FEARFUL CANNIBALISM—TRAVELLERS BOILED AND EATEN.

Anthropophagy is spreading in Algeria. In the neighbourhood of Mostaganem the Echo of Oran relates that two families, after enduring the pangs of starvation for some time, agreed to feed on their children. Lots were drawn, and one child was killed and devoured. The family on which the sacrifice had fallen claimed in its turn that their neighbours should likewise provide one of their children for a meal. The neighbours refused, and the two families proceeded to the Bureau Arabe to request the official to settle their difference. They were all of them arrested and sent to prison, where they will at all events be secure against starvation. Four Arabs at Teuret are in custody on the charge of having killed and eaten four travellers. An earthenware pot was discovered in their tent with human bones in it, which had been used to make broth. The undress uniform of a foreign legion was discovered in the tent. Several French soldiers who are missing are supposed to have been waylaid, knocked on the head, and eaten. What a contrast it is to read immediately after this in the Paris papers that Count Blank has lost in one night £20,000 at Lansquenet, and that a young swell has spent £1,200 in giving a musical entertainment at the Conservatoire to the "elite" of Parisian society!

The Akhbar of Algiers publishes the following:—"Another fact has to be added to the horrors of the famine! Another monstrous act caused by hunger! Two persons worthy of belief, and belonging, one to the civil population of Algeria, and the other to the army, relate to us the subjoined episode, which they themselves witnessed:—On entering a gourbi, or native hut, they recoiled with horror before a frightful spectacle; from the roof was suspended the corpse of a man, the hands and feet of which had already been cut off; the flesh of a part of the body had been divided in strips, and was cooking in a saucepan, in order to be eaten."

A STRUGGLE FOR A CONVERT.

The Salut Public of Lyons gives the following account of an incident by which the ceremony of the first communion in the church of St. Pothin was disturbed a few days back, and which has caused a great excitement in the religious circles of that city:—"Among the young girls about to take part in the solemnity was one 11 years of age, daughter of Protestant parents, and who had been brought up in the Reformed faith. At the moment in which the communion was on the point of being administered the father of the girl came forward and ordered her to follow him out of the church. A member of the family intervened, and insisted on her remaining and accomplishing the religious act. An altercation arose, and was followed by a personal struggle, in which each party endeavoured to get possession of the girl, who was now in tears, and whose white dress was in danger of being torn from her back. The cure and other persons belonging to the church then interposed and led the father away, after which the communion was given to the young neophyte. It appears that the girl had lost her mother when young, had been confided to her maternal grandmother, who is said to have had her initiated in the Roman Catholic religion, and then had her baptised surreptitiously. The father being informed that she was to receive the communion in the same faith, formally opposed such a step, both with the grandmother and the cure of St. Pothin, and declared that he would appeal to justice for the protection of his paternal rights should his will be disregarded." The Progrès of Lyons now announces that the Procureur Imperial, after having heard both parties, has decided that the young girl, who had thus received the communion in direct opposition to his wishes, should be immediately taken from her grandmother and restored to her father.

SAFETY OF DR. LIVINGSTONE.

Letters have been received in town by Sir Roderick Murchison which place beyond doubt the fact that the reported assassination of Dr. Livingstone is a fable without foundation. Dr. Kirk, the consul at Zanibar, has received voluminous despatches from him, and has forwarded to London communications from Dr. Livingstone dated from the "Sources of the Nile," 800 miles beyond the spot at which Dr. Livingstone was reported to have been murdered. The advices received from another source make mention also of his successful progress in his further journey, and it is believed that Dr. Livingstone is now on his voyage home. Dr. Kirk's letter is dated Zanzibar, Feb. 4, and in it he announces the arrival of the Arab messenger, Bunduki, so long expected, who has brought with him despatches from the doctor. The information now received completely confirms the route taken by Dr Livingstone round the southern end of Lake Nyassa, which was brought home by the Livingstone Search Expedition. It appears that our great traveller proceeded northwards at a long distance to the west of the lake, and in course of time arrived at Lobisa, formerly a thickly inhabited town, but now almost deserted. In these elevated lands, covered over with humid forests and destitute of game, the party suffered much from hunger; but on approaching the southern extremity of Lake Tanganyika they reached Muka in the Wemba country, where there was abundance of cattle and food, and where they recovered their strength. It was here that Livingstone met with the trading caravans of Zanzibar, and delivered the letters to Bunduki, who has had them 12 months in his possession. Reliable information has also been received at Zanzibar of the arrival of Livingstone at Ujiji, half way along the Lake Tanganyika, where it is satisfactory to know provisions, stores, and letters sent from England and Zanzibar have long been waiting for him.

A MAD DOG IN A MILLINERY ESTABLISHMENT.—About noon on Saturday, a terrier dog, under the effects of madness, rushed from High street, Hartlepool, where it was pursued by some people, into the millinery establishment of Mrs Wilson, who employs upwards of a dozen young ladies. The dog sprang through the work-room window, but was unable to drag its body through the square, and fell down into the shop again. It rushed behind the counter, flew upstairs, capsizing a large flower-stand on the landing, and breaking all the pots, and scattering their contents down the staircase. The young ladies on the premises were in the greatest state of alarm, and the wildest commotion existed, as the animal was evidently labouring under the worst form of madness. A neighbour, armed with a gun, went upstairs, and, with a well directed aim, blew the brute nearly to pieces before it had hurt any one.
