Twenty-seven men of the first Canadian contingent have returned to their homes as invalides. These men, however, return hale and hearty as ever, having entirely recovered in hospital from their ailments. Out of the 1030 in the first contingent only 350 remain an active duty, and the men who have returned say that these will see no more fighting. There are not enough of them to be sent anywhere, and they will have to spend the rest of their days handling baggage and such work along the line of march.

The situation in China becomes hour by hour more grave. There seems now no reasonable doubt that every foreigner in Pekin has been butchered, and vivid details are given in a despatch printed elswhere. But we can rely on nothing whatever that comes from Chinese sources and even this despatch may yet be proven untrue. As Bret Hart says, "For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the heathen Chinese is peculiar," and added to this he is the biggest liar in creation. He lies on a huge scale. The despatch referred to is denied from Washington and in this matter we do not know what to believe, but to our knowledge of this fanatic and ignorant people it seems folly indeed to hope that one has been left alive of the four or five hundred Europeans in Pekin.

The Globe and other Liberal papers are now endeavoring to make capital out of the fact that the Senate has thrown out Mr. Mulock's bill reducing the postage on newspapers circulated within their own province. This bill was a swipe at one of the Montreal newspapers of Conservative tendencies which circulates by the many thousand throughout Ontario and comes in competition with the Globe and other Reform papers of this province, and a paper that has been a thorn in their side for many years. If ever a piece of class legislation was proposed this bill was one and deserved to be killed. In fact it was merely a dummy set up for the Senate to knock over in order that Mr. Mulock might cry murder, and the woods are now ringing with his melodious voice. It is another case of the boy and the wolf, and no assistance is actually required.

That Gravel Pit

To the Editor of the Advance

DEAR SIR,—In the proceedings of the township council of Saturday week I notice the following resolution:

Boyd—Thompson—That the police village of Flesherton be requested to leave the gravel pit on Adams' deviation in as good condition as when they took possession of it. In case they do not comply with this resolution, the commissioner of No. 3 to repair the pit at the expense of the trustees.

Now, sir, the commissioner of Ward 3 is John Boyd, a resident of Flesherton, owning no property therein, and who unfortunately has a swollen head. One of less calibre would have appprised the trustees if any wrong existed before securing a resolution of council in the matter. It is funny to have the delinquency charged to the trustees! But I suppose he really meant to charge it to the village. If he had consulted the trustees he would have been saved a nasty exhibition of ignorance and animus against the village. The facts are these: The trustees took no possession of this gravel pit; they simply let a job of gravelling so many rods of street, the contractor to furnish the gravel. He might have brought it from Eugenia for aught the trustees cared. Indeed Mr. Carr proffered to take a part of the job on same conditions and furnish his own gravel. But who authorised this matured councillor of Ward 3 to take possession of this gravel pit? Is it a township property atall? I venture to state that according to well established custom the township is liable for every yard of gravel taken from it, and this councillor to an action for trespass. If this be correct, and I believe it to be so, then he nor the township council have any more right than anyone else to assume authority and pass such ludicrous resolutions without first passing a bylaw securing and paying for the property. The writer a few days ago asked this same councillor to assist out of his ward appropriation to the extent of some two or three dollars to secure pipes to lay in a drain which the trustees had dug. The drain was about eight rods long, two of which were within the village and six were in the township, and of course benefited the road more or less throughout, as none but a simpleton would deny, but a very short answer was received. It was "No!" I had not then, the Monday after the council's sitting, heard anything about the other matter, but when on Wednesday persons talked about it I was not surprised at his refusal. The trustees have no desire to injure Mr. Boyd, believing that when he has cut his municipal wisdom teeth and learned to be a little more affable he may do better. In another letter we may deal with his economy in letting, etc.

POLICE TRUSTEE.

P. S.—Since the above was written the pathmaster informs me that the difficulty complained of occured whilst he was drawing gravel porforming his statute labour. A tree accidently fell from the bank across the road. After removing the top the stump remained in the pit.

ROAD NOTICE.

Artemesia district L. O. L. celebrated at Eugenia this year, or rather a portion of them did. The crowd at this favorite picnic point was not large, still a pleasant afternoon was spent. The ladies of the Presbyterian church took in from luncheon and booths over $71, a tidy figure considering the circumstances.

A frame barn belonging to Mr. Wm. Osborne, lot 5, Con. 8, Artemesia, was struck by lightening one day last week and entirely consumed, together with a log barn in close proximity. The building contained three tons of hay, reaper, mower, nine pigs, etc. There was an insurance of $550 on the buildings and contents.

Postmaster Sproule had a narrow escape from a serious accident one night last week. While standing in a wagon placing goods, at the station, his horse stepped suddenly forward, throwing him out backwards, alighting on the flat of his back on the hard, stony ground. For a day or two he was somewhat indisposed but was able to attend to business. Fortunately it was no worse, as it might easily have been.

CORRECTION—In the minutes of Artemesia Council in our list issue the following corrections are due: 1. The motion to pay commissioner No. 2 should read 9 days overseeing work with grader and special work. 2. The motion accepting report of commissioner No. 2 re town line A. and E. should read "Euphrasia expending an equivalent." 3. The motion to pay John Blain $2 for shovelling snow on town line A. and E. should be marked "Lost."

Messrs. E. Tolton and M. Richardson, the recently-selected Conservative Candidates for the Commons for North Wellington and South Grey respectively, called at the Rep. office while in town Thursday attending St. Mary's church picnic. In both gentlemen the Conservative party has standard-bearers it may well be proud of, and if they are not enabled to add M.P. to their names after next election it will be a sad reflection on the judgment and appreciation of worth on the part of the electors of the two ridings.—Mt. Mr. Mark Wilson, who was in Thornbury Saturday evening, states that one of the heaviest electric storms he has ever seen passed over that town from eight to ten o'clock p. m. Saturday. Immense damage was done to barns and other property. Five barns could be seen burning at one time within a radius of three or four miles, and a large quantity of live stock, grain, etc., was destroyed. The lightning played in a frightful manner, there being an almost continuous flash of light and crash of bursting electricity, and rain fell in torrents.

Dundalk had a great day on July 12—the biggest day in its history. There was said to be about six thousand people present, and the procession was made up of twenty-three standard of colors. A number of good speakers addressed the assembly, which was very orderly and well conducted. I. B. Lucas, M. L. A., occupied the chair. McConnell's lodge, Swinton Park, took first prize as a lodge, and old 244, Proton Station, second. McConnell's fife and drum band took first for music and 909 second. Markdale and Dundalk bands also supplied music. It was a big day, which the good people of Dundalk will long remember.

The horse belonging to Mr. Teen McCallum, which we noticed last week as having disappeared from the hotel shed at the station, was recovered the day of publication. A lad, who claimed that he found the animal the night before out on the old Durham road, brought it back to Ceylon. Mr McCallum thinks there is a mystery here that he cannot solve. The halter was not broken and some things on the seat of the cart were just as he had left them. The horse evidently had untied his own halter and travelled very slowly and cautiously in order not to throw anything out of the cart. Then, too, the equine appears to have been imbued with the foolish idea of getting as far away as possible from his own stable and oat bin. But there is no accounting for the vagaries of a horse!

Wednesday evening of last week little Marcus Heard, a 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heard, was missed from his home in the village about 7 o'clock, and search of the surroundings and neighboring premises failed to reveal his whereabouts. Darkness came on and he had not been found. The news soon flew over the town that the child was lost and search parties with lanterns were organized, and for over two hours went hither and thither in search of the little fellow. One party found themselves, about 10 o'clock p.m., at the east end of the late George Stewart's farm, adjoining the village, and at this point thought they heard a child's voice calling in the bush further on. A long and careful tramp over difficult ground brought them to the top of a hill on Mr. Loucks' property, near a dam which he has in the bush to preserve water in dry seasons, and here, standing by a heap of logs and brush, they found the lost baby, who laughed with joy when they came up to him, and whose voice they had heard plaintively calling "Mamma!" The little fellow said he had been chasing sheep and picking "fowers," and that he had had a sleep. He was quickly taken home and placed in his distracted mother's arms. The baby was absent about four hours and during that time had wandered across several fields and through the rough bush probably a quarter of a mile. Becoming wearied he had lain down and slept, but the cold had awakened him and in calling for his mother one of the search parties providentially heard his voice through the still night air. It is believed that had the baby not been found when he was a tragedy would have had to be announced, as the night proved bitterly cold and wet and by morning he would scarcely have been able to make a noise. Few persons ever pass the point where he was found and his disappearance might have remained a mystery for many years. We need not dwell upon the joy of the poor mother when her pretty and bright little baby boy was returned to her arms safe and sound.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hogg and family, late of Eugenia, left by the Monday evening train for their new home in the west. A number of friends and relatives were at the station to bid them a last farewell. Rev. Mr. Thom, their late pastor here, presented them with a beautiful bouquet of flowers from his conservatory to help while away the tediousness of the journey. Mr. Hogg will be much missed in Eugenia business matter, and he and his esteemed wife will leave an almost irreparable void in social and church circles.

Charles Lantz, a resident of Clifford, was the victim of a terrible accident which occurred at Decemerton. Mr. Lantz, who is a carpenter by trade, was engaged shingling a barn there. He placed the creepy on a loose shingle, with the result that he was shot over the side of the roof and fell to the ground, a distance of 45 feet. He fell on a pile of stones and his body was badly disfigured. He breathed his last an hour after the accident happened. Deceased was a member of the Workmen, and was buried by that society in Clifford cemetery on Monday.
