BRITISH FAIR PLAY

We beg to acknowledge indebtedness to an esteemed New York subscriber for a gentle reminder that there are always two sides to a question and that it is British fair play to hear both sides. There is a good and a bad element in all countries and all communities. One stands for education, enlightenment, amelioration of the condition of the masses, and a general advance towards a loftier ideal; the other stands for the lowering of morals, degradation, death and destruction. We have these classes here in common with other countries. We have people who would like to see Britain defeated in her African war, her standards and her prestige destroyed, and the empire disintegrated. The reason for this is merely that they are of the second element mentioned and hate above all things to hear of the triumph of anything good and impute base motives to every laudable effort. These men are all either skeptics, or people who have not studied the question from the point of absolute right and British fair play. We are glad that our correspondent has pointed out, what we had, perhaps, failed to make properly clear, that these two elements grow side by side across the lines as they do here. Still, a few weeks ago we did remark that the better class of Americans were on the side of Great Britain. We are pleased to have this corroborated. Below we give the correspondence in full:

To The Editor of The Advance.

Dear Sir—It is a fact well known that there is published in the United States a class of news papers known as the "Yellows." The reader of a Yellow in the United States is promptly marked by conservative men and placed in the ranks to which he belongs. Notwithstanding these facts your comments of recent date appear to be based on quotations taken from these "Yellows." Comparatively speaking, the Advance appears a little in advance of some Canadian papers when dealing with foreign countries. A great deal of ignorance along this line exists in Canada, which, to some extent is due to the Canadian "Yellow." It affords me great pleasure to note the absence of anything yellow in the Advance. Your readers may read and digest editorials without fear of intellectual indigestion misinformation. I venture to say that the rank and file of law-abiding, thoughtful, conservative citizens of the United States pray for the success of British arms in South Africa. I read it in the papers and I hear it from the pulpit, and why not? The American Press is divided in two classes. You have commented on the quotation of one of them. I ask that you kindly allow me to quote from the other, where I hope to see you go for quotations in future.

Yours Truly
UNCLE SAMMY

There is one quality of the Englishman in this country that is much admired. He minds his own business beautifully. He has his society where he loves to meet his countrymen now and then to drink the health of the Queen, and to toast St. George and probably the Dragon. But when our Fenians rave against her Majesty's Government and denounce the President for "truckling" to the British Ministry, he looks on with an amused smile. He does not denounce the Administration for waging an unholy war with Spain. He does not get up and howl that in our attempts to keep order in our possessions we are trampling in the dust the declaration of Independence, Washington's Farewell Address, and the Constitution. Though the triumphs of his country's arms may gladden his heart, or reverses may sadden him, he makes no public parade of his emotions. In short, if the Englishman is here as an alien, he behaves as a well-bred guest would behave in respect to the private affairs of his host; and if he is a naturalized citizen he is conscientiously mindful of that fact. He does not seek the asylum of our soil and the shelter of our laws to carry on conspiracies against the sovereignty he has renounced or any other Americans think and feel all sorts of ways on all public questions except one—loyal attachment to their own Government. They do not disagree about that. When we see American citizens of foreign birth or blood clamishly insisting as a body that we ought to snub the Queen or interfere to save the Boers, or surrender to Aguinaldo, and habitually despising the Government they have sworn to support and all the institutions thereof, we conclude that they have not yet learned to think and feel like Americans. In so far as they fail in that loyal duty they are naturalized only in the empty form and not in spirit.

Some one has taken the trouble to send us marked copies of Montreal papers containing accounts of the student riots at Montreal last week. We suppose these papers were sent with a view to making us rear and tear our hair in despair over the awful fact that these harum-scarum Laval students tore down the union jack and trampled it in the mud. We read all the facts when they occurred and have possessed our souls in patience ever since. What is the use of going into hysterics? If a few English and French fools down in Montreal choose to make asses of themselves, why let them. When they become too obstreperous we will, in a motherly way, knock their heads together and calm them down. Confederation is not in any danger from the antics of these fresh young men, and the newspapers of the country should ignore such exhibitions as occurred last week. If no attention is paid to them they will fall utterly flat. It is the continued attention given them by politicians from the basest of motives that will work any mischief which may be wrought.

An exchange tells of a cruel joke a young girl played on her mother. She accidentally found a love letter that her father had written to her mother in their halcyon days of courtship. She read it to her mother substituting her own name and that of her lover. The mother raved in anger and stamped her foot with disgust and forbade her daughter to have anything to do with a fellow who would write such nonsensical stuff. The girl gave the letter to read and suddenly the house became so quiet she could hear the proverbial pin drop.

Port Law

From Our Own Correspondent

Mrs. Cornfield sr. passed away from this life on Wednesday the 5th inst., and was laid to rest in Mount Zion burying ground on Friday afternoon. The deceased lady was an old resident of this township, and was held in very much esteem by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The bereaved husband and family are assured that the united sympathy of the community is with them in their time of trial.

We heartily welcome to our neighborhood Mr. and Mrs. Guy Blakely who have taken possession of the farm lately vacated by Mr. John McKechnie.

We are glad to report that the sick ones are improving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jamieson, Eugenia visited lately with the former's parents here.

The business of our Post Office having outgrown its accomodation, our Postmaster has had placed in position a very neat and convenient cabinet. The work was done by the master hand of Mr. T. Wilson, Eugenia.

The man who, two weeks ago, spent all day shoveling snow on the road in order to make sleighing, and had to turn around the next day and shovel the "beautiful" off that he might get through the drifts, does not want anything said about it, or his name mentioned, and of course his wishes must not be ignored We would not be guilty of such a Haney-ous crime.

Mr. Geo. Thompson Jr. took a trip to Toronto last week to purchase a stock of spring goods, and transact other business. While in the "Queen City" Mr. T. visited the Legislature and heard the big guns of the opposing political forces discharge their lyddite shots, with "telling" effect into the ranks of their rivals.

The recent success of arms in South Africa has been received here with joyous satisfaction, and if there was any who had allowed their loyalty to become in any degree comatose, they have lately been thoroughly awakened. Our hearts beat fever and faster when the welcome news arrived, and the Port flag at mast head proclaimed that the cause of old Britain and liberty was emerging from under the cloud. We feel proud to day as well as thankful that we are Canadians and sheltered by that flag, which as it flutters in the breeze bids defiance to tyranny and oppression. "God save the Queen"—Victoria the good."

Much sympathy is expressed for John Carson, of Mulmur, who has had more than his share of trouble during the past three years. During that time he has lost his wife and two children from consumption, and two weeks ago his adopted daughter, Miss Louisa Leighton, died at the age of 21 years from the same disease. Mr. Carson is now left alone.—Shelburne Free press.

Rev. Mr. Darroch returned on Saturday from assisting in special services at Collingwood.

Money to loan on farm property at five per cent. free of costs. Bellamy & Henderson.

Notwithstanding money has advanced in price, A. S. VanDusen is still leading at 4½ per cent straight.

Mr. M. Benton is moving into town this week, and will occupy the residence lately vacated by The Advance proprietor.

Good girl wanted at once for general housework. Apply at once to Mrs. Humphreys, Methodist parsonage, Priceville.

Mr. H. Piper of the Station, whose jaw was broken a few weeks ago by a kick from a horse, is again able to be out and attend to his work.

Mrs. H. G. Tucker, wife of Barrister Tucker of Owen Sound, died suddenly of heart failure on Sunday night.

4½ per cent private money loaned on easy terms of repayment by Geo. Rutherford, Shelburne. Expenses low. Communications receive prompt attention.

Mr. Patrick Burns of Osprey, who was so seriously hurt a few weeks ago by falling under a horse in Munshaw's shed, has recovered and was in town several times during the past week.

Several of the friends and neighbors of Mrs. John Berthon met at her place one evening recently and presented her with a set of china dishes as a token of their esteem.

Euphrasia township is threatened with another damage suit. A young man named Fawcett upset a load of timber and had his leg broken. We understand the township has been served with a writ.

Lost—Between Markdale and Dr. Christoe's Drug Store, Flesherton, on Thursday 8th inst. an oblong purse containing a sum of money. Finder will be rewarded on leaving it at Advance Office.

The Advance has received a contribution of five dollars from L. O. L. 1132 towards the patriotic fund. This has been forwarded to head quarters and will be acknowledged through the Globe.

An auction sale of farm stock and implements will be held on lot 2, con. 8, Osprey, on Wednesday, March 28, 1 p. m., the property of Mr. P. Burns, who is giving up farming. See bills. R. J. Speale, auctioneer.

The Advance was pleased to have a call last week from Mr. George Mitchell of Buffalo. Mr. Mitchell some years ago was in partnership with Mr. W. Petch in the butcher business, but is now a railway engineer. His business here will be explained by referring to our marriage notices.

A quiet wedding took place at the residence of Joseph Huggard Esq., 699 Spadina ave., Toronto, Saturday afternoon last, when Rev. R. P. Bowles, B D., united in marriage Dr. Emerson H. Henderson, L. D. S., and Louise, the elder daughter of Joseph Huggard, Esq. The bridesmaid was Miss Roxie Huggard the bride's sister, and the groom was assisted by Dr. F. W. Murray, L. D. S. The happy couple left for Buffalo and New York. Only the immediate friends were present, owing to the recent death of the groom's father.

Mr. Roger Ward, son of Rev. Jos. Ward, who went to Manitoba eight months ago in company with some other young men, arrived home Friday evening after eight months' wandering over this northern continent. Within that period of time he has visited San Francisco, Los Angeles, taken a run down into old Mexico, explored Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and came home by way of the Mississippi valley and St. Louis. Three or four weeks ago he was in New Orleans and had an extremely narrow escape from shipping on a mule boat for South Africa. He says they had quite a snowstorm in New Orleans on one occasion this winter. British agents have been all over the southern states buying up mules and even as far west as California. Thirty thousand is the number of these animals that have been shipped from New Orleans for service in South Africa.

Good prices for cedar in bolt or log. Hustle it in. S. W. Sloan, Eugenia.

James P. Lee, the inventor of the Lee-Metford rifle, worked as a machinist in Kennedy's foundry, Owen Sound some years ago, and has a brother now in the jewelery business at the county town.

Collingwood appears to have got a big lap ahead of Owen Sound in the race for pre-eminence as a lake port, the former having secured an agreement with the Cramps of Philadelphia to erect a blast furnace, the capacity to be 200 tons per day and the company to employ not less than 600 men continuously for 30 years. Incidentally, Collingwood will pay $115,000, free site, exemption from taxation, etc. Collingwood will, we fear, suffer from cramps more than she will benefit.

The Advance has just come into possession of a copy of a newspaper published at Priceville in the year 1868. The paper was published by Loudon & Co., and the copy before us is No. 4 of vol. 1. It was quite a pretentious newspaper of four pages, with 28 columns of reading matter and advertisements. The paper was called the "Priceville Courier and Flesherton, Cornabus, Eugenia, Maxwell and Durham Advocate." It was well patronized by advertisers in Mt. Forest, Durham, Flesherton, Eugenia, etc., and the subscription price was $1.50 per annum. In those days there were good grain markets at Priceville, Flesherton, Maxwell, and Eugenia, quotations of which appeared in the paper. Some of the prices are interesting. Wheat was $1.40 to $1.45, barley $1, peas 80 to 85c, grass seed $2, eggs 12½ and butter 17. Butter and eggs are the only items that have retained their level.

The Thornbury Herald of last week says: A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Radley, Flesherton, when their third daughter, Almeda Alice, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Wm. Brown, tenth line, Collingwood township. The bride was attired in a beautiful grey suit, and was attended by Miss Maud Lough ead, while the groom was supported by Mr. Fred Radley, brother of the bride. After the usual time for congratulations was taken up, the guests repaired to the dining room, where ample justice was done to a very sumptuous fowl supper. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games, singing etc., in which everyone heartily joined. The presents were numerous and costly, testifying to the high esteem in which the young people were held. The happy pair left on the morning train for Toronto and other places on their honey moon trip before returning to their home in Collingwood township.
