Insurance Is Good, But—

Insurance will, in a measure, repay you for loss from fire due to lightning.

But it will not prevent the fire.

It takes the DODD System of Lightning Protection to do that.

In the past thirty years over 300,000 buildings have been rodded by the DODD System and in not a single instance is there a record of the DODD System properly installed, having failed to prevent damage by lightning.

The fact that you haven't yet suffered loss by lightning only means that you are fortunate, not that you are proof against it. Ask us today what it will cost you to have DODD protection.

A COLUMN ABOUT PIGS

Hints as to Both Summer and Winter Treatment.

How to Protect Them From Sun Scald—A Little Grease on the Body Is Helpful—Keeping Brood Sows Cheaply In Winter — Unnecessary Loss Among Young Pigs.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

During midsummer owners of light colored pigs frequently complain of sunburn or sunscald. This condition of the hide of the animal is similar to that of people; it gives the same degree of uncomfortableness to the pig and is caused in the same manner. Consequently, the same method of prevention and treatment may be carried out.

Shelter Is Most Desirable.

In the first place, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and the prevention is shelter. No matter what kind of stock is in the pasture, shade is essential, and much more so is it for pigs on account of the thin coating of hair on their bodies. If the pasture for pigs is so situated that there are no trees to afford shade to the animals it would be just as well to keep them shut up during the hottest parts of the day and allow them to run out during the evening, night and early morning hours. By keeping them in a pen that is somewhat darkened, they miss both the hot rays of the sun and the flies that are always so bad around a stable of any kind, during the hot weather.

Give Them a "Hog Wallow."

Some people provide a "hog wallow" in their pasture which is a very good thing, but the location should be some place in the shade, as it is a well-known fact that the hide will blister far quicker when wet than when dry. A pig seems to think that a wallow is an essential thing, and if he persuades the farmer into thinking the same, the farmer should lead him to believe that during the heat of the day is the best time to keep out of it.

Vaseline Good for Sunburn.

If the pigs have become sunburned at all, it is well to keep them inside for a few days and thoroughly grease their bodies, with some nice smooth grease such as vaseline. The grease tends to keep the air from the irritated skin and ease the uncomfortableness of the animal. Vaseline also has a wonderful healing and curative property which makes it preferable in such cases.—J. C. McBeath, O. A. College, Guelph.

Keep Brood Cows In Winter as Cheaply as Possible.

During the winter the brood sows should be maintained as cheaply as possible, but at the same time they must be properly fed in order to farrow a large number of healthy, well-grown pigs in the spring. Best results are obtained when sufficient food is given to produce daily gains on the sows of one-half or three-fourths of a pound. To do this the grain feed must be limited, and diluted with some roughage, for unless the ration has sufficient bulk, the sows will become constipated and hungry, due to the undistended condition of the digestive tract. Legume hays are the chief roughages available at this season, and their use will cheapen the cost of feeding.

Alfalfa Excellent for Feed.

Either alfalfa, clover, soy-bean, or cow-pea hay makes an excellent roughage, and when fed, little or no high-priced protein concentrate is needed to balance the corn. Bright, leafy alfalfa hay gives the best results of any of these roughages. Alfalfa meal is simply the best grade of alfalfa hay chopped in to a meal. Clover hay contains almost as much nourishment as alfalfa hay, and soy-bean hay, cut and cured when the beans are almost ripe, is a very nutritious feed. Cowpea hay should be cut when the first pods are ripening and consequently does not have as high food value as soy bean hay. Great care must be exercised in curing soy-bean and cowpea hay, for the stalks are very heavy and succulent and unless thoroughly dried are apt to mold. Under no condition should a brood sow be fed upon any roughage which is not bright, nutritious, and free from smut or mold. She does not relish or thrive on such inferior feed. It is very apt to cause severe digestive troubles and may lead to the loss of her litter.

A Severe Sentence.

Forty years in Kingston Penitentiary, practically life imprisonment, was the extraordinary sentence imposed by Police Magistrate George Moore, of Parry Sound, on Stephen Zowisluk, the Galician who broke a number of windows in the town. Zowisluk, who was without money or work, and had been sleeping out in the cold, without food, took this method of ensuring himself a term in jail sufficiently long to tide over the winter months.

With a view to preventing others from following Zowisluk's example, the magistrate convicted the prisoner on ten counts and sentenced him to four years on each, the sentences to run consecutively.

Dr. Lambert, the jail surgeon, declared that the Galician is sane, although of a low type of mentality. His mental balance was somewhat upset by news he had recently received that his family had been killed during the war.

The Spartans, in Greece, 500 B.C., used sepia, the most ancient ink, for making inscriptions on sarcophagi.

An Expensive School System

The Mayor of Collingwood in his inaugural address, said in part:—"Gentlemen, I must sound a note of warning to you in regard to our schools. The cost of maintenance of our schools is beyond our ability. In 1916 it was $32,956 67, and in 1921 $57,845 44. If we add this to the debentures of the different schools and the payment to the separate school it brings the costs to the town up to about $72 000 It seems almost impossible for a town of our size to pay the amount out of their revenue for school purposes, and some co-operation with the school board, with a view to reducing the cost, is strongly advised. We cannot continue to collect large amounts of taxes from the people when they have no employment or salary with which to meet the enormous debts placed there, to a great extent, by our expensive school system.
