were being used for judging when one became nervous, and Laird was asked to take it out. He did so but just got outside when the bull went wild and tossed him a couple of times with its horns, afterward trampling on him. His plaint was seen from the windows of the pavilion and a number of students rushed to his aid.

HAD BAD SORE FOUR YEARS

ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT!

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Ave., Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to increase freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years.

"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and, to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed.

"I know a lady in the east of the city, whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworm, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

J. L. Haycock Dismissed.

J. L. Haycock, formerly chief of the patron contingent in the Legislature, and for some years past inspector of binder twine for the Dominion Government, has been dismissed on the grounds of partisanship. Mr. Haycock says the only time he interfered in an election, after his appointment, was when he defended himself against a personal attack by Uriah Wilson, ex-M. P., in 1904.

Assessment Rates.

The assessment of Georgetown for 1911 was $551,044. In 1912 it is $601,438, an increase of $47,395. There were 26 births and 10 deaths in the municipality in 1911. The present population is about 1800. There is still a good deal of building in progress and property is increasing in value.—Herald.

TORONTO WOMAN WELL AGAIN

Freed From Bearing Down Pains, Backache and Pain in Side by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Toronto, Ont.—"Last October, I wrote to you for advice as I was completely run down; had bearing down sensation in the lower part of bowels, backache, and pain in the side. I also suffered terribly from gas. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's VegetableCompound and am now entirely free from pain in back and bowels and am stronger in every way. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound highly to all expectant mothers."—Mrs. E. WANDBY, 92 Logan Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

Consider Well This Advice.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ROWS ROYAL

Storms in Very Exalted Circles That Have Taken Place

The old saying "As happy as a king" has gone out of favor. A twentieth-century King has to keep a tight hand not only on his wife and children, but also upon the whole of his wide circle of Royal relatives.

They may not marry, make a will, even write a book, without the consent, and if they break the House Laws it is the unlucky king's duty to make things unpleasant all round. No one can suppose for a minute that Alfonso of Spain enjoyed pitching into his aunt for publishing her very harmless little book without first letting him see the proofs. But he had to do it.

The Kaiser is, as a rule, very happy in his home life, but there has more than once been friction between him and his eldest son, the Crown Prince.

The first occasion was when the young prince sent people hasing, a pastime his father detests, and rode his own horse in the race. The next was when he rode up the steps in Sans Souci Park at the head of his Grandsemen, whom he afterwards took to a circus. On both these occasions he was punished by confinement in his own quarters for forty-eight hours.

One of the worst rows in the German Royal circle was caused by the conduct of Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia, the Kaiser's first cousin. He is a very smart man, and, besides being a major in the Guards, has considerable reputation as a composer of light operatic tunes.

One night he appeared at a masked ball in eccentric dress accompanied by a well-known variety actress, and wearing the silver star of the great Order of the Black Eagle.

The Kaiser was furious, and ordered the young man four days' arrest. But there was worse to come. The prince announced that he was going to marry the soubrette in question, who was ten years his senior. The Kaiser at once sentenced him to active service with the colonial army in South West Africa!

The worst and most bitter of all Royal quarrels was that which resulted in the feud between the late King Leopold of Belgium and his daughters Princess Louise and Princess Stephanie. This led to Princess Stephanie suing her father for her portion of the property left by her mother.

The rupture between Stephanie and her father was caused by her marriage to Count Lonyay, and the bitterness of the King's feelings may be judged by the fact that he refused to be reconciled, even over the Queen's dead body.

NEW POLAR FOOD

Manufactured From Pure Blades of Arctic Moss

Mining engineers and prospectors along the Peel and Mackenzie Rivers, on the Arctic Ocean Slope, discovered a new breakfast food in the Arctic moss abundant there. Thousands of square miles of moss await either consumption by settlers and their pack animals or conservation for future generations by Canadian Pinchots. James East, a mining expert, noticed that dogs were fond of the moss which grows prolifically in that region. His tests showed it contains sustenance for man and beast.

For dogs he made cakes of moss mixed with lard and caribou tallow. Dogs ate the cakes eagerly and thrived. The miners then tried it and subsisted chiefly on the moss. Other prospectors learned of the new food with joy and began using it.

Mr. East named the new food Mossolyte. If conservationists do not prevent it, it is intended to produce reindeer along the Arctic slope to help consume the great moss supply.

Patrick Once More

A traveller who dropped into a North Ontario town vouches for the following: As the "Sudbury to the Soo" train was on its way west the other day a certain judge came aboard, and finding all the seats occupied, finally sat down beside an Irishman who was seated just in front of the judge, who got into conversation with the Irishman, and soon discovered that he had only been in Canada for about two years. His Honor was full of praise for Canada and especially of Northern Ontario. The Irishman listened to the glowing description for some time, but finally became restive and remarked that Canada might be a pretty good place but could in no wise compare with Ireland. To this His Honor objected, and to strengthen his argument said: "Now Pat, you know very well that you would be in Ireland many and many a long year before you would ever have the privilege of sitting with a judge." Pat was fairly bowled out for a minute, but with an Irish ready wit replied: "True fer you, yer Honor; but sure now, yer Honor would be in Ireland many and many a long year before ye'd be a judge."

TWIN FRYING PAN

Can be Used as Two Pans Joined Together as One

A cooking utensil which is a sort of twin frying pan has been designed by an Illinois woman. Each of the pans forms half of the circle one regular pan would make and they slide into each other, as it were, at their straight sides. One of the receptacles has a longitudinally slotted member which holds a tubular member on the other. A hinge is thus formed, upon which the pans rotate so when they are joined the cook must use both handles to lift them or one will turn over and spill the contents. Of course, this utensil can readily be converted into two by sliding the sections apart and using them separately. Each is provided with its own handle, as has been said, and each has its own spout.

HINGE JOINS THE TWO

BIRDS' NESTS IN STRANGE PLACES

Birds choose some remarkable places in which to build their nests. Of all our birds, the cunning and domesticated robin has perhaps the keenest eye for ready-made sites. Last year a robin built his nest in a flower-pot in a garden. It was close to a footpath where people were constantly passing, yet robin showed no fear. Many other instances are told on good authority of strange building places. An instance is on record where a pigeon built a nest and hatched young in a corner of a dressing-table which was used daily. Two robins, although evicted twice, succeeded at the third attempt in completing a nest in a magic-lantern. They obtained entrance to a room through a ventilator. Nests have also been found in pillar-boxes, scarecrows and limekilns.

IGNORANCE OF THE BIBLE

Professor H. F. Hamilton publishes some figures respecting the 150 Freshmen who entered Amherst College, Massachusetts, last year. They were set a paper of six Bible questions, of which two were "the easiest that could be thought of," while "the others were exceedingly difficult, so as to test the intimate as well as the average knowledge of the men." More than 79 of these undergraduates could remember nothing about the fall of Jericho, 37 knew nothing of Cain, 40 knew nothing of Daniel, and 65, 102 and 105 failed to answer questions about Saul, Gideon, and Timothy respectively. Professor Hamilton also reports that in visiting certain schools in New York he found, among pupils preparing for college and nearly of an age for entrance, whole classes that could not tell the story of Daniel in the Lion's den.

On Saturday Frank Tinkis shot his wife dead on the street at Hamilton and when pursued by the police killed himself and died some time after wards.
