Markham Twp. Police Costs Below Average

In 1964, the cost of operating the Markham Twp. Police Department totalled $106,655.00. Their staff numbered 19 men, including two clerks.

As high as this figure might appear on paper it is actually considerably less on a per capita basis than in municipalities across the Province and reveals an even wider variance when Ontario Provincial Police costs are included.

The breakdown of comparison costs was discussed in police committee on May 11th and submitted before a regular meeting of council on Monday night.

The comparative figures are as follows: Number of Municipal Police 6,848. Cost to Municipalities $52,245,678.00. Cost per policeman, $7,629.00.

Number of police in Markham Twp., 19. Cost to Markham Twp., $106,655.00. Cost per policeman, $5,613.42.

Population in municipalities policed, 5,343,983. Cost to municipalities, $52,245,678.00. Cost per capita, $9.77.

Population in Markham Twp. 15,655. Cost in Markham Twp., $106,655.00. Cost per capita, $6.83.

Population in the Province, 6,000,000. Total police costs including O.P.P. and Municipal, $72,245,678.00. Cost per capita, $12.00.

Two women met who hadn't seen one another for years.
"Really," said one, "I would hardly have known you. You look so much older."
"Well," said the other, "I wouldn't have recognized you either, except for your hat and dress!"

Abandoned Dogs, Cats Found in Farm Field

Eleven pups and seven kittens were found in fields near isolated farmhouses in this area during the month of March and turned over to canine control kennels. James Ryan reports that in all cases the tiny animals were in places they could not have reached under their own power and must have been dropped there by their owners.

The canine control officer asks anyone who sees animals being left by the roadside or in fields to take the car's license number and phone him at 285-1081.

Mr. Ryan also reports many complaints of biting recently. In most cases the dog has been tied up on his own property and was being interfered with by children at the time of the incident. He asks parents to warn children not to interfere with a dog which is tied up on its own property.

When the skin is broken the incident is considered a biting and the dog must be isolated. The municipality must pay the isolation charges, this being felt by all ratepayers, Mr. Ryan pointed out. It is also unfair to the dog's owner, who is obeying the law by keeping his dog under control. A tied-up dog becomes excited when a child plays with him and an accident frequently happens, with the dog's teeth breaking the child's skin, he explained.

Mr. Ryan also warned that if a dog involved in a biting is running at large its owner will be charged by canine-control with a running-at-large offence after the dog is isolated.

Although spring is late, it will not be long, the officer noted before gardens are growing. Dog owners are asked to keep their dogs at home, not destroying their neighbors' flowers and vegetables. Again, if residents know of people who habitually let dogs run at night, they should call canine control. Mr. Ryan assures them they will be doing the dog owner a service, because on receipt of such a complaint he will warn the offender, but if the dog is found running at large the owner will face a court appearance.
