Bargains THAT ARE Bargians

Occasionally the difficulties of a WHOLESALER or MANUFACTURER are responsible for the remarkable values we give from time to time. Whenever there is any opportunity of procuring seasonable goods at from ⅓ to ½ of regular prices we are not found napping. This has been a standing policy of ours and the fellows who have wondering from what source we procured such unheard of values in certain lines are now let into the secret. Only the other day such an opportunity came our way—an opportunity that we pass on to our customers at the same proportionate saving. For instance:

BRIGHT NEW PRINTS

1890 yards of this season's newest and best patterns in English and Canadian Prints. They consist of floral designes, stripes, dots, plaids, etc., in light or dark grounds. Equal qualities are not sold in Markdale outside our doors for less than 10 to 13c peryd our price while the lot lasts will be only .....7½ (Colors guaranteed the best.)

MEN'S UNLAUNDRIED SHIRTS

A Letter From Rome

Mr. P. McCullough of Markdale, who is at present touring Europe, writes a very interesting letter from Rome to a Markdale friend, who has kindly consented to allow its publication, as it is of much general interest. Mr. McCullough writes as follows:

Rome, May 3, 1900

I am now in Rome, having come here last Thursday after staying in Naples from Tuesday. We landed about 3 p.m., looked through the city and went to Pompeii on Wednesday to look at the ruins. They are very interesting, and show an extraordinary knowledge of building on the part of the inhabitants of that place in the early or first century, A. D. The houses are decorated to a most wonderful extent, both with paintings and statuary both of which show surprising knowledge of those arts. The streets were paved with stone and had marks of chariot wheels on them which show considerable use. Water works were constructed on as good principals as are used in these days, and lead pipe now lay along the streets a considerable distance below ground, just as they are in our large cities Places of public amusement and temples were built on a most magnificient scale. The articles, both of use and ornament, which have been dug up while excavating, are astonishing, among them being bread baked in loaves just as we do now. Useful implements are numerous, such as saws, planes, compasses for building, just as we have; locks for doors the same as now; grindstones and baking utensils, just the same; scythes and reaping hooks as now; axes the same; knives etc., ladies ornaments, rings, brooches of gold and precious stones, and ornaments for the house. Gold and precious stones are numerous and very beautiful, just as nice in design and structure as now a days But when it comes to statuary it is astonishing: statues of men, women and animals, such as horses, dogs, etc., are massive, large and well executed, in fact the articles taken from the place astonish me. The women of Naples are very beautiful, especially the young women, who spend a great deal of their time on the street and mostly bareheaded, having their hair very beautifully done up. The city is cursed with goats, and beggars who try to get money on every corner. The public gardens are very beautiful, being nicely kept and well planted with shade trees; have seats of wood and marble all through them for one to sit down on. There are also some chairs—price for setting on them 2 cents. We paid for them once through ignorance—didn't do it again, and won't sit on a chair any place before knowing all about it. I will have to tell you the rest when I get home, except about the goats. I am satisfied that there are 1,000,000 goats, because I have been driven off the streets by that many goats while I was there. Men drive them through the streets, not on the centre of the street but on the sidewalk. Cows are driven around the city and after the milk is sold it is taken from the cow and handed over fresh to the purchaser. Now for a little about the Eternal City, Rome. It is wonderful, full of the most extraordinary ancient ruins, marvelous in their construction and architectural beauty. We went first to St. Peters church. It is, of course the largest in the world and the most beautiful. I cannot describe it in a letter. I was at the beatification of some saint to-day (Sunday) and was within a few feet of the Pope. He looks just like his picture. He was carried in a chair and followed by cardinals, priests and altar boys to the number of 200 or 300, all most gorgeously attired. The street car service is very good here, both horse and electric. I have also been at the Capitol Vatican, Colloseum, Tarpean rock, The Marmatine Prison, where Jegurtha, king of Numidia, was starved to death, the Cataline Conspirators beheaded and Peter and Paul are said to have been confined as prisoners previous to their being put to death in Rome on account of their being leaders in the Christian religion. The city is full of palaces of the old Romans, also full of picture galleries and statuary galleries, many of which I have seen but cannot describe in a letter. The modern city is well built and the wealthy people drive out a good deal with splendid horses and carriages. The shops are very nice and many of them are open to day, Sunday, doing business in the old way at the old stand. I am going to Florence next Tuesday and expect to be in Venice on Saturday.

A Complaint

To the Editor of the Advance

DEAR SIR—I notice that a number of bicycle riders of this town have the habit of riding over our sidewalks. Perhaps they are not aware that there is a bylaw prohibiting the riding or driving on same. If they do not it is time they did, and this is a gentle hint which I trust they will notice, for if the practice is not discontinued severe means will have to be taken, as it is dangerous to travellers and destructive to the walks. CITIZEN.

Markdale

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Aberdeens met a sweeping defeat in their match of lacrosse with the Lornes of Mount Forest and they don't call it hard luck or chance work or any of that kind of guff, but they acknowledge their defeat like men, but are hoping to turn the tables at the home game here in the near future.

Mr. J. T. Parks of Dundalk was in town on Wednesday evening the 20th and assisted our band in an open air concert. The band is doing well under the leadership of bandmaster Perkins.

A large number of our citizens attended the picnic in Sullivan's Grove on Thursday and report a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson of Barrie are the guests of Mrs. (Read) Hunter.

The boys returned home from camp at Niagara on Saturday and their complexion is greatly changed. They report a good time and fairly good usage.

Mr. Richard Smith of Vandeleur has purchased the Harriston property in town and expects to become a resident in the near future.

DIED—At his home two miles from Markdale, Mr. Jno. McNally after a long and painful illness, aged 72 years. His end was peace.

Mr. Fred Stafford of Orangeville is visiting friends in town.

Court Markdale I. O. F. No. 991 will attend service in the Methodist church next sabbath July 1st. They will meet in their hall, Rae's Block, at 6.30 p. m and will march to the church at 7 o'clock. Visiting brethern will be cordially welcome.

Nearly every person is going to Flesherton on the 2nd of July.

Hugh John McDonald is a queer sort of a politican. The people of both Manitoba and Ontario don't know what to make of him. He actually proposes to keep faith with the people by carrying out his ante election pledges regarding railway matters and the enforcing of a prohibitory liquor law for Manitoba. Did anyone ever hear of such a thing? The Premier of Manitoba is certainly an enigma to the other parts of the Dominion, but the result will be that Manitoba will soon leave the older provinces far in the rear if she continues to be governed in the clean, progressive and wise manner which Hon. Hugh John McDonald gives every evidence of carrying out.—Arthur Enterprise.

"A little boy I knew in the West," writes Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, in the July Ladies' Home Journal, "belonged to a family who had trained him to believe in the deep-water form of baptism, and was experimenting with the household cat and a bucket of water. The animal evidently did not believe in immersion, for she resisted, bit and scratched and used bad language—in the cat tongue, of ccure. Finally, the little boy, with hands covered with scratches and tears in his eyes, gave up the effort to effect the regeneration of the cat. 'Dog-gone you!' he cried—notice the choice of epithets in the use of the word dog—'go and be an Episcopal cat if you want to!'"

Rev. J. C. Ayers will occupy the Methodist pulpit on Sunday morning next. The evening service will be withdrawn so as not to interfere with the Presbyterian anniversary services.

Millinery season will soon be over now and all ladies who have not purchased their summer millinery should call and select from a large stock of trimmed hats and etc., everything going cheap at Mrs. Trimble's Millinery Rooms.

Mr. Ed. Strain, who is home on a visit, will wear in the parade on Monday next the suit he wore while fighting in the Philipine islands last summer. He will be accompanied by two others dressed in native Philipino uniform.

Reeve Armstrong of Markdale, in conversation with The Advance last week, paid a high tribute to the Artemesia council. He expresses the conviction that never before has such good work, or so much of it, been put upon our highways as this season.

Miss Lena M. Wright certificated student of Alma College, St. Thomas, Ontario, is prepared to receive pupils for piano and organ. Miss Wright comes highly recommended by Prof. St. John Hymenaeuch, of Copenhagen, Denmark, director of the Alma Conservatory of music.

The directors of East Grey fall fair are this year stirring themselves to get out the prize list in sufficent time for farmers to get up a good exhibition. Last year the list was issued a couple of weeks before the show, which was a big mistake. The list is now being published at this office and will be out in a short time.

The Entrance examinations are in progress Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, with Principal Speers of Dundalk presiding. Principal Slaughter of our school is sending up this year a class of sixteen for Entrance and ten for Leaving. The Leaving examination will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

EDITOR ADVANCE.—Dear Sir,—Would you kindly insert the following note of thanks in your paper. I desire to cordially thank all those who so kindly assisted with their teams and otherwise, not forgetting the school children, at the recent fire at my shingle and saw mill, as there was some 1did notget thanking personally. Yours,—Jonathan Hickling.

Markdale last year put down a large amount of granolithic pavement and this summer is paving about three blocks of the main street's with crushed stone, at a cost of over fifteen hundred dollars. This street pavement is put down in the following manner: First, the street is graded to the proper outline to allow of good drainage; good solid 4 inch cedar curbing is placed at the sides supported by tarred cedar posts sunken four feet in the ground. Then a good thick layer of crushed limestone is spread evenly and a top layer of crushed granite placed thereon, the whole to be crushed into a solid and smooth bed with a steam roller belonging to the corporation of Owen Sound, which will be rented for the purpose. When completed this will make a perfect and almost everlasting roadbed. Reeve Armstrong is a progressive citizen of Markdale and the people of Markdale should and do greatly appreciate the efforts he is making to place the village among the up-to-date towns of this province.

The York Leader and Recorder publishing business, referred to in last weeks issue, will be wound up according to judgement given at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, on Friday, J. R. Langley has been appointed interim liquidator.

Mr. Jonathan Hickling's steam saw and shingle mill on the 8th con., Artemesia, was burned to the ground on Wednesday of last week. The fire was noticed in the roof at the noon hour but had attained such headway that it was impossible to save the building. Efforts were therefore directed to preserving stock around the mill and most of this was got out of the way. Mr. Hickling's loss will be very heavy as we understand that there was an insurance of only $150.

Mr. Ed. Strain of Ann Arbor medical college, and recently with the American army in the Philippines, arrived home here on Thursday evening last to spend his summer vacation. The Advance had a pleasant hour's chat with him on Friday. Having seen so much of the lights and shades of life during his absence from Flesherton, he has, as may well be imagined, gathered such a fund of information about the foreign lands he has visited, that a conversation with him carries with it more than ordinary interest. He is thankful to have come out of the affair without a wound. Mr. Strain's letters, which appeared in these columns last summer, are not forgotten by our many readers, and his welcome home will be a warm one by all who meet him. He is the possessor of a number of curious and interesting relics.

One hundred and sixty-two dollars and a quarter have been subscribed by the citizens of Flesherton for the grand jubilee celebration next Monday. This with gate receipts and other sources of revenue, will bring the sum up to very large proportions, and will ensure all prizes being paid in full. The committee informs us that the day will be one to be remembered in Flesherton. The industrial parade in the morning will be something worth coming a long way to see. All the industries will be in full blast—dog churning, carpet weaving, printing, blacksmithing, teeth-pulling, watchmaking, harness-making and very many others. The procession will be headed by the township council, ministers and doctors. The band will be elevated about sixteen feet in the air, and discourse sweet music from that airy point. The illuminated bicycle parade at night will also, it is expected, be a handsome spectacle, and the village will be illuminated for the occasion. The fireworks display will take place on the square at 10 o'clock. The following members of the committee can be consulted in connection with the affair: R. N. Henderson, sec.; Geo. Mitchell, Treas. For list of afternoon sports see large posters and dodgers. Half fare on railways and steamboats.

The jolly volunteers of No. 6 Co., 31st regiment, returned home on Saturday afternoon, arriving about 3 o'clock. They were met at the station by the I. O. F. band and escorted to the drill shed where the ladies of Flesherton served a nice lunch. This was thoroughly appreciated by the boys, and Captain Richardson desires us to thank both the band and those who served the lunch eon for their kindness. He hopes that his company will be able to express their thanks in something more tangible than words by assisting in the Dominion day celebration next Monday. Dr. Richardson, in an interview with The Advance, says the camp was a very pleasant one this year. There were some innovations which were a grand improvement on former years. A mess tent, capable of seating about 300, was one of these. The tent was provided with tables and seats. The dress was much improved by discarding the old helmet and coat for grey flannelette shirts and broad rimmed straw hats encircled by a red cotton puggaree and caught up at one side. The effect was an odd contrast to the old outfit but it was very comfortable and the change was much appreciated. The result was, Capt. Richardson says, that better work was done by the men, there were fewer prostrations, and the men were more alert in their movements. No. 6 Company compared very favorably with any other company in the regiment, and in fact it was the only company that had three fully qualified officers. The outing will be long remembered by the men who participated there in. It marked an era of improvement in several respects.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Schultz, of Sullivan, parents of Mr. Chas. Schultz, of this place, were the victims of a serious accident on Friday. While driving homeward from Williamsford the team was hailed while Mr. and Mrs. Schultz conversed with a friend. While standing the horses shook the bridles off and started to run. The waggon tongue dropped, stopping the rig with a suddeness that threw the occupants violently to the ground. Mr. Schultz escaped with a severe shaking up and a number of bruises, but Mrs. Schultz did not fare so well. She received injuries about the head, shoulders and back, was unconscious for a time and for a day or two her condition was such that it was impossible for her to be taken home. Time and attention have improved her condition and we trust that the accident will result in no permanent injury.—Bayner.
